RUTH DEATH PROBE ON AGAIN

International News Service.

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Investigation into the tragic death of Mrs. George Herman (Babe) Ruth was reopened this afternoon on order of District Attorney Robert I. Bushnell, of Middlesex county.

"I have ordered a full and complete investigation of the contents of the stomach," said the District Attorney.

The action of District Attorney Bushnell followed a telephone call from Medical Examiner Dr. George L. West.

Official investigators say Mrs. Ruth was trapped in the room. Before she could escape she was overcome by smoke. She was found face downward about three feet from the door with her arms outstretched. The bed showed no evidence that Mrs. Ruth had slept in it.

The theory accepted was that Mrs. Ruth had been seated in an easy chair near the bed. The bedclothing was found thrown over this chair as if she had hastily thrown it off when she fled in her night gown.

FIREMAN'S STORY

Capt. John J. Kelly, of the Watretown fire department, who was the first to reach Mrs. Ruth's body, said:

"When I reached the little hallway on the second landing, the bedroom was filled with smoke and flames belched in the right-hand corner from the room below. It was stifling hot.

"The crowd on the street said a woman was in there. I knew that if she was there, there was no hope for her because of the intensity of the flames that were leaping from the lower floor. I crawled on my hands and knees through the bedroom door.

"My hands touched the woman's arm. I saw that she was lying on her face clad only in her nightgown.

"I saw the big hole in the floor. If she had been in bed and had got out of it on the left side she would have tumbled through to the floor below."

FATHER WARNS RUTH

Simultaneously the mystery surrounding Mrs. Ruth's relations with the missing Dr. Edward H. Kinder in whose home she perished was further heightened by the declaration of Kinder's father that he would "tell a story that would blow the top of Babe Ruth's head off," if

Chicago Society Girl Hurt in Crash

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Miss Katherine Drake, 20, daughter of John B. Drake, millionaire hotel man, was injured when an automobile in which she was riding with a party of young society people, was overturned in an effort to avoid striking another car. Roger D. Shaw, 21, son of A. W. Shaw, publisher, and William N. Lewis, 25, said to be well known in St. Louis society, suffered cuts and bruises in the wreck.

O. Henry's Wife's Mother Is Dead

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Margaret Jane Roach, 79, mother-in-law of William Sidney Porter, (O. Henry), popularly thought to have influenced the writer to give up a clerkship in the Texas state land office to become an author, was buried here beside the body of O. Henry.

SERUM SAVES DOCTOR'S LIFE

Dr. L. H. Landay, young Aliquippa physician, who has been confined in the West Penn Hospital with blood poisoning since last Monday, probably owes his life, it is believed, to a new anti-streptococcic serum.

The serum, it is understood, even now, however, after several years of research by Dr. R. R. Mellon, in charge of laboratories at West Penn Hospital, is just in an experimental stage. It was prescribed in Dr. Landay's case as a last resort following a hurried consultation by a group of Pittsburgh's leading specialists.

Dr. Landay was suffering from an infection of the nasal cavity and a critical streptococcic condition had developed. He was rushed to the hospital.

The serum was administered last Tuesday, it is understood. Dr. Landay's recovery was speedy, and today Dr. James I. McLlallen, who is in charge of the case, reported his patient doing "quite well."

Neither Dr. Mellon nor officials of the hospital would divulge details of the new serum or its uses. Nor would they express an opinion of its efficacy pending further checking of its reaction in actual use.

Flu Kills 20 in Mercer in Week

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 14.—Influenza caused the deaths of 20 here during the past week. Most of these were aged persons. Records place the week the worst in the history of sickness in the city since the 1918 epidemic.

HOOVER TO ORGANIZE DRY QUIZ

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A fact-finding commission of outstanding citizens to conduct nonpartisan investigation into the prohibition question is to be appointed by Herbert Hoover soon after he steps into the presidency on March 4.

Consideration of the personnel is occupying almost as much of the President-elect's time as is the consideration of his cabinet appointments. Mr. Hoover is anxious to make the prohibition commission a jury of such outstanding eminence and ability that neither wets nor drys can charge prejudice.

MIXED BOARD OF NINE

Mr. Hoover, it is said, is favorable to a commission of nine, including an outstanding business leader, a banker, several lawyers, a physician, a scientist, an economist, an educator, a sociologist, and a labor leader. There probably will be one or more women. It is his idea to get away from those who are known to have positive views on either side of the question.

The President-elect began his second week of conferences in Washington today with no diminution of the steady stream of visitors that flowed by his desk.

WANTS MONTH OF REST

3-Hour Earthquake Recorded in Tokio

TOKIO, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The Central Meteorological Observatory recorded an earthquake of three hours duration at 7 p. m. last night. The epicenter was thought to be in Kamchatka Peninsula, Siberia, but there was no confirmation of this.

LUCO, Italy, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—A strong earthquake shock was felt about 5 a. m. today. It was of undulatory character. The populace rushed to the street in alarm, but there was no damage.

Army Man Held After Prisoners Flee

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Private Cleveland G. Pipes was placed in the guard house at Fort Benjamin Harrison for mental examination, after he had returned to tell an incoherent story of how two prisoners under his charge had escaped while supposedly filling a drain on the rifle range. No trace has been found of the missing prisoners, Ralph Norman, 20, Isleta, O., serving a five year term for forgery, and Alfred C. Briggs, 20, Jeffersonville, Ind., escaped prisoner from Leavenworth federal penitentiary.

FOCH STRICKEN, HEART DISEASE

PARIS, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch, 77, one of the world's greatest modern soldiers and generalissimo of the allied armies in the great war, is seriously ill of heart trouble, it was learned this afternoon.

The following bulletin, signed by six doctors, was issued:

"Marshal Foch is suffering from a heart attack which necessitates complete rest."

Although members of the household are worried they feel that the marshal's condition "is not desperate."

While attending doctors refused to give any details beyond the medical bulletin, it is understood that Marshal Foch contracted a cold and has been suffering from lung congestion for 10 days similar to the illness of King Geoorge, of England.

The lung congestin is said to have affected the heart. The marshal's condition is complicated by his advanced age.

He is confined to his home. Members of the family refused to give any details of the illness.

Afghanistan King Abdicates Throne

15-DEGREES WARMER TONIGHT

Temperatures

Official hourly temperatures recorded at the United States Weather Bureau today follow:

Midnight	Zero	8 am.	1 below
1 am.	1 below	9 am.	1 above
2 am.	2 below	10 am.	4 above
3 am.	2 below	11 am.	6 above
4 am.	4 below	Noon	10 above
5 am.	2 below	1 pm.	11 above
6 am.	2 below	2 pm.	12 above
7 am.	1 below

Two Pittsburgh records were broken by the cold wave which held the district today when, at 4 a. m., the thermometer sank to four degrees below zero — the coldest weather we've had in 10 years —and broke all records in the history of the Weather Bureau for this date.

The Monongahela River was frozen over at Smithfield street for the first time in the memory of veteran residents. The Allegheny was also frozen. The ice soon broke up in both streams, however.

COLD WAVE PASSING

However, Weatherman W. S. Brotzman promised some relief. The present wave was passing, he said, and tonight should not be so cold as last night.

Temperatures tonight, the government forecaster said, would be between 15 and 20 degrees above.

Two fires and the explosion of an ammonia tank were blamed on the cold.

It hasn't been so cold in Pittsburgh since 1918, when, in February, the thermometer dropped to 11 below and, in January, five below. The previous record for this date was held by the year 1912, when zero was recorded.

WARM WINDS HELP

Pittsburgh has the South to thank for the promised passing of the cold wave, Brotzman said. Southerly winds were reaching this territory

Vare Must Face Probers Jan. 24

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, must present his claims to a seat in the Senate January 24, the Reed special committee investigating the Vare-Wilson election contest decided today.

It refused a request for an indefinite postponement of hearings until Vare recovers from a paralytic stroke suffered last August.

Indicted

JOHN W. ORIE

WILLIAM H. ROBERTSON

DR. F. H. FREDERICK

FREDERICK AMONG 16 IN NORTH SIDE CASE; ORIE HELD FOR TAX

Developments today in the drive here by the United States government and law enforcement officials of Allegheny County on vice and graft were:

1—Indictment by the Federal grand jury, for conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act, of Dr. F. H. Frederick, city civil service commissioner, and 15 others, either alleged sellers or buyers of liquor, in the Union Fishing Club case.

2—Indictment of 12 men, including Police Magistrate John Orie and his brother, Stanley Orie, for concealment of incomes. Incomes of the dozen ranged from $173,464.15 to $7,425, it is charged. These indictments were based on information obtained from bank records in the Federal liquor inquiry last June.

3—Examination of the first of 150 witnesses in the new inquiry into the alleged gigantic North Side rum conspiracy, which the government failed to establish through a faulty indictment in the trials last November.

4—Preparations were begun to arraign the 244 persons indicted in the county grand jury investigation in Criminal Court Thursday, and hearings had been set for Wednesday for the 44 recommended for indictment in that probe's second phase.

The federal grand jury today indicted 16 men for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, including in the number Dr. F. H. Frederick, city civil service commissioner, and William Robertson, member of the board of city assessors.

Those indictments grew out of a raid last Tuesday on the Union Fishing Club, 812 East Diamond street, North Side, but they were independent of the renewed general North Side liquor investigation.

At the same time it returned indictments against 12 men, among them Police Magistrate John Orie and his brother, Stanley Orie, for evasion of tax on incomes which, the government alleges, were quite large and were concealed.

The evidence on which these indictments were drawn was gleaned from bank records in the original liquor investigation last June. All 12 men indicted today were named as defendants on conspiracy charges after that investigation.

DISCREPANCIES STARTLE

The indictment for evasion of income tax brought out some discrepancies, startling if proved accurate, between income and occupation. Magistrate Orie, who commands a city salary not in excess

Gilda Gray Granted Wisconsin Divorce

WAUKESHA, Wis., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Gilda Gray, dancer and movie actress, was granted a divorce from her husband, Gil Boag, of New York, in Circuit Court today.

Cruel and inhumane treatment was the specific charge lodged against Boag by the actress.

Under the provisions of the divorce, Boag will receive property worth $20,000 but his contract with the actress under which he received a commission will be terminated immediately. When the court asked the actress if the arrangement was satisfactory she replied: "Anything to be away from him."

Flu Menaces Curtis, Watson and Goff

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Influenza is making inroads in the Senate, overtaking Senator Watson, of Indiana, and threatening Vice President-elect Curtis and Senator Goff, of West Virginia. Senator Watson, who on Saturday contracted a cold and fever, was under the care of physicians today and was treated for influenza, but his condition was not believed to be serious.

"ROMAN QUESTION" ENDED WITH GRANTS TO PAPACY

ROME, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—An agreement has been reached for solution of the long-pending "Roman question," by which the papacy is granted a small territorial extension plus an indemnity of 1,000,000,000 Italian lire. The lire today was quoted equivalent to 5¼ cents.

Negotiators of the solution were Msgr. Borgongini Duca, secretary of extraordinary affairs at the Vatican, and Msgr. Pacelli, brother of the Papal Nuncio at Berlin, acting for the Holy See, and Prof. Giannini for the Italian state.

The so-called Roman question, involving the relations exist between the Vatican and the Italian government, has been a thorny problem ever since the end of the Vatican's temporal power in 1870 at the time of the unification of Italy.

With the entrance of Italian troops into Rome in 1870 after the departure of the French guard, Pope Pius IX saw the fall of temporal power and later refused to accept the law of guarantees adopted by the Italian Senate in 1871 concerning the prerogatives of the Holy See and the relations between the state and church in Italy

Daily Cash Prizes Yours for Best "I'M THE GUY" Wise Cracks—Try It

I'M THE GUY, lugging a big satchel of money, stepped off the Pittsburgher this morning and announced that he is going to award daily cash prizes to the clever folks of this city and surrounding country through the Sun-Telegraph, his favorite newspaper.

He brings with him a game that will be barrels of fun for the young folks, the school kids and the old folks who still keep young and interested. I'M THE GUY pays real money for original wisecracks. All you have to do to compete for his cash is to formulate a sentence. It can be ten words or less or a little more. But the shorter and snappier the lines the more chance there is of collecting some of this easy money. They must be original.

Here's how it works:

"I'M THE GUY who dug the pit in Pittsburgh."

"I'M THE GUY that made port in McKeesport."

"I'M THE GUY who basked in the Sun in Sun-Telegraph."

Or, folks, if you want to vary the theme a bit for even better effects, you might double them up like in the following examples:

"I'M THE GUY who put PA in the PApers and MA in the MAgazines."

"I'M THE GUY who put TWO EYES in Blind Pig."

There you are. Now you see just what you do to get a chance at some of these prizes.

On these cold evenings it's a lot of fun to get the family around you and play "I'M THE GUY." No essays or letters to write. No papers to cut and fold. Just jot down your clever lines. You may write them on the coupon printed here, if that is convenient. But you do not have to use the coupon. Any piece of paper or a postal card will answer the purpose. Simple, isn't it?

The Sun-Telegraph will award DAILY a prize of $5 for the best I'M THE GUY line received each day. There will be five ONE DOLLAR prizes for each of the next best lines.

In the event of a tie, duplicate prizes will be offered. Only employes of the Sun-Telegraph and their families are barred.

Get aboard for a lot of fun. The merry little fellow I'M THE GUY plans to stay in Pittsburgh distributing prizes through the Sun-Telegraph just as long as you people keep shooting for his money.

"I'M THE GUY who PAYS AND PAYS, and I like it," he says.

Let's go. Send in as many as you like.

Mail your lines to "I'M THE GUY," the Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

COOLIDGE SEES 'CHEST' CHARITY DRIVE RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Relief from excessive expenses sustained by charitable organizations in seeking funds has been pointed out by President Coolidge as one advantage of the community chest method of gathering contributions, in a letter to officials of the local organization.

Approving the community chest plan as "the best which has been devised" to provide for local benevolences, the president added:

"By eliminating much of the cost of collection it increases the amount actually available for charitable purposes and makes for a wiser and more equitable division of funds in accordance with the needs and opportunities of each.

"The very fact that the American people stand ready at all times to aid a worthy cause tends in itself to increase the number of benevolences dependent for their existence upon annual contributions, so that there is a real danger that the fine objects of each may be obscured by the problem of maintenance and the true spirit of benevolence chilled by an endless succession of pressing demands."

EAST, MIDWEST SHIVER IN ZERO'S GRIP

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The eastern half of the country, which had been enjoying an unusually mild winter, today was in the grip of frigid weather that sent the mercury tumbling to new low marks for the season.

The weather forecast, however, indicated a break in the near-zero and sub-zero temperatures that came after a snowstorm yesterday. Warmer weather was predicted for tonight to be followed tomorrow by snow.

FIRE LOSS HEAVY

In New York City and other points in the East the change began about daybreak.

Serious fire damage occurred in several cities.

Three firemen were forced from duty at a $200,000-fire in a business block on Washington Heights, in New York, where intense cold quickly draped fire apparatus in ice. A $100,000-fire in a Woburn, Mass., factory.

ZERO COMMON

Mercury readings below zero were common in many places, the lowest temperature reported was 25 below near Saranac Lake, N. Y., at 10 a. m. The reading then was 10 above in New York City and the mercury was rising.

Extreme cold weather prevailed in some parts of Canada. At White River, Ontario, 44 degrees below was recorded, a record mark for the province, and temperatures at other points ranged from 33 to 21 below.

10 BELOW AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—With four persons dead and scores ill from exposure, Chicago was promised temporary relief today from the record-breaking sub-zero wave.

When the mercury dropped to 10 below, here yesterday, it marked the coldest January 13 in the history of the local weather bureau. The minimum was reached at 10 a. m., as thousands of churchgoers started out, unaware of the severe over-night drop in temperature.

CARY 32 BELOW

While the 10-below mark was the official reading at the Federal Building downtown, many suburbs reported temperatures ranging down to 23 degrees below. At Cary, Ill., where the international ski meet was held, a thermometer registered 32 below.

Old "Blue" Laws Due to Go in Bay State

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Obsolete laws which bar hatpins in public, forbid dueling, and classify fiddlers as vagrants, would be repealed by several bills on file with the clerk of the House.

One bill filed would prevent bootblacks from operating on Sunday. According to present law, a pair of shoes can be shined up until 11 a. m. on the Lord's day.

DOCKET FIXING IN QUIZ HINTED

Intimations of docket fixing were made in Morals Court today when the case of Carmen Logiodice, 6508 Ladson street, charged with operating a lottery, came before Magistrate A. D. Brandon.

This is Logiodice's third appearance before Brandon.

On each occasion important witnesses failed to appear, once including the arresting officers.

The officers were present this morning on direct orders from Public Safety Director James M. Clark.

SOME STILL MISSING

At the hearing this morning Plainclothesman James Teets claimed that the dockets at Frankstown Avenue Police Court at the time Logiodice was held last October showed that he had been discharged. Brandon immediately produced his own records which showed that the case had been held over.

At today's hearing Plainclothesman Thomas Barrett also was present, but when the names of Herman Bolt, 6 Orphan street; Charles and Mrs. Catherine Conway, Emerson and Ravenna streets; Pierce Mack and Julia Smith, both Negroes, were called they were missing.

Police say Mrs. Catherine Conway refused to appear, that Bolt and Conway were out of the city and that Mack and Mrs. Smith had moved from the city.

CASE HELD OVER

The case was held over until Wednesday, while police continue their search for the missing witnesses.

The charge against Logiodice grew out of hearings in Morals Court preferred by Mrs. Conway and the Smith woman against their husbands. Logiodice's name was dragged into the hearings and his arrest followed.

FOSTER BALLAD SUNG AT GRAVE IN STORM

While wind keen as a whetted knife howled an eerie obligato and powdered with snow the serried tombstones in Allegheny Cemetery yesterday, a sweet song of a warmer land rose upon the frigid air, from a devoted group clustered about a lonely grave.

The song was "Old Black Joe," and the occasion of its singing was the sixty-fifth anniversary of the death of Stephen Collins Foster, whom Pittsburgh gave to the world to be the sweetest singer of the South.

The singers were members of the Tuesday Choral Club, taking part in the memorial ceremonies the Civic Club of Allegheny county had arranged as a tribute to Foster. A moment before, the singers had knelt with others of the memorial committee in a tent raised above the grave and had prayed silently while the canvas crackled and the tent ropes creaked in the stiff wind.

CHIMES RING SONGS

Maurice R. Scharf, president of the Civic Club, laid a wreath upon the grave, and the Rev. Albert E. Day, pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, pronounced benediction and spoke briefly of Foster's life and its legacy of song.

Meanwhile, across the city, upon the frosty air the melodies of Foster rang from the chimes of Trinity Cathedral, of the Calvary Episcopal Church, Shady avenue and Walnut street, and of the Highland Presbyterian Church, North Highland and Wellesley avenues. At Calvary Church there was a special program of Foster music arranged by the organist, Harvey Gaul.

The melodies of Foster were prominent on the programs of the organ recitals in the Carnegie Music Halls in Oakland and the North Side, and over KDKA, WJAS and WCAE the radio carried the strains of his music to thousands in the evening and afternoon. There was a chime service of Foster songs at St. Stephen's Church, Sewickley, and an organ recital of his music at Point Breeze Presbyterian Church in the evening.

PROGRAMS ALL WEEK

All this week orchestras in hotels and theaters will make Foster melodies a prominent feature of their programs and radio broadcasters will feature his music.

The observance of the Foster anniversary this year is being especially stressed because of the proposal to erect a shrine to the composer in Oakland. This plan is sponsored by the Tuesday Musical Club and the Foster memorial committee of the Civic Club, of which George Seibel is chairman.

RAID LANDS MANFREDO IN TOILS

Held for court on charges of operating a lottery, pointing firearms and with keeping a disorderly house, August Manfredo, of 43 Logan street, prominent Hill district politician, today faces an additional charge of violating the Snyder act.

Manfredo, arrested in a raid on his establishment late Saturday, had a bad day when Magistrate A. D. Brandon held him for court when arraigned on the three charges in Morals Court yesterday.

According to testimony, John Simon, of 1401 Wylie avenue, had a winning number for $300 on the pool which Manfredo is alleged to conduct. When Peter Antone, of 1831 Bedford avenue, the agent who is said to have sold the winning ticket, went to Manfredo to collect the prize money, Manfredo is alleged to have threatened him with a revolver.

The complaint reached Inspector James Hoey, who raided Manfredo's office at 1401 Wylie avenue. They found John Robinson, of 43 Logan street in charge and arrested him along with Claude Mason, of 1506 Wylie avenue, and Mattie Curd. Robinson and Antone also were held for court. As Manfredo was leaving the courtroom a policeman placed a charge of violating the Snyder act against him, saying that he was wanted at the Center Avenue Station on this charge.

DR. FREDERICK IS INDICTED

of $6,000, was accused by the government of concealing an income in 1924 of $59,797.58.

His brother, Stanley Orie, who is listed in the city directory as a laborer, is accused of having garnered $51,011.74 by his labors in 1926. The government alleges he failed to report that income and owes tax on it of more than $5,000. In 1926, Stanley Orie's alleged unreported income was $23,618.21. That year he was still a laborer, so far as statistics went.

BIG INCOMES CITED

Herman Bloedel, previously indicted as a beer runner in the North Side conspiracy trials, was accused of having concealed income totaling more than $70,000 from 1924 to 1927. In that time, Edward L. Harigan another North Side defendant, garnered in $113,000, according to the indictment.

Joseph Bove, who operates a grocery store in East Diamond street, North Side, did remarkably well in business from 1924 to 1927. In those years, the government says, he collected $372,000 and failed to report it as income.

Fred Strattman, former prohibition agent and a defendant in the North Side rum trials, trailed at the end of the list. The government accused him of having concealed income of $7,425 in 1926 and $11,700 in 1927.

FISHING CLUB CASE

This is the complete list of men indicted in the Union Fishing Club case: William H. Robertson, president of the club; Dr. F. H. Frederick, chairman board of directors; A. E. Gill, secretary; Charles W. Bott, foreman Fort Pitt Brewing Company; W. L. Trimble, club director; A. C. Walter, club director; William Bader, club director; J. P. Hilldorfer, former president; John Coney, assistant steward; Frank C. Peters, waiter; John F. Souter, club director; Roy F. Deutsch, steward, and Valentine Przelaska, A. Wheeler, M. Allshouse and W. A. Parchman, accused of having sold liquor to the club.

This afternoon Dr. Frederick and W. L. Trimble appeared before the United States commissioners and posted $2,500 bond each for trial.

TWO HILL HOMES DAMAGED BY BOMB

A score of persons were hurled from their beds and windows in the vicinity of Washington street and Wylie avenue were shattered early today when a bomb exploded beside the foundation of the store of Frank Falcone at 88½ Washington street.

The rear of the store was shattered, and windows and doors were torn from their fastenings.

VICTIM ILL

Falcone, ill with influenza in the room above the store, escaped injury. He was thrown to the floor as were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tambolini, their three children; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Meighan, Patrick O'Toole and Harry Rapp, boarders in the Meighan home. The Tambolini family lives at Washington street and Wylie avenue and the Meighans reside at 89 Washington street.

Falcone said he was at a loss to explain the bombing. His establishment, a two-story frame building with only a room on either floor, was badly damaged. A shed in the yard was demolished. The bomb had been placed near the rear doorstep.

ANOTHER HOME HIT

The rear of the Meighan house was damaged as badly as the back of Tambolini's residence.

Acting Lieut. John J. Reilly questioned Falcone and neighbors. Several men were seen running from the building as the blast rocked the neighborhood.

Thieves Obtain $250 By Robbing Theater

Thieves ransacked the office of the New Palace Theater, 2726 Penn avenue, and stole $250 in nickles, dimes and quarters, according to a report made to detectives. The money was stolen from the office of Fred M. Smith, owner. The office is on the second floor in the rear of the premises.

GENERAL BOOTH SENDS HURRIED CALL TO AIDE

LONDON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Edward Higgins, chief of staff of the Salvation Army, received a sudden summons this afternoon from Gen. Bramwell Booth. After a half-hour conference with Commander Evangeline Booth of the United States, Higgins left in a motor car to go to the General's cottage at Southwold.

Comment about the international headquarters was largely confined to possible legal problems that might arise in case Gen. Booth should refuse the high council proposal that he retire. One high official said it was sincerely hoped that he would refrain from such a step.

"Should the General decline to retire, you may take it that the high council will proceed on its way," he said. "I have no doubt that there will be a majority in favor of declaring the General unfit to hold his office because of his health."

Two high army officers have been summarily suspended by the anti-Booth party.

Col. Samuel Tucker, who was chief of the intelligence department at international headquarters, was stated to have been removed from his post several days ago and to have been succeeded by Col. Cunningham. The second officer was not named. It was stated that he had been howled down and called a traitor by angry delegates at a secret session of the council.

$500,000 Fire Razes Madison, Wis., Block

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—One of the most disastrous conflagrations in the history of Madison was brought under control early today. Six fire companies had been fighting the flames since early Sunday morning.

The fire razed an entire block, destroying seven business houses and several apartment buildings. Property loss is estimated at close to half a million dollars. Many families were forced to flee thier homes, saving nothing but scant clothing to protect them from the 20-below zero cold.

Maryland Village Damaged by Flames

NEWARK, MD., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Fire, fanned by a strong northeast gale, for a time last night threatened the destruction of this town of 600 inhabitants, before it was extinguished by the fire departments of Newark, Snow Hill, Berlin and Ocean City. The loss was estimated at close to $50,000. Inadequate water supply hampered the firemen in their efforts to fight the blaze, and they were confined to the use of chemicals and a hastily formed bucket brigade.

today and thawing the thermometers.

"MON" SELDOM FROZEN

Capt. Charles Snyder, of the city river patrol, said he couldn't recall in all his years in Pittsburgh when the Monongahela had been frozen in the downtown stretch.

Overheated furnaces caused the two fires. The damage to the home of Jacob Kraus, at 5907 Douglas avenue, Squirrel Hill, was estimated at $200. The same figure was believed to cover the loss to the Patterson restaurant, a one-stor frame lunchroom at 4616 Baum boulevard.

In the Sol Lowenstein Meat Company's packing house at 6525 Hamilton avenue, East End, employes were driven to the street when an ammonia tank exploded due to cold.

Claim Confession In Altoona Murder

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 14.—Charged with the murder of Hoaston B. Croyle, 52, a farmer at Queen, near here, January 10, Harvey Feather, 18, today confessed to state police, they said, and then enacted the details of the shooting of the farmer. Feather hid in the barn and fired two shots at Croyle as he left his automobile, he is alleged to have admitted. Robbery was the motive, although no cash was taken, Feather being scared off. Willis Feather, 22, a deaf mute and brother, is being held as an accomplice.

DEATH PROBE ON AGAIN

the baseball player attempted to link any scandal to the affair.

Police have learned that Mrs. Ruth had been living with Dr. Kinder as his wife for a year, although members of the woman's family said she was only a friend.

Details of the telephone conversation today between the medical examiner and the district attorney were not revealed. After the talk District Attorney Bushnell remarked that the talk with the medical examiner was "decidedly important."

AUTOPSY HELD

Meanwhile the body of Mrs. Ruth was held at the Newton undertaking parlors, where Dr. West had held an autopsy and found that death was due to accidental suffocation.

The decision to examine the contents of the stomach followed the arrival here of William J. Woodford, former Boston attorney, now of New York, a brother of Mrs. Ruth.

Woodford, who had revealed that Mrs. Ruth had told him on one occasion that she knew a doctor who would give her opium tablets, visited the baseball home run king, who had come from the home of a friend in Weston, where he spent the night, to a Boston hotel. Ruth, who came here from New York, continued to refuse to amplify his previous four-line statement on the death of his wife. Dr. Kinder continued in seclusion this afternoon and Watertown police declared they were not searching for him.

SISTER JAILED IN MISSING GIRL PROBE

Mrs. Edith Humphreys, 32, of 911 Sandusky street, was remanded to jail in Morals Court today, pending further investigation of the disappearance of her 16-year-old sister, Bertha Herbert, same address. The woman's husband, Edward, was jailed last week in the case.

Police testified before Magistrate A. D. Brandon that Mrs. Humphreys, while ill in Allegheny General Hospital had told her mother, Mrs. Barbara Herbert, 807 Concord street, that a Youngstown woman could throw light on the missing girl's whereabouts. Mrs. Humphreys, today denied knowing where the girl is.

Magistrate Brandon asked police to get in touch with Youngstown authorities in the search for the girl. She was last seen on the steps of her home talking with a stranger a week ago last night, according to police.

Coraopolis Salesman Falls Dead on Train

Stricken aboard a Pittsburgh and Lake Erie train, Thomas Ridge, 43, a salesman, of 618 Ferree street, Coraopolis, died today before the train reached the Pittsburgh station, where an ambulance was waiting to take him to South Side Hospital. Ridge boarded the train at Montour Junction, and when passengers saw him collapse the conductor was summoned and he wired ahead for an ambulance. Dr. C. E. Boaland, who examined Ridge, said heart disease had caused death.

King Forced to Cut Down 'Smokes'

TIRANA, Albania, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—So uneasy is the stomach of him who wears the new crown that he must cut down his smoking. King Zogu has a chronic stomach disorder which specialists have diagnosed as nicotine poisoning, aggravated by overwork and too little excercise.

HOOVER PICKING BOARD TO SIFT PROHIBITION

Thursday, or possibly Friday, so busy is he.

Mr. Hoover is intent upon cleaning up as much business as possible before going South. He wants at least a month of comparative quiet before March 4, to weigh and consider recommendations put up to him here both as to personnel and policy.

PLANS WEEK IN HAVANA

His stay in Washington has been so prolonged that it is now improbable there will be any Caribbean tour, as originally planned, before March 4. A week-end trip to Havana probably will be the only break in the President-elect's Florida stay.

When Mr. Hoover leaves here he will have in his notebooks almost all data necessary in the final selection of his cabinet, in the preparation of his inaugural address, and his first message to Congress, which is to be called into special session within four weeks after he takes office.

The calendar of callers today included Senator Moses (Rep.), of New Hampshire; Senator Oddie (Rep.), of Nevada; Willis J. Abbott, Boston editor, a militant prohibitionist; Dr. R. R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee Institute; W. L. Petrikin, of Colorado, an old friend; Representative Garber, of Oklahoma, and Harry Woodyard, of West Virginia, who headed the Hoover organization in the West Virginia primary.

HUGHES IS VISITOR

International topics, particularly the reparations question, were discussed with Charles Evans Hughes this morning. Ogden H. Hammond, American ambassador to Spain, was another visitor.

Woman, 87, Cousin Of Lincoln, Dies

TURLOCK, Cal., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Miss Amanda Hicks, 87, a cousin of Abraham Lincoln, died here yesterday. For 22 years she was connected with Clinton College, Clinton, Ky., and for 16 years of that time was president of the institution.

Duke of Manchester Sued for $8,400

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The Duke of Manchester, who is in New York, has accepted service in the $8,400 suit of John K. Papassinakes, soldier of fortune. One of the items specified is an I. O. U. for $2,300 based on a game of baccarat in the Duke's hotel room.

CHURCH BUS CALLS FOR EVERGREEN ROAD BIBLE PUPILS

LULU CRIDER
Miss Lulu Crider and Robert Engelhardt, Sunday School teachers, both drive the auto bus owned by Evergreen Methodist Episcopal Church and every Sunday cover about 40 miles to take Sunday School pupils to and from their homes. The plan has doubled attendance.

The Rev. W. H. Wetzel, pastor, sees to it personally that the youngsters in the primary department are given choice seats. Here he acts as a "dispatcher."

SUNDAY SCHOOL IS OVER—ALL ABOARD FOR HOME!
Sunday School is over and boys and girls are eager to get home for dinner. The auto bus takes them to homes along the Evergreen, Thompson Run and McKnight roads. On weekdays the bus is used to bring people to various church meetings.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BUS DOUBLES ATTENDANCE

Sunday school attendance at the Evergreen Methodist Episcopal Church has been doubled within a single month as a result of the purchase by the congregation of an auto bus which brings Sunday School members to church from distant places and carries them home.

"Since we purchased the auto bus about a month ago," declared the Rev. W. M. Wetzel, pastor of the church, "the averag attendance at our Sabbath School has been 120, as compared to about 60 previously."

Motorists who may be driving on the Evergreen, Thompson Run and McKnight roads of a Sunday morning are likely to pass the big auto bus bearing the lettering "Evergreen M. E. Church," and carrying a heavy load of youngsters en route to Sunday School.

The conveyance makes several trips, calling at the homes of students situated along these highways and near the Millvale street car line. More than 40 miles are covered every Sunday, with two Sabbath School teachers taking turns at the driver's wheel.

The bus is also pressed into service on week days to bring members of the congregation to special church meetings. Mr. Wetzel believes that the bus will prove a very remunerative investment to the church.

FUCHS, NOTED ARTIST, KILLS SELF IN STUDIO

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Because he suffered from cancer, Emil Fuchs, famous painter and sculptor, committed suicide by shooting in his studio yesterday. He was 63 years old.

After writing a note to his sister, Renee Fuchs, the artist fired a bullet into his heart. The body was found by his sister in the Hotel Des Artistes.

In the note, Fuchs said he was a burden, and "to live longer would only mean prolonging my agony."

A native of Vienna, Fuchs had won renown with his portraits and other works in England and America.

After studying at the Imperial Academy of Fine Arts in his native city, he went to Berlin where he won the Prix de Rome. While in Italy he executed what he termed his finest piece of sculpture, "Mother Love," which won him the gold medal of honor of the International Exhibition.

HOOVER PLANS TO REBUILD U. S. DIPLOMATIC SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Many shifts in the American diplomatic corps during the Hoover administration are forecast by those who profess to have an understanding of the general viewpoint of the next President on the conduct of foreign relations.

In the opinion of some of Hoover's friends, career men who have shown more than the average ability will be given recognition in the realignment of the corps.

ENCOURAGE YOUNGER MEN

Steps also will be taken to encourage the younger men who would make diplomacy their life work and to make it possible for them to attain to the higher posts the personal cost of the maintenance of which now constitutes a bar to most of them.

There is little doubt that Latin-America will furnish the main field for aspiring career men while Hoover is in the White House. A cardinal point of his foreign policy will be the fostering of relations with the republics to the South and since his "Good Will" tour it is evident he regards this as a front line of American diplomacy.

STABILITY SOUGHT

Hoover has taken occasion several times to express his hope that the necessity for American armed intervention in a sister republic may never arise again. It is believed some of the causes for such interventions might be removed by American diplomats who have had the opportunity and ability to build for themselves solid places in the esteem of these republics.

KELLOGG PEACE TREATY FIGHT NEAR CLIMAX

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Armed with a "Round Robin," demanding public statement of the American terms of adherence to the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty, the Senate "irreconcilables" today brought their fight against unconditional ratification to a climax.

Upwards of 30 senators have signed the petition requesting a report from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee setting forth America's understanding of the treaty. The "irreconcilables" were expected to present the report to the Senate this afternoon, thus bringing the two-week treaty fight to a head.

DEMAND CLARITY

In signing the "round robin," the "irreconcilables" declared they were in favor of the "principles" of the treaty, but that they felt a "clarifying" statement of the American position was "vital."

Probably half of those senators, who signed the "Round Robin," will not hold out for a "resolution of explanation," but their action in petitioning for a committee report indicated the underlying fear that the treaty may lead to international entanglements in the future.

This argument has been the backbone of the "Irreconcilable" fight, that the British and French interpretations may lead to trouble in the future, unless the United States publicly announces its understanding at the time of ratification.

MONROE DOCTRINE INVOLVED

The British declared the treaty could not be interpreted to outlaw defensive wars, else Great Britain would not sign it.

France declared the treaty could not be interpreted to mean that punitive actions under the Locarno pact were outlawed, else she would not ratify it.

In each instance, the United States acquiesced to the European viewpoint.

Erie Plant Burned; Alarm Goes Wrong

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 14. — (AP.) — The plant of the American Boiler Works, on the lake front, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin last night.

When an alarm was turned in it registered the wrong box number, according to attaches of the fire department, and apparatus was sent to a point a mile from the plant. Before the fire had been located through phone calls to headquarters, it had gained considerable headway, and more than an hour elapsed before it was brought under control. The firemen also were handicapped by the near-zero temperature.

New Business Block For Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 14.—Plans have been completed by Mrs. Frances Mancuso for erection of a two-story combination business block and apartment house in West High street, on the site of a former building owned by her which was razed by fire December 14, last. The building will be of stone construction and will house several business places.

244 SUMMONED FOR 'RACKET' PLEA DAY

The force of the district attorney's office today was preparing to open the legal battle against the alleged grafters and "racketeers" indicted as a result of the recent grand jury investigation, when arraignment day is observed Thursday in court.

Judge James B. Drew, who has been in Florida for some time, is expected to be back by Thursday, but if he does not return, Judge A. B. Reid will preside.

Some 244 persons have been notified to be in court on Thursday to make known their stand. Exactly 261 indictments were returned by the September grand jury and 244 of those indicted have given bond. The other 17 have not been found. District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner expects that about 200 of the defendants will plead.

Those who plead not guilty to the indictments will be placed on trial within the next two weeks, Gardner said. It is the desire of Gardner to clean up the cases as soon as possible.

Hearings will be started this week before Alderman Thomas Jones, of the South Side, in the cases of the 46 named in warrants sworn out before him as a result of the special session of the probing grand jury. The hearings are to start Wednesday Jones said. Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt will represent the District Attorney's office at the aldermanic hearings.

Addison L. Richmond, 24, of 215 S. Birmingham avenue, Avalon, a newspaper solicitor, employed by the Pittsburgh Press, fell dead yesterday morning while walking on Mary street, McKees Rocks, shortly after a verbal argument in which a group participated.

The body was removed to the McKees Rocks Police Station where, after Richmond was pronounced dead, Deputy Coroner Stanley Cosinski conducted an investigation.

Cosinski reported no blows were struck during the argument. Dr. J. W. McMeans, who conducted an autopsy at the county morgue, declared that death was due to heart disease.

Child Dies, 4 Hurt In Kerosene Blast

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—An explosion said to have resulted from the pouring of kerosene into a coal stove caused the death of a child and the injury of the father and three other children and the destruction of two houses here. Willard Gonder, a coal cutter, used the kerosene to build a fire, according to the police. Two of Gonder's children were taken to a hospital, where one died. Two others were ill from inhaling smoke and from burns. Mrs. Gonder suffered from shock.

5 Held in Farmhouse Burning Fatal to 8

ANNISTON, Ala., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Three more arrests have been in an investigation of a farmhouse burning near Lincoln, Ala., on December 22 when a man, his wife, five children and a neighbor's child were destroyed by fire. Jeff Clark, J. D. Hall, and Clarence Martin were arrested. Mark Jones and his son, Emmett, having been held earlier.

Hip, Hooray, Hold Your Horses, It Still Goes

WAYNESBURG, Jan. 14. — Old-fashioned horse-drawn bobsleds and sharp-runnered cutter-type sleighs made their appearance in Waynesburg when a heavy snow, which covered the highways and country roads, made automobile traffic highly dangerous. The snow was well suited for sleighing, and several sleighing parties were held in the rural sections of the county.

SMALL RETIRES, TEMPESTUOUS TERM ENDED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Len Small became a private citizen today and ended a tempestuous eight-year reign as governor of Illinois.

Of his disappointments and regrets, the one which seemed to weigh most heavily with the little gray haired man, who for years has been a storm center and object of bitter attacks, was the fact that he had never learned to play.

NEVER PLAYED

Work always occupied his waking hours, and his relaxation was sleep, he explained. As he prepared to leave for the South, he ventured the information he might learn to play golf—maybe.

"I leave office a much poorer man, financially," he said. "But money counts for little. I'll always have enough to live."

Two law suits marred his term as governor. Criminal charges were brought against him on the grounds that he withheld state money while state treasurer. He was acquitted. The governor attributed his wife's death to the strain of the trial.

PAID STATE $650,000

A civil suit demanded an accounting of state money, and a judgment was returned against him. The state claimed the Governor owed it $1,000,000, but a settlement was made for $650,000.

Small, seeking a third term, was beaten for the Republican nomination last April by Louis L. Emmerson, who later was elected and who became Governor today.

In private life Small is a farmer, banker and newspaperman.

Prisoners Pray For Recovery Of Warden

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—While their warden, E. F. Harrell, was seriously ill with influenza, prisoners in the state penitentiary here congregated in the chapel and prayed for his recovery.

A short time later Harrell was presented with a silver loving cup bought with money donated by the prisoners. On the cup was engraved:

"To our friend and warden, E. F. Harrell. From the boys. 1929."

At the prayer service, led by Chaplain Miller, the prisoners heard and said: "Amen," to a prayer asking "Divine Providence to spare him who has shown himself by his acts and deeds to be the friend of every prisoner, and who has done so much to better conditions of living behind the walls."

Stranded Steamer Going to Drydock

CRISTOBAL, Panama, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The Dollar Line steamship President Adams which was stranded off here Friday morning will be sent to the Balboa drydock for repairs.

It was reported that most of the passengers arriving aboard the vessel from New York would go through the canal on the ship and many may continue to California on the same vessel after completion of repairs. The vessel is expected to be held at Balboa for about a week.

Chorus Girl Finds One Way to Success

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—One way for a chorus girl to progress is that of Elizabeth Meehan. She studied nightly after glorifying for Ziegfeld and she made good writing scenarios.

NEW WITNESSES BEFORE RUM PROBE JURY

With 100 witnesses waiting, the federal grand jury today began what is expected to be the last week of its investigation of the alleged North Side rum gang.

Subpenas for these witnesses were issued Saturday, when the grand jury, expected to conclude its work then, changed its mind and complained it was not clear on several angles on the probe.

The indication now is that indictments will not be returned before Friday or Saturday. It is certain, however, that this second Federal investigation of booze conditions on the North Side will not bring a blanket indictment such as was returned against 73 defendants last June and which was repudiated in court by Judge R. M. Gibson, who ordered an acquittal verdict.

Children Discover Skeleton in Cave

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Children playing in a cave at Wrightsville, adjoining this borough, found parts of a skeleton of a man. An examination showed the skull had been fractured and police began an investigation. They planned to dig in the cave in an effort to find something by which the man might be identified.

Count Salm Attacked By Grippe in Berlin

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Count Salm von Hoogstraeten, debonair first husband of the former Millicent Rogers, now Mrs. Arturo Ramos, was confined to his bed today with an attack of the grippe. Last night the Count, who usually is sojourning on the Riviera at this time of the year, was suffering from high fever.

Texas Police Rout And Arrest Robber

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Police wounded and dislodged a suspected robber who had barricaded himself in the attic of a residence and had wounded Police Captain Will Fretz slightly before he was forced to surrender. The firing began when two officers went to the house to arrest the man, Hugh Pruett, for investigation in connection with the recent series of robberies and shootings which have resulted in the killing of a high school youth and the probable fatal wounding of a taxi driver.

Boy Admits Slaying; Held With Brother

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Harvey Feather, 18, arrested with his brother, Willis Feather, 22, in connection with the fatal shooting Thursday night of Houston Croyle, Queen, Bedford county, has confessed, according to state police, that he fired the shot which killed the man. Robbery was the motive for the crime, police said.

U. S. Treasurer Asks Nomination Recalled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—H. Theodore Tate, treasurer of the United States, whose nomination for that office was opposed by Representative Wood, of Indiana, has requested Secretary Mellon to recall his nomination.

Tate, who succeeded Frank White as treasurer, was given a recess appointment and Representative Wood opposed it on the ground that Frank J. F. Thiel, assistant treasurer, was next in line for the position and should have received the nomination.

SOFT COAL BILL OPPOSED BY RETAILERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Retail coal dealers appeared before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today to oppose the bill intended to improve conditions in the bituminous coal industry.

The measure was termed "paternalistic" and "uneconomic" by Roderick Stephens, an official of the National Retail Coal Merchants Coal Association, who contended that the creation of a bituminous coal commission as proposed in the bill, "will substitute a federal bureaucracy for individual initiative" and that the measure would constitute "unwarranted class legislation."

Stephens said: "The bill will help no one unless it tends to elevate the price of soft coal to a point where existing mining corporations will be guaranteed so high a price for their product, that regardless of how many days they may be able to operate their mines it will be possible to pay overhead and operating expenses, pay an annual living wage to their employes, regardless of how many days they will be employed, and show a fair profit at the end of each fiscal period.

"This can only mean one thing," he continued. "The Federal Government will underwrite profits of the soft coal industry and wages of employes engaged in that industry, and the public will foot the bill."

3 DIE IN CHAIR AT ROCKVIEW

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Three men whose crimes brought death to five persons paid with their lives in the electric chair at Rockview Penitentiary today. They were Charles F. Mellor, 42, and Benjamin Demarowski, 38, of Philadelphia, and Tony Lucitti, 38, of Washington County.

All three met their death calmly.

The triple execution began with Lucitti, who was convicted, with Roy Wenrich, of shooting Policemen Louis O. Knapp and Paul B. Fox in February, 1928, when caught in the act of running cargoes of moonshine liquor into the coal mining camps of Washington County. Wenrich turned state's evidence and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Mellor, the next to go to the death chamber, shot and killed Max T. Harrison, assistant manager of the Cross Keys Theater, Philadelphia, in an attempted holdup on March 23, 1928.

Demarowski shot and killed his wife, Catherine, 42, April 13, 1928. Captured a month later in Detroit, Demarowski declared that his wife had shot herself during a quarrel over another man.

U. S. POSTPONES FALL TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Although District Attorney Rover had sought to have the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia set this as the day of beginning the trial of former Secretary Fall for conspiracy, he announced today that the government had abandoned the plan and would seek to have the trial set for late April or early May.

A physician's report showed that Fall would not be able to stand the Washington climate during the winter. Rover said he would confer immediately with Owen J. Roberts, special counsel for the government, with a view to filing the motion for later trial.

Tree Fired, Engines Called

Boys set fire to a discarded Christmas tree at Forty-fifth and Davidson streets today then sounded a fire alarm, firemen reported after making a run over icy streets to the scene.

SOVIET AIDS SEARCH FOR BORAH, NORRIS FORGERS

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Russian Soviet government will co-operate in an investigation of the source of the forged documents purporting to show that Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Norris, of Nebraska, each were paid $100,000 for services to bring about American recognition of Russia.

Maxim Litvinoff, acting Secretary of Foreign Affairs of the Soviet government, so notified Borah in a cablegram sent through Boris E. Shvirksy, unofficial representative here.

Litvinoff denied any employe of the Soviet government was implicated in the forgeries.

"The government is ready in every way possible to assist in the investigation of the whole matter," Litvinoff cabled.

Borah expressed the hope that the State Department would follow the matter up with the Soviet government. The forgers, according to the theory of the Senate committee which investigated the documents, are believed to have worked from Paris. Litvinoff in his message declared it "a case of outright forgery."

SUZANNE AT HOTEL, RIFT WITH MRS. BALDWIN SEEN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and her mother today were installed at the Biltmore Hotel here, adding significance to rumors that the famous French tennis star and her hostess, Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin, were at odds concerning the attentions of Mrs. Baldwin's son to the tennis player.

Although she would not receive interviewers, Mlle. Lenglen shouted through the door of her room denials that she and Mrs. Baldwin had quarreled.

Mrs. Baldwin could not be reached for comments concerning the purported rift. Neither could Baldwin M. Baldwin, the son and heir to the "Lucky" Baldwin millions.

Mlle. Lenglen and her mother, accompanied by Baldwin, who had been acting as her manager in Europe, arrived at the Baldwin winter home at Truckee, Cal., shortly before Christmas. At that time reports were current that the tennis star and Baldwin were engaged.

Mrs. Baldwin issued indignant denials, pointing out that her son was not yet divorced. Baldwin and his wife have been separated for about three years.

After a stay of a few days at the Baldwin winter home, the party left for the Baldwin home at Pasadena. Nothing further was heard of the reported engagement of Mlle. Lenglen and Baldwin until Mlle Lenglen and her mother were discovered registered at a hotel here.

Urban League Picks Officers Wednesday

The election of officers of the Urban League of Pittsburgh will feature a luncheon meeting Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce. The organization, whose purpose is to create a better understanding of the Negro race, has announced an exhibit of paintings and drawings and other works of the Negro which can be seen at the chamber Wednesday and Thursday.

Killed in Pursuit Of Pet Monkey Hiding in Well

MELILLA, Morocco, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Capt. Adolfo Yoliff, recently appointed chief of the native camel corps in the Sahara, was killed in an odd accident just before his scheduled departure for his new post. A monkey which was mascot of his regiment hid in a well as the time came to depart. The captain, while attempting to capture the pet, lost his balance and fell into the well where he drowned.

Legionnaires Plan Dinner to Chieftain

Plans for a testimonial banquet to National Commander Paul V. McNutt, of the American Legion, were discussed yesterday by representatives of various county posts who met in the Keystone Athletic Club. The banquet will be held in the William Penn Hotel February 13. Those present were assigned to various committees to complete final arrangements for the affair.

NORTHCOTT HAS ATTACK OF 'NERVES' IN HIS CELL

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, whose trial for alleged murder of three young boys at his Wineville ranch, will be resumed in the superior court here today, suffered an attack of "nerves" yesterday which required the services of a physician.

The 22-year-old Canadian demanded of Sheriff Clem Sweeters that he be taken from his cell and be allowed to exercise on the street with guards. The demand was refused. Then Northcott asked that something be given him to quiet his nerves. Sheriff Sweeters called a physician, who said the prisoner's indisposition was slight.

Northcott will not be allowed out of his cell at any time except to appear in court, the Sheriff said.

Evidence which caused young Northcott's nervousness dealt with the finding of the decapitated body of a young Mexican boy, near Puente, whose identity has not been established. Northcott is charged with having slain and beheaded the youth.

THIEF SOUGHT; STABBED MAN

Homestead police are searching for a highwayman who after robbing Michael Jusiman, 25, of 5729 Blair street, stabbed him and left him unconscious in Eighth avenue early yesterday. The man was found by a motorist who took him to the Homestead Hospital.

Jusiman told police that the highwayman stabbed him in the chest and took his money. He was unable to tell just what was stolen. Hospital attaches say the man's condition is serious.

PROSECUTOR TO CRUSADE ON POW-WOWS

YORK, Pa., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Convictions of a pow wow doctor and two accomplices for a murder today seemed likely to be followed by prosecutions for the practice of witchcraft.

"Something's got to be done about it," said County District Attorney Amos W. Herrmann in regard to the situation, which culminated in last week's trials.

PRACTITIONERS SOUGHT

Ever since Nelson D. Reymeyer, a farmer, was slain on the theory that he practised black magic and bewitched an entire family, state officials have been trying to learn the identity of other practioners of witchcraft for prosecution. Under state statues it is a criminal offense to practice healing without a license.

The man and two youths convicted last week were in jail today awaiting removal to the penitentiary or perhaps another trial.

BOY FACES 20 YEARS

John H. Blymyer, pow wow doctor; John Curry, 14, and Wilbert G. Hess, 18, were convicted within five days after they were indicted for the murder of Rehmeyer.

Hess, last of the trio to be tried, was convicted Saturday night of murder in the second degree, which carries a penalty of 10 to 20 years' imprisonment.

Blymyer and Curry were found guilty of murder in the first degree. Life imprisonment was recommended by the trial juries.

Weather Conditions.

The high that appeared over Saskatchewan and Manitoba Saturday morning was centered over South Dakota yesterday morning, and this morning it is over the Middle Atlantic Coast. It produced the coldest weather of this winter over the Ohio Valley states and the Middle Atlantic states.

Following the high is a low pressure area, centered over Colorado. It is producing cloudy weather over the northern and central plains, the Lake region and the Ohio Valley states, and light snow in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana. It is also causing a rising temperature condition from the Rocky Mountains eastward.

Another high appears over Saskatchewan and Manitoba, with temperatures from 20 to 28 degrees below zero over that section.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling everywhere. Ice covers most of the upper rivers and gorges have formed at several places. Stage at Pittsburgh 12.0 feet; Dam No. 2, 6.5, and Dam No. 6, 8.9. The dams are down expecting Nos. 3 and 4. New made ice running out of the Allegheny, river about three-fourths covered.

Man Who Helped Nip Morgan Raids Dies

ALLIANCE, O., Jan. 14.—Eli Craft, 83, one of the men who aided in the capture of Capt. John Morgan and his company of Confederate soldiers near Lisbon when they dashed into Ohio on their historic raid during the Civil War, is dead at his home here. He had been ill since Christmas with pneumonia.

CHARLES KONOP

Awaiting court trial Charles Konop, Braddock schoolboy, in the county jail today meditates risks involved in sending threatening letters and shooting through bedroom windows. The boy, reader of stories of the wild west, sent George Morrison, retired Braddock hotelman, five threatening letters, police say he admits, in which he warned that he'd kill Morrison, his wife, two daughters and mother-in-law lest $500 blackmail were posted.

AIR DEPOT CHIEF DENIES REPAIRING DEATH PLANE

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Capt. F. F. Christine, commanding officer at the local United States Army air depot, tonight denied the tri-motored army Fokker, which crashed at Royalton last Friday with the loss of eight lives, had been overhauled at the Middletown field prior to its attempted return flight to its base at Bolling Field, Washington.

This statement, which Capt. Christine said he was making only to contradict a press report which he said reflected unjustly on the Middletown depot, also was described by him as the only official comment which has been or will be forthcoming from him.

An official report, he added, is being prepared by a commission he assigned to investigate the crash, which cost the lives of eight army men, and this report, when completed, will be filed through the regular service channels.

Funeral arrangements for the eight dead have been completed and the last of the bodies is scheduled to leave here for its burial destination by noon tomorrow.

Alvarez May Be New Ambassador to U. S.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Frederico Alvarez De Toledo, ambassador to France, was regarded today as the likely choice for ambassador to Washington to succeed Manuel Malbran, resigned. Senor Alvarez will go to the United States to represent President Yrigoyen at the inauguration of Herbert Hoover and probably will remain.

"Saves" Stunned Rooster, Faces 20-Year Term

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 14.—R. W. Barris, of Mt. Jackson road, is dangling the state's 20-year imprisonment law for chicken stealing before an Ohio motorist who stole his prize seven-pound rooster. The rooster was strolling along the road in front of the Barris home when it was struck by an automobile. The rooster was stunned. As he was coming to another car, bearing an Ohio license, came along.

A man jumped from the car, tucked the still befuddled rooster under an arm, got into the car and drove off before Mr. Barris could interefere. Barris plans to write a letter to the owner of the car, thanking him for rescuing the rooster and at the same time inclosing a copy of the law covering chicken stealing. Barris also wants pay for the rooster.

"Daddy Did It," So Man Is Held as Wife Slayer

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Because his 5-year-old daughter, Eugena, her little arms clasped tightly about the body of her mother, Mrs. Mary Mosuk, 27, had sobbed out the story of a domestic "tiff," Ronene Mosuk was arrested and jailed on a murder charge here today.

"Daddy did it," Eugena cried when Mrs. Anna Schoen, living above the Mosuk apartment, came into the bedroom and found the child frightened because "mamma won't answer me." A splintered broomstick lay nearby.

Gas In Stomach Hurts the Heart

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion, Says Medical Writer.

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal.

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good druggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form, at very small cost—but be sure you get BISURATED Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 15 years.

Sore Throat As soon as you notice throat inflammation, irritation or difficulty in swallowing, take Tonsiline—the safe, dependable sore throat remedy. At druggists, 35c and 60c. Hospital size $1.00.

FIGHT ON SMOKE NUISANCE PRESSED BY COUNCIL

INDICATORS' USE URGED ON BIG BUILDINGS

Council today is expected to make further moves toward smoke abatement in the city. One bill will be brought before the session which provides authority to force the use of smoke indicators on all large heating plants in places of public assemblage and apartments.

Another measure which is to be brought before Council at today's meeting is an ordinance calling for the employment of 10 special technical smoke observers. They are to be recruited from local students of combustion engineering. This measure is based on the resolution of Councilman Robert Garland.

A school for firemen and janitors is to be established by the Board of Education to help the councilmen in fight to rid the city of smoke, board also offered to take any steps which would aid in educational work. Many other groups in the city have offered their aid.

HOW ICE CHOKES MONONGAHELA

ICE BLOCKS FLOATING IN RIVER NEAR POINT

This photograph, taken today under atmospheric difficulties, shows how ice chokes the Monongahela River just above the Point. For a few moments early this morning, the mass was frozen from shore to shore, but quickly broke up. Old rivermen can't remember anytime before that the river was frozen solid, except in 1918, according to Weatherman Brotzman.

3 HURT AS TRAIN SPLINTERS TRUCK

The Manhattan Limited of the Pennsylvania Railroad, westbound, struck a five-ton motor truck at the Chestnut street crossing, Sewickley, early today, with such force that debris was scattered for a quarter of a mile and the locomotive put out of commission.

The occupants of the truck, Ralph Nickerson, 27, and Frank Lewis, 21, both of Warren, O., escaped as by a miracle with minor injuries; but Frank Niece, 48, of Shields, the crossing watchman, was hit by a plank as it hurtled through the air, and his skull was fractured.

The injured were taken to Allegheny General Hospital. The train was delayed two hours.

The truck, bound from Warren to Pittsburgh, skidded down the slope at Chestnut street with such momentum that, although the driver attempted to turn it into Bank street, which parallels the railroad, the only effect was to send it crashing broadside through the crossing gates.

Rice Tossing Barred At Church Weddings

GENEVA, N. Y., Jan. 14.—There is to be no more rice-tossing at St. Francis De Sales church weddings. The Rev. Walter J. Lee has given notice that he will bar the church doors to noisy wedding party celebrants.

FOUR OF FAMILY DIE IN WRECK

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Four members of a family of five are dead and the sole survivor, a child, was seriously injured when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad train near Parkton, Baltimore County, early today.

Mrs. Diamond Hannigan and two children, Robert, 6, and Diamond, 4, were killed outright; the husband, Diamond Hannigan, a Baltimore policeman, was fatally injured and died a few hours later at Mercy Hospital where physicians said Edith, 9 years, was in a critical condition.

FIRE ROUTS SIX; MOTHER HELD

After her mother and five children had been driven into the street in the sub-zero weather by fire, which damaged her home at 1017 Reedsdale street, Mrs. Frances Sinatra, 24, was arrested by North Side police today as the alleged owner of a still found in her home by firemen.

Police said the fire started when wallpaper ignited from a torch with which Mrs. Sinatra's mother, Mrs. Rosalia Malia, was thawing frozen water pipes.

Mrs. Sinatra said the still was the property of her father, Sam Malia, and had not been in operation for two months. After the fire, which caused damage estimated at $3,000, police called Mrs. Sinatra from her work in a North Side factory, and arrested her on a suspicious person charge when she arrived at her home.

23 Navy Seaplanes On Way to Panama

KEY WEST, Fla., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Twenty-three naval seaplanes of the aircraft squadron scouting fleet, under the command of Lieutenant Commander Capehart, arrived at Puerto Morelos, Mexico, en route to the Canal Zone for maneuvers with the naval fleet, said a wireless message received by Capt. Robert W. McNeely of the seventh naval district here. Capt. McNeely said the wireless message stated that the fliers encountered ideal weather conditions and a helpful tail wind on their flight across the Caribbean Sea and that all landed safely.

Indiana Senate Can't Oust Judge

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 14.—(INS)—Members of the state Senate learned that their sacrifice in spending 10 days two years ago to impeach Circuit Judge Clarence W. Dearth, of Muncie, was in vain. The state Supreme Court returned a decision that the state Legislature is without authority to impeach Circuit Court judges. The only body that can impeach a circuit judge or a county prosecutor is the state Supreme Court, which can act only after the judge or prosecutor has been convicted of corruption "or other high crime," the Supreme Court ruled.

INFLUENZA MAY BE WARDED OFF BY FOLLOWING THIS GOOD ADVICE

Get plenty of sleep in a well-ventilated room. Eat regularly, sparingly, of wholesome food. Exercise each day in the open air. Walk to work if possible. Avoid crowds, and keep away from all who evidently are suffering from colds. Treat a cold promptly at the start. It is better to stay in bed for a day or two than to take a chance with a cold.

These and similar bits of commonsense advice have been given out by health officials on almost every section where influenza is severe. The public in general is becoming educated to take proper precautionary measures. The prevention is easier than the cure.

Now with the germs of colds, grippe, and influenza almost everywhere, many are finding Vapex of the utmost value. It is the most modern way of combating the always-with-us cold evil. Vapex is pleasant to use. Put a drop on your handkerchief. Breathe the invigorating vapor. Do this often during the day and your head stays clear. Vapex will stop a cold at the start. Your druggist has it for $1.00—in the little square bottle and the package with the green triangle. Fifty applications in every bottle.

MELLON BLOCKS "DRY" MONEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The prospect of Congressional approval of the $25,000,000 increase for Prohibition enforcement voted by the Senate Appropriations Committee is dimmed by the decision of Secretary Mellon to opose it in a letter to be transmitted today to the Senate.

The secretary's communication will be sent to Chairman Warren of the Senate Appropriations Committee and will be presented simultaneously to the Senate with the committee's favorable report on the proposed increase for the liquor laws' enforcement.

The appropriation was proposed by Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, and the fund would be made available for the current fiscal year.

The Treasury Department in disapproving the appropriation is understood to feel that the addition of $25,000,000 to the funds of the Prohibition Bureau for use in only one phase of its duties—enforcement—would not speed up the bureau's work.

In a statement replying to the Treasury head's opposition to his proposal, Senator Harris declared that "knowing his (Mellon's) position and record" on prohibition enforcement he was "naturally not surprised."

ROAD BUILDERS OPEN SHOW

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The annual exposition of the American Road Builders' Association, opened here today, revealing, officials of the association say, that more progress was made in the United States last year in labor saving construction and maintenance devices for highways and bridges than during any previous five-year period.

The exposition would be sufficient to fill 500 freight cars with equipment and materials for road making. Heavy road rollers, concrete mixers, graders, and virtually every other machine that enters into road work will be on display.

The twenty-sixth annual convention will open Tuesday.

According to Charles M. Upham, secretary-director, the great advance in labor saving devices has been due to a peculiar necessity. The large scale highway construction programs of the last two or three years eliminated a large number of contractors from the successful bidders, he said. The process of elimination created keen competition, causing bids that were very low. As a result contractors were forced to perfect machines that would make them a profit.

As a result of these developments a secondary county road or farm to market earth road may be constructed at less than $1,000 a mile where grading is simple, Upham said. Heretofore the low cost surfaces have run up to between $2,000 and $4,500.

Vaudeville-Radio Manager Resigns

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The resignation of J. J. Ford, general manager of the coast-to-coast chain of theaters of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation, was announced by Hiram S. Brown, president of the organization. Mr. Ford, who also is manager of the Maine and New Hampshire circuit of theaters, will devote his time exclusively to this activity and other theatrical interests with which he is associated. He will be succeeded by Joseph P. Plunkett.

Shoots Up Glassport Postoffice, Caught

Luigi Sgrilletti, 48, of State street, Clairton, is held in the Clairton Police Station where he was taken Saturday night after running amuck and firing several shots in the Glassport Post Office, police say. He will undergo a mental examination, the arresting officers state. The shots in the post office routed four employes and Postmaster George Latsley. Police Chief William Rushe and Councilman George Payne, of Glassport, arrested the man.

Elizabeth Man Hit By Auto, Badly Hurt

His skull fractured, Samuel Hepp, 31, of Bluff street, Elizabeth, is in a serious condition in the Homestead Hospital where he was taken yesterday morning after being struck by an automobile in Eighth avenue, Homestead. John Gumbert, 18, of Dravosburg, driver, reported the accident and was released on his own recognizance.

WIFE OF PRODUCER PLANNING RETURN TO SCREEN IN COLMAN PICTURE

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14.

IT is understood that Frances Howard plans a return to the screen, and that she may enact the leading feminine role opposite Ronald Colman in "Bulldog Drummond" as the first in her comeback. Apparently the actress, who is the wife of Samuel Goldwyn, the United Artists producer, believes that artistic and domestic careers may be successfully combined. Prior to her marriage Miss Howard appeared on both stage and screen. She had the leading role in the film version of "The Swan."

Incidentally, "Bulldog Drummond" will not be the name of the picture when it finally reaches the screen. No reason why, and no information as to what the new title may be. But what's in a name, when the presence of Colman and Lilyan Tashman in the cast guarantee good entertainment? Lilyan has been signed for an important part. So go prepared to be vamped.

Lucile Webster Gleason's convalescence from her recent illness in Oakland was livened along by the good news that Russell Gleason, her son, has signed a long-term contract with Pathe. The boy began his screen career when Bob Armstrong suggested him for the part of a kid reporter in "Shady Lady." "Russ" stole the picture and the contract is the result. His parents, Lucille and Jimmy Gleason, are to make a series of two-reel talkies either before or after they make an audible version of the "Shannons of Broadway" for Universal. The Gleasons never have a spare minute, they're either writing plays or talkie dialogue or acting on either stage or screen.

Bow Cabin Boy Given Contract

JIMMY ALDINE, who shared honors with Clara Bow in "Down to the Sea in Ships," has been signed by Pathe as a member of their junior stock company. Jimmy was the cabin boy in the picture that gave Clara her start to fame. He has been struggling along ever since. But it looks as though the big break has come at last.

Speaking of Clara, they say that she is not at all happy making talkies. Heretofore the Bow set has been the jolliest and gayest on the Paramount lot. Music all the time and plenty of "hey, hey" between the shooting of sequences. But now that she is working on a sound stage all must be quiet and there's no music to help the emoting while the camera spins. The change is said to have given Clara "the needles," although they let her have music right up to the time the sound device is turned on. Then, however, she must play her scene in silence. Her voice, by the way, comes through all right.

Chaney Jungle Trapper Now

IF Lon Chaney has any ambitions for circus life lying dormant in his subconsciousness, he will surely be rid of them before he finishes "Where East Is East," or "Jungle," or whatever may be the latest name Metro has wished on his current picture. Lon is ridding around the set at the head of a herd of five elephants and is putting in his working hours piloting tigers, leopards and other interesting playmates along what is supposed to be a Siamese river. He portrays one who traps jungle beasts for zoos and circuses. And the new make-up he has devised for the role is a masterpiece of realism.

One of the many mysteries on the Fox lot has leaked out a little. It is that the Fox folk are about completing a really "stupendous" picture, at present called by the significant title, "Grandeur." Not only will the picture be entirely "movietone," but it is to have color, and also something which is a close approach to the third dimension, which will give the picture depth and perspective. The picture is to be projected on a screen which is sufficiently large to present a wide panorama of action, rather than the limited distances included on one of the usual proportions.

Anita Stewart Gets Welcome

ANITA STEWART got a big reception when she reached San Francisco to begin her vaudeville tour in that city. Mayor Rolph presented her with an autographed map which hereafter will be signed by the mayors of all the cities in which her act appears. The theater will present "Anita Stewart" hats to its patrons. The star's act is a combination of stage and screen stuff, which includes the showing of a film titled "Anita Stewart in Hollywood." She will sing three of the latest song hits.

David Wark Griffith is expected back in Hollywood before the month ends, and the rumorers say that he has dug up a great story for his next photoplay. It is interesting to note that his last one, "Lady of the Pavements," is "D. W.'s" four hundred and thirty-first production since the old Biograph days. His pictures have grossed a total of nearly $60,000,000. The biggest gross was made by "The Birth of a Nation," which has taken in $10,000,000 and is still going strong.

Tenor and Violinist Art Society Artists

Arthur Hackett, tenor, and John Corigliano, violinist, will give the fourth Art Society concert in Carnegie Hall tonight. Mr. Hackett is one of America's prominent tenors. Mr. Corigliano is a young Italian violinist, who was chosen by Marion Talley to share her program on her transcontinental tour. These artists replace Michael Bohnen, originally scheduled for this date.

ADVANCE GLIMPSES :-: OF SOME PLAYERS :-: IN NEW PICTURES

Doris Dawson will be seen in "Children of the Ritz," in which Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall are co-starred.

Nora Lane and Jack Holt, as they appear in a scene from "Sunset Pass," which, like many Holt starring vehicles, is based on a story by Zane Grey.

Lupe Velez "makes up" Victor Fleming, who directed "Wolf Song," which features Miss Velez and Gary Cooper as well as Louis Wolheim, now one of the most popular bad boys in the films.

PRINCE GEORGE THIRD ILL IN BRITISH ROYAL FAMILY

International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—A third member of the British royal family has fallen ill, it was learned today. The Central News stated that Prince George, youngest living son of King George and Queen Mary, is confined to his room in Buckingham Palace with a slight cold.

The King is slowly progressing from his long illness, while Queen Mary is suffering from inflammation of the throat and is under the care of a specialist. She was ordered to remain in bed today, it was learned. Despite her illness, the Queen insists upon superintending all the details of the routine at Buckingham Palace.

Further progress in the condition of King George was reported in the following official medical bulletin issued at Buckingham Palace at 11 o'clock:

"His Majesty is making slow progress. The next bulletin will be issued tomorrow evening."

It was signed by Sir Stanley Hewett, Sir Hugh Rigby and Lord Dawson of Penn.

At the same time it was announced that Queen Mary's cold was better.

Standardized Paper Convention Topic

A large group of local business men will attend the annual paper standardization conference tomorrow in the William Penn Hotel, under the auspices of the Paper Users Standardization Bureau of Holyoke, Mass. Miss Helen U. Kiely will give an illustrated lecture tomorrow afternoon, and tomorrow night Robert C. Fay, director of the bureau will talk. Other conferences are being held in 22 cities throughout the country.

Men Crave Cooks, Not Love, Says Young Widow

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Most men want a cook—they're "kitcheny."

That was the conclusion of Mrs. Mae Chauncey, 31-year-old widow and mother of two children, who advertised for a new husband and received 322 proposals.

Most of the applicants, said Mrs. Chauncey, sent their photographs. They failed to say anything about love or affection, being content to inquire regarding her ability in the kitchen.

SOUTH SIDE TRIO ROBS STORE

"Stick 'em up," commanded three robbers wearing white handkerchief masks, pointing revolvers at Raymond A. Graner, manager of a chain store, 1303 Carson street, a block from the South Side Police Station today.

One robber grabbed $39 from the cash register and the three fled. Graner hastily locked his store and gave chase but the robbers outdistanced him.

The Rev. H. F. Pierce, pastor of Bingham Street Methodist Episcopal Church, told police that from the window of his home, 57 South Thirteenth street, he had seen the three men run down Bingham toward South Twelfth street.

Hip Sing Tongman Held in Shooting

An echo of the last war between the Hip Sing and On Leong tongs was heard before Police Magistrate John Orie in Central Police Station this morning when Orie held A. K. Lowe, 26, Chinese, of 513 Second avenue, for court on a charge of felonious shooting. Lowe, member of the Hip Sings, is alleged to have shot and wounded Yee Foo, 33, proprietor of a laundry at 431 North Highland avenue. Yee is a member of the On Leong Tong. The shooting took place October 8. Yee was shot twice.

Fire Destroys Maps Of World War Fields

WASHINGTON—Maps of the World War depicting the movement of troops have been destroyed in a fire. The maps were to be used in instructing students and to be referred to in event of another war. They were considered valuable by the War Department.

Supreme Court O.K.'s Chicago Lake Drain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—(INS.)—The Supreme Court today ruled that the Illinois sanitary district at Chicago is within its legal rights in withdrawing water from Lake Michigan into a sanitary canal, thereby affirming the legality of a War Department permit for the diversion.

Promises He'll Be Good to Escape 90-Day Term

Robert Heeney, 28, of 6902 Baker street, promised Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today to attend church once a week, and to quit drinking and swearing.

He was arrested last night on complaint of his wife, who testified he was disorderly and abusive.

DRAMA, TUNES IN WEEK'S SHOWS

In the Alvin tonight Mae West opens her engagement in "Diamond Lil," drama which achieved success during a year's run on Broadway. Miss West is supported by the entire New York cast and production. Matinee performances will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

Tonight, in the Nixon, "Echoes of 1929" will be presented, starring Tommy "Bozo" Snyder, "the man who never speaks." It is claimed there are many novelties distributed throughout the 20 or more scenes that go to make up this musical comedy. There will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

WOULD-BE DIAMOND STARS

Van and Schenck, who top the vaudeville in the Davis this week, believe that fate cast them in the wrong path. They'd rather be ball players than the kings of harmony that they are today. In this bill they present the pick of their repertoire of over 500 song hits.

Tonight in the Pitt Thurston, magician, enters the second week of his engagement at that playhouse. He does three or four card tricks in his performance. His "Rising Cards" mystified Herrmann many years ago. Thurston has been puzzling audiences with this trick for 25 years.

"PORGY" HERE NEXT WEEK

Opening Monday evening, January 21, the New York Theater Guild will present DuBose and Dorothy Heyward's American folk-play, "Porgy." The production comes to Pittsburgh from its 49-week engagement in New York. It is to be presented in the Nixon for one week only.

Next Monday night, January 21, the popular musical romance, "The Desert Song," will return to the Alvin for a farewell engagement of one week. Alexander Gray, Bernard Granville, Bernice Claire, Harold Stanton, Edna Torrence and the same cast that was here recently will be seen and heard again. This is said to be the last Pittsburgh showing of "The Desert Song," as it is to be withdrawn at the end of the season.

Trixie Friganza, famous comedienne, just back from European triumphs, who has established herself in every form of amusement, will headline the program of two-a-day vaudeville in the Davis next week. She calls her act "My Bag o' Trix." It was written by Neville Fleeson.

Chinaman's Wife, Legatee, Must Stay Here

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Although she had left Clarksburg for San Francisco, with the intention of returning to China, Mrs. Marie Q. Lee, wife of a Chinese who conducted a laundry here, will have to revise her plans if she is to get a $30,000 bequest left her in the will of Miss Alcinda Davisson.

The will of the 81-year-old spinster has just been filed for probate here. It bequeaths all her personal property to Mrs. Lee, with the provision that she remain in the United States. Realty is left to a brother, John S. Davisson, Omaho, Neb.

Miss Davisson became interested in the Lee family through Sunday school work.

Army Nurse Gets French War Medal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Maj. Julia Stimson, superintendent of the Army Nurse Corps here, has received the medal and diploma, Medaille D'Hygiene Publique (silver), by the French minister of labor, hygiene, charities and social providence.

W. VA. ASSEMBLY FACES WORK

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—A week of formality behind it, the Legislature of 1929 is about ready to get started on some of the problems that brought the members from the 55 counties of West Virginia for the scheduled 60-day session.

Appointment of committees in the House and Senate alone remains as a final detail to be attended to before the lawmakers have an opportunity to apply legislative corrections to some of the pressing matters that are bothering the state.

Appointment of the committees will automatically open the legislative hopper and indications are that plenty of proposed legislation will be dumped into it. Reference of the bills to committees for study and report will follow as a matter of routine.

AMUSEMENTS.

BEWARE
of Coughs that Follow
FLU
They Weaken Your System and May Lead to Serious Trouble

You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and acts as a gentle laxative.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and helps check the growth of the germs.

In addition to creosote, Creomulsion contains cascara, wild cherry, syrup of white pine with tar, menthol, ipecac and licorice root, the combined effect of which is to dislodge and loosen up the phlegm, produce a cooling, soothing, healing effect on the inflamed mucous membranes and act as a gentle laxative. Creomulsion contains no narcotics, nor anything harmful. It can be safely given to children—they like its pleasant taste.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from flu and colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion may help you avoid flu, but is not sold as a flu remedy. If you have fever, or think you may have the flu, see your doctor immediately.

Caution!

A hard, racking cough from flu keeps the system weak and run down—making it easy to have a relapse, or catch colds or develop something more serious. By relieving the cough, Creomulsion helps the system regain its strength. Its use should be continued several days after securing relief so as to get the most benefit possible.

$1,750 STOLEN FROM 2 SAFES DOWNTOWN

Safecrackers obtained $1,750 in two downtown business houses over the week-end.

Climbing a fire escape to the third floor of a building at 218 Stanwix street, robbers descended to the Federal System of Bakeries on the first floor, from where they carried a small safe to the cellar, cracking it open, and obtaining $150. A kit of burglar tools was left behind.

From a vault in the grocery store of Harry Hepner, at 603 Wylie avenue, the thieves stole $1,600, police say. The combination knob was knocked off with a sledgehammer.

Washington Youth Injured in Crash

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14—Guy Miller, 338 Addison street, 17, was severely injured and is suffering from a loss of blood as a result of a Pennsylvania freight train crashing into an automobile truck at the Houston crossing. He was hurled against the windshield, which shattered and inflicted several deep lacerations about the face. M. G. Wallace, of Morgantown, who was driving the truck, escaped injury. The boy is in the Canonsburg Hospital.

Many Ill of Flu In Washington

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14—Thirty-four persons are in the Washington Hospital suffering from pneumonia, following attacks of influenza, although there has been a decline for several days in the number of new cases of influenza and pneumonia in the city and its suburbs. The schools of both Washington and East Washington are scheduled to reopen tomorrow after having been closed for the past four weeks.

McKees Rocks Train Victim Identified

The body of a man killed Saturday night by a train in the Pittsburgh, Chartiers, Youghiogheny Railroad yards, McKees Rocks, was identified at the county morgue yesterday as that of Ralph E. Speer, 22, of New Castle. Robert E. Speer, the victim's father, who claimed the body, said he had not seen his son for two weeks. The body was shipped to New Castle.

Laxa-Pirin Over-night Relief for COLDS

Laxa-Pirin is a special compound of aspirin, laxatives and other valuable elements. The quickest known relief for colds and grippe. No quinine, hence no roaring head or nausea. Just as wonderful for headache, neuralgia, and general pains. All druggists. 25c. Contains No Quinine

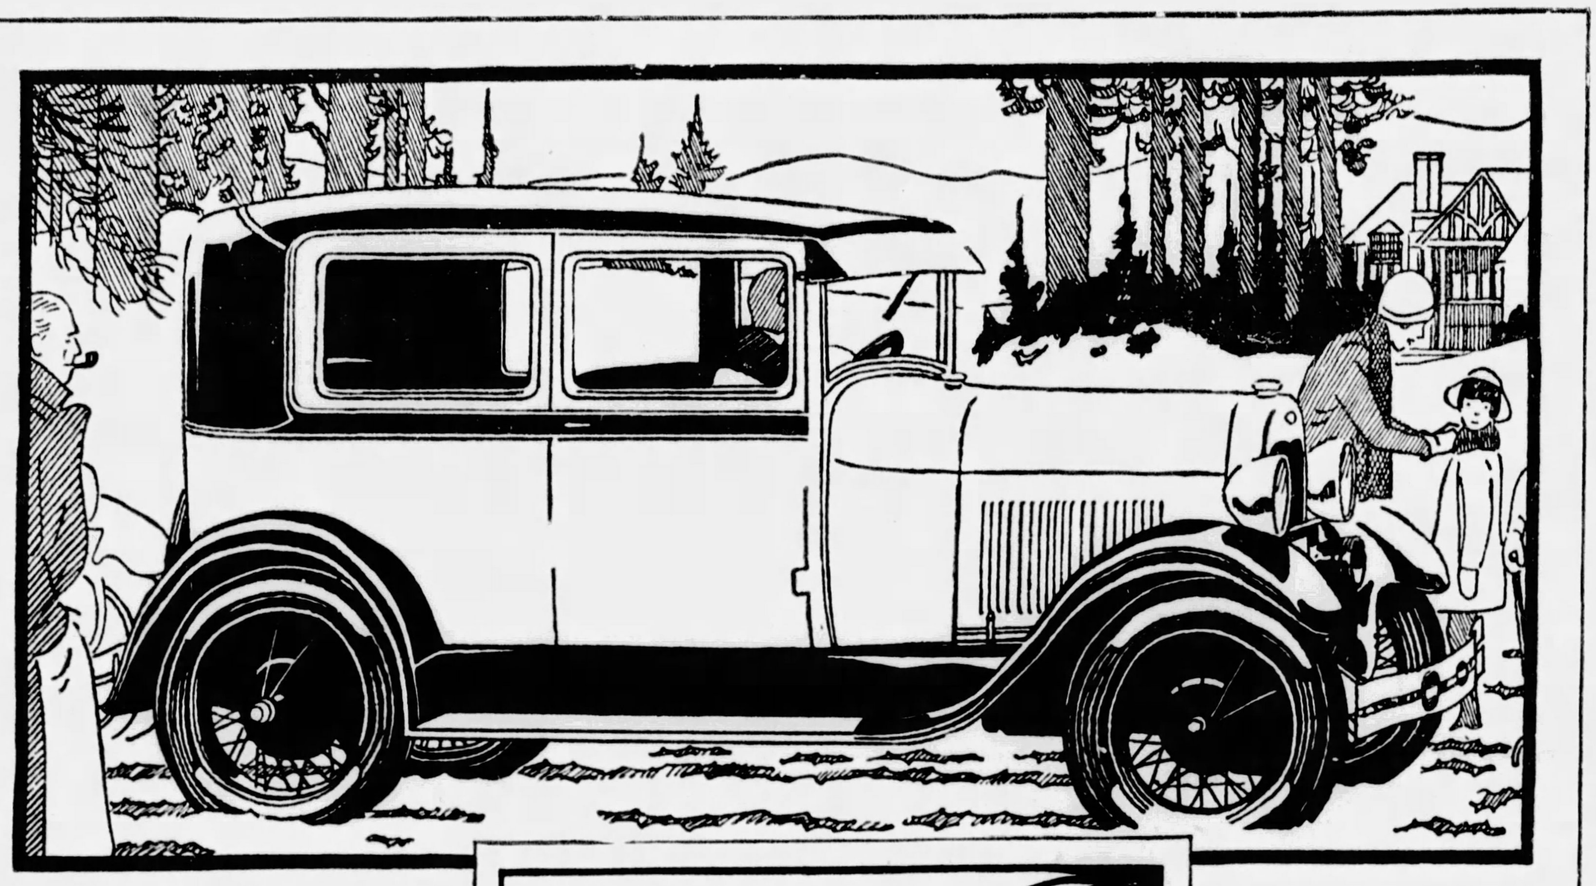
GOOD PERFORMANCE WITH ECONOMY



THE new Ford is more than a new automobile. It is the expression of an ideal—an ideal that looks to bringing the benefits of modern transportation to all the people.

Because of this purpose, the price is low and great care has been taken to insure economy of operation and up-keep. Few features are of greater importance to millions of motorists.

Conservative figures show that the new Ford averages 20 miles per gallon of gasoline, with many Ford owners reporting greater mileage on long trips. Oil consumption is also low per hundred miles. There is a considerable saving on tires due to the balance of the car, ease of steering and perfected wheel design.

All tires used on new Ford cars and recommended for replacement are specially built by leading tire manufacturers according to specifications laid down by the Ford Motor Company. Mechanical up-keep is low because of simplicity of design and the enduring quality that has been built into every part.

FEATURES OF THE NEW FORD CAR

Beautiful low lines

Choice of colors

Quick acceleration

Smoothness at all speeds

55 to 65 miles an hour

Silent, mechanical internal-expanding six-brake system, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed

Four Houdaille shock absorbers

Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield

Economy of operation and up-keep

Reliability and long life

Zerk-Alemite chassis lubrication

Large corporations have proved Ford economy

Definite evidence of the economy of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by Federal and city governments, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep day-by-day cost records.

The new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering every feature of automobile value and performance—from the time of purchase to the final trade-in. Here the Ford policy of not making yearly changes serves to protect and maintain the investment of every Ford owner. All improvements in the new Ford are made so that present owners may take advantage of them quickly and at low cost.

The economy of good service at a fair price

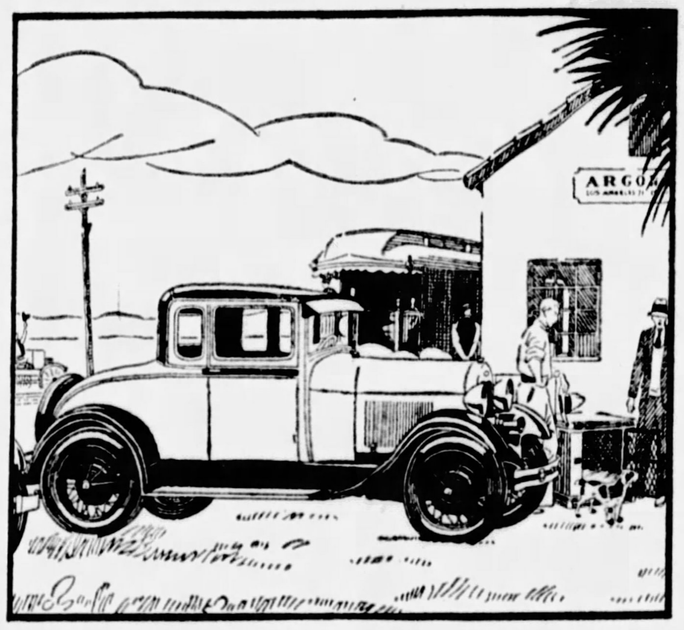
The availability of Ford dealers throughout the world and close factory supervision of all service are additional reasons for the economy of the new Ford.

It has always been our belief that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer but establishes a new obligation on us to see that his car gives him service. We are as much interested in his economical operation of the car as he is in our economical manufacture of it.

For that reason we have installed a system of controlled service to take care of all Ford car needs in an economical and improved manner. We wish all Ford owners to know what they are entitled to in this respect so that they may readily avail themselves of this service.

Ford service more important than sales

This service begins with proper instruction when you buy the car and includes a free inspection at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. It continues as long as you are a Ford owner.



The new Ford Tudor Sedan. A splendid family car because of its economy, comfort, safety, reliability, speed, power, acceleration and ease of operation and control. Finished in a choice of beautiful two-tone color harmonies. Richly upholstered. All appointments fully nickeled.

The new Ford Coupe is a particularly good example of beauty and utility. Built to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles. Equipped with Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield and four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers.

No matter where you live or where you go, you will never be very far from a Ford dealer who has been specially trained and equipped to give you courteous, intelligent, economical service. The cost of new parts is low because of the established Ford policy of doing business at a small margin of profit.

The purpose of Ford service is identical with that for which the car itself was built—to help you get many thousands of miles of pleasant, enjoyable motoring at a minimum of trouble and expense. "Good performance with economy" is the reason for the unusual value that is brought to you in the new Ford.

KELLOGG MUM ON APPOINTING OF MORGAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(INS)—The State Department would not confirm today the reported selection of J. P. Morgan as one of he American delegates to the forthcoming meetings of the reparations commission.

Secretary of State Kellogg said he had "heard Mr. Morgan's name mentioned" along with other prominent American bankers and businessmen, but declared he had no official knowledge of Mr. Morgan's reported selection.

If the allied governments do choose Mr. Morgan, it was said, the appointment would be satisfactory to this government.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—The reported selection of J. P. Morgan as co-observer with Owen D. Young in the American delegation to the forthcoming reparations conference indicated today that the allies plan to market large quantities of German railroad and industrial bonds in the United States if the experts agree upon a plan for commercializing the German reparations debt.

When Mr. Morgan conferred with Premier Poincare and S. Parker Gilbert in Paris recently, it was said Mr. Morgan's advice would be sought when the reparations experts began their labors.

Body of Salesman Taken from River

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—A body, identified as that of J. Thomas Windsor, 57, who disappeared from his home November 29, was found in Gwynn's Falls, lodged between two rocks. Thomas Jessups, a passerby saw the body in the stream and called police, who removed it. Windsor had been employed as a silk buyer for a local dry goods firm with which he had been connected for 46 years. In July of last year the company went out of business, and from that time until the day he disappeared he had been out of work.

Chicago Vice, Graft Probed by Jurors

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Allegations of organized vice under police protection, payroll padding by the sanitary district of Chicago, graft by school employes and corruption in other municipal branches will come under the scrutiny of Cook county's new special grand jury, starting today. Frank J. Loesch, who conducted six previous special grand juries and who was made first assistant to John A. Swanson, new state's attorney, will be in charge of the inquiry.

Girl Burned as Dress Ignites at Open Grate

Burned when her clothing ignited from an open grate in her home, Mary Helen Lenkner, 11, of 329 East Seventh avenue, Homestead, is in a critical condition in the Homestead Hospital. The accident occurred late yesterday.

CHINA FINANCE IN BAD SHAPE

NANKING, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Finance Minister T. Y. Soong, has submitted a long memorandum to the National military reorganization and disarmament conference which showed the finances of Nationalist China to be in a critical condition.

After stating the impossibility, under existing conditions, of giving accurate and detailed statistics for the whole country, the minister estimated the revenue for the year at $457,000,000. He added that only the provinces of Chekiang, Anhwei, and Kiangsi furnished reasonably reliable figures, expenditures were estimated at $507,000,000, of which military expenses amounted to $192,000,000 as stipulated by the national finance conference last summer. Even if military expenditures are limited to this amount, there will be a deficit of $50,000,000.

Soong pointed out that this allotment for military expenditures, while equivalent to 41 per cent of the estimated gross revenue, is actually 78 per cent of the new revenue after deduction of fixed charges such as loan interests, sinking funds and similar charges. He said that any scheme for meeting the defaulted loans needs a large additional outlay.

Cold Means Nothing to Race Enthusiast!

Driving in the open, in all kinds of weather, even those who are used to it will contract colds. They needn't worry anyone who knows a certain compound that comes in plain, white tablets. It kills a cold so quickly you can hardly believe it's the tablet that did it. Just one heads off a cold that's coming on; a bad cold you've had for several days may take several.

Even "flu" gives in to Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can give you, for thirty-five cents. Everyone has suggestions when you have a cold, but this one works!

Britain Going Dry!

GREAT BRITAIN is going deliberately dry. In 1900 the consumption of spirits in England was 32,239,522 gallons; in 1913 it was 32,004,432; today it is only 10,412,921 gallons. The decline is attributed to the movies, motors and radio.

Ginger Tries to Persuade Nancy to Take a Job As a Model

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Deane, golden haired, dark eyed, has lived all her life with the O'Days in Washington, Pa.; for two years she has worked in the station lunch room to help pay the rent. There she meets John Blair who invites her to go to the circus. Nancy loses her job and learns she is really the granddaughter of the rich Montgomery Deane in Pittsburgh and that her mother, Julie Abbott, a circus performer, is coming to town and wants to see her. Nancy goes to the show with John and sees Julie droop from a trapeze; she rushes wildly to the hospital where her mother dies, telling her she loved her father. Nancy suddenly decided to go to Pittsburgh and Blair, whom she has grown to admire, gives her a letter to a college friend who runs the "Wear-Ever Mills." On the train she meets Ginger Varden, a model, who takes her to her own boarding house and invites her to share her room. Nancy is shocked at its disorder and doesn't know quite what to think of her new companion. Two friends of Ginger, Jerry Durant and Vic Flemming, take the girls to a party in the studio of a woman artist. Vic goes crazy over Nancy's blonde beauty and has a brawl with a man who he thinks is too attentive to her. In her amazement she meets Howard Wescott, the man to whom she has the letter from John. The next morning, disgusted with herself, she runs out of Ginger's room, hardly knowing where she is going. Gathering courage she applies at the mills for a job and Wescott tells her to report the next morning. She dashes madly to Ginger to tell her the good news.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"WHY the wages of livin' without workin' your head off in a sock factory, or poundin' an old typewriter all day, I know. I've tried 'em both. You don't get nowheres that way. What you want to learn, Goldie, is how to use your sex appeal. Say, five minutes of the old appeal used the right way will get you farther than five years working your head off hammering a typewriter, or sorting socks."

She said the last—sorting socks—half derisively.

"I'm not going to sort socks always," Nancy tried to say, but Ginger started talking again.

"Say, Goldie, let me do the talkin', I can see you're the kind of a girl that's got 'it' but you don't it. You know what Elinor Glyn made herself famous for—discovering 'it.' Just you listen to what Ginger has to say and then decide for yourself.

"Far be it from me to influence any little innocent like you. All's I want to do is wise you up and then you can take my advice or leave it. I'm older than you and I know. See? I was just like you about five years ago. Fresh from a little burg up north. See? It wasn't any town like Washington, with college stuff, understand. Just a little hick town. I ain't tellin' where it was. I'm through up there and them Main Street slander hounds are through sharpening their tongues on Ginger. See?"

She made a characteristic motion with her hands, dropped the corner of her mouth a bit lower and took another puff on her cigaret.

"What you want to do, kiddo, is to go modelin', like me. You got the looks and you got the figure, and with a little trainin' right here, I can get you wise to the swagger. All's you got to do is to think high hat, and pretend your blood is blue instead of red. And then you put a snap look on your face. One of those nobody home looks, and start trailin'.

"Say, Goldie, it's just a trick. Us models puts that strut on an' off just like we put on the glad rags and takes them off. And believe me, the life of a model, rotten as it may be, is a lot better than workin' in a sock factory.

"Say, with a little jollyin' and some of the soft stuff, I can do anything with old Ziegelbaum. I'll talk to him about you tomorrow when we start rehearsin' for the style show."

"Ziegelbaum? Who is Ziegelbaum?"

It was the first word Nancy could get in since Ginger had become so aroused over the futility of pounding a typewriter or sorting stockings as compared with modeling.

Ginger stopped pacing and sat down on the edge of the unmade bed.

"Ziegelbaum's the works. He's the big guy down to Ziegelbaum's, Inc., you know, 'Ziegelbaum's, Inc., Hats, Wraps, Gowns.' He's my boss, and I, Goldie Locks, am his favorite model if I do say it myself. An' if I do say it myself, here's the reason."

Ginger threw back the dressing gown from her white shoulders and stood before her powder-besmeared mirror, turning this way and that, to get the best possible view of her slim young figure. She wore the frothiest kind of lingerie, rainbow tinted.

"It's my girlish figger that holds me my job. It's just the kind of a figure Zieggie—that's what I call him sometimes, Zieggie—falls for, and the old boy sure has fell hard. That's why I'm so sure that I can get you in to do some modelin'.

"Why say, Goldie? It ain't every girl I'd bring in to run me competition that way. But gee, kiddo. There's something about you that I like. You're so darn innocent and pretty, and I just can't bear to see you workin' in a sock factory."

Nancy didn't see. All the time that Ginger was walking back and forth, smoking, talking, Nancy's spirits were sinking lower and lower. She had rushed into the house, bubbling with happiness to tell Ginger of her luck in landing the job, and she was told to keep quiet, to listen—to this.

"But Ginger," she said. "I couldn't be a model. I, why I don't know how. I've never even seen a style show. I think I'd be afraid. I don't intend to be a sock sorter, as you say, for the rest of my life. Just as soon as I can save a little money I'm going to Miss Brown's School of Business, and learn to be a secretary, or something."

"Righto, kiddo. Do just as you please, but remember the advice Ginger gave you. And if you ever change your mind just let me know."

Ginger started pulling on a dress, as though the entire matter were dismissed. Neither said anything for five minutes. Nancy couldn't. She was trying to weigh what Ginger had told her. Ginger was occupied with her makeup, involved in the complicated art of beading her long eyelashes.

Just when the silence was beginning to be "heard" there were voices and loud laughing on the stairs. Someone was coming up to the third floor. Nancy recognized the voices of Vic Fleming and Jerry Durrant.

CHAPTER IX.

"ANYONE home in the boodwar?"

Jerry Durant stuck his grinning face into Ginger's room without waiting for either of the girls to answer his knock. This was the second time he and Vic had burst right into the room. Nancy was glad they had not come a few minutes earlier when Ginger was parading up and down in her negligee, talking about her girlish figure. She decided that this sort of thing was what her new companions meant by being broad-minded.

Vic and Jerry were restless, anxious that the girls leave immediately for a spin in the country and a bite to eat before they started the night's "operations" as Jerry put it.

Nancy wondered what Jerry meant by operations. It was nearly seven and she had hoped to get to bed early to be fresh for her new job in the morning. She pleaded a headache, asked if they wouldn't excuse her.

"Please get someone else to go," she begged after the three of them had tried to persuade her. They turned a deaf ear on her pleas. They just wouldn't take no for an answer.

"We'll make you go," Vic said.

He grabbed Nancy's hand and she was helpless against his strength. Like a kitten trying to escape from a lion. She struggled until she was weak and then gave up, breathless.

"You are a little wildcat," Vic said.

He jerked her toward him and without suspecting that he had an intention, planted a moist kiss straight on her mouth. Nancy was furious. She stamped her feet and struggled to her last ounce of strength at last wresting one hand free.

And then she slapped his face so hard that her hand hurt. She probably hurt herself more than she did him.

His face reddened, then turned white. He seized her wrist again and squeezed it so hard that she screamed and began kicking his legs. He pulled her to him, pinned her hands behind her and kissed her again.

For the first time in her 18 years she had the experience of complete surrender to someone bigger, stronger than herself. Her nerves were taut, her supple little body was tense. Now came the reaction.

Vic released his hold on her and Nancy stood before him, motionless, silent, her head thrown back. She started to cry. She was ashamed. She felt as though she had done something wrong.

Vic, Ginger and Jerry, the three of them, stood watching her as though she were an actress playing a part and they the audience.

"My Lord, but she's a swell-looking kid."

Vic broke the silence. He started toward her again. But before he reached her, Nancy ran from him, threw herself on the unmade bed and buried her face in the pillows.

"You crazy egg. Now look what you've went and done!"

Importance of Acid in Blood Explained

DR. COPELAND

AS I write I am on a train going to Washington. The dining car steward just moved me a book on hygiene, written in 1865. Will it be worth while for me, with a few hours of work, to read a few pages of what, although considered up to date at the time, is obsolete now?

As a matter of fact, I was a bit surprised to observe how much was known 60 years ago. Perhaps I had better say I was reminded of what we commonly forget. We have made wonderful progress in finding out the reasons for things, but the bare facts relating to health were pretty well understood a generation ago.

The chapter on sunlight was a sensible outline of the value of sunlight and health. Our grandmothers or great grandmothers had never heard of germs, but they did know that exposing the bedding and the milk pans to the sunlight did something that was positively beneficial. "Sunlighting" things was the practice then, as it is today.

During the past several years there has been a growing conviction that the formation of acid in the system is an important factor in disease production. The blood is normally neutral or very slightly alkaline in its reaction. If anything causes it to become acid, there is trouble.

Who would think of sunlight as one of the agents to overcome or to prevent acidity? I doubt if Dr. Draper or any writer for half a century after him, ever thought of sunlight in that connection.

Here is an interesting statement which I read in a new book, just off the English press:

"That juices of fruit and vegetables (by virtue of their vitamins, probably also of their organic acids) and sunlight are the great 'balancers' against excess of acid or alkali in the body is suggested not only by modern discoveries of their effects on the organism, but also by the benefit that accrues from their use in the treatment of diseased conditions."

To understand fully the significance of this statement, you must be reminded that fruit acids do not go through the system as acids. They are changed by the chemistry of the body into alkaline substances.

These particular acids, then, and the sunlight, balance the diet and guard the system against excessive acidity. They help to make us healthy and long-lived.

I cannot do better than to quote again from the new book. Dr. Draper, who wrote the old book I mentioned, did not know just how valuable sunlight was and what it did, but he knew its importance to health. Here is what the new English book says about this:

"The sun is the vital factor for existence. It not only supplies light, heat and vital energy to the body, but is directly responsible for all our food through the agency of the green plant. Moreover, there is good reason to suppose that it becomes stored in the body; and that its radiations permeate every tissue, and in ways which are becoming more clear, encourages growth and prevents and neutralizes metabolic and other poisons, particularly that common tendency in disease, excessive acid formation."

We should not fail to make use of sunlight. We should use it to get well from disease. We should use it to keep well.

Uses for Old Stockings

Cut off old stockings at the ankle, split open and cut into squares. Herring-boned together, they are excellent for cleaning brass, copper, silver and so on. Made into oblong pads they serve as shoe polishers.

The Showman -:- By Madge Geyer

TO be a really good showman, one must learn to cry the show that it will appear to the very best advantage. Each actor must listen to the direction of the manager and carefully follow his every suggestion and command. How to walk, how to talk, how to speak a line and get the best results, when to pause for a laugh—all these things must be taught and in turn learned by rote.

And that's what makes Daniel the best showman the world has ever known. He watches each actor and actress and scolds and cajoles him or her until they are letter perfect in the role for which they have been selected. The only difference in Dan's show is that each actor is a star and plays the lead. And each show is a love tale that begins and ends with the age-old theme of "and so—they lived happily ever after."

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mixed Grill

MORE than one woman has had to marry a man in order to get him to "give her up" gracefully.

A comfortable love and a comfortable shoe are the only kind that interests a woman, after forty.

Lots of marriages are just "running along on the rim" of a punctured romance and an exhausted patience.

Girls who continue to hand out "free samples" of their kisses, can hardly expect a man to be eager to put in his order for a stock of them.

The hearty lunch that a business man eats downtown is his idea of "preparedness" for the reducing diet his wife will set before him, uptown.

A man is never interested in a heart that is marked "To Let;" he prefers to make himself miserable by trying to squeeze into one that is marked, "No Vacancies."

To have a lot of husbands is no proof of a woman's charms. Its far more difficult to hold ONE husband, these days, than to lose half a dozen.

The man who tries to drive through traffic with one arm and to make love with the other, is either too foolhardy to be trusted with a car or too skilful to be trusted with your heart.

* * *

A man may forgive a woman for being extravagant at his expense—but never for being "witty" at his expense.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Bridesmaid's Duties

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to be bridesmaid for the first time and I am a little in doubt. The bride has not explained what my duties are and I will appreciate any advice you can give me on the subject.

1. It is to be a home wedding—formal affair. If we carry flowers, what do we do with them after the ceremony?

2. Also, who usually takes the initiative in kissing the bride after the ceremony? H. McN.

THE duties of a bridesmaid are not very many—artistic ones mainly. She must look as charming as possible, and be cooperative and friendly and gracious. She must carry out, in every detail, all plans of the bride that have to do with her, especially as to every item of her costume. And she must be punctual!

1. If there is to be a reception after the ceremony the bridesmaids carry their flowers as they receive in the line with the bride and groom and their parents.

2. The bride's mother.

Don't Go Alone

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My girl friend and I had an argument this afternoon over a question of etiquette and I should like to have it settled.

The question is this: A boy whom I went out with many times in —— and who is an old friend of the family, is coming to —— for the sole purpose of visiting me. In his last letter he asked me if I would be at the train and I wrote him that I would be there. My girl friend says it is a breach of etiquette for me to go to the train to meet a boy unless were are engaged. We are not engaged but do like each other very much. I think it is correct to meet the train because he asked me to, and besides that for the reason that he has never been to —— and wouldn't know which way to turn. He is not going to stay at our house because we have no extra bedrooms, but outside of that he is to be at our house all the time, and I think it would be an affront to him not to do as he asked about meeting the train.

I am only 16 and do not know anything, or hardly anything for that matter, about etiquette, but according to my reasoning I think I am right. Am I?

B. F.

I THINK that it would be kind and hospitable for you to meet the visitor, but I do think also that it would be better form and better taste, since you are so young, to ask an older friend to accompany you. Are you sure that no member of your family could go with you? That would be ideal. But the next best thing would be to ask an older woman friend of the family to go with you.

It would not look very well for you to go and meet the train alone, and you need not take too seriously the fact that the young man has not been in —— before, since he undoubtedly can find his way in the town.

The Soup Spoon

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Where does one place the spoon after eating soup? A.

IF the soup is served in a soup plate leave the spoon on the plate. If the soup is cream soup and is served in a cream soup bowl, or is bullion and is served in a bullion cup, the spoon is left on the plate that is always served as an accompaniment of a cream soup bowl or bouillon cup.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Supplies Mary With Funds for Shopping

"WE'D better hustle back." Dicky said as he put Mary's check book and bank book in his breast pocket, "we don't want Mary to get any ideas into her head. Now you don't need to do any falsifying, direct or tacit, about this. Just leave it to me. My conscience is so weatherbeaten, a mark or two more won't matter in the least. Besides, we have no choice. We simply must know what she's up to."

My common sense agreed with him, but some deeper feeling rebelled. I knew, however, that there was no course for me but silence, and I kept to it strictly when after the return of the young girls from the soda fountain, Dicky said with a casual air:

"I telephoned to Katie just now, Kit cat and she promised to 'turn house oopside down' to find your case and keep it for you."

Marion laughed delightedly at Dicky's mimicry—from her childhood Lillian's young daughter has been a whole audience in herself for his drollery—but Mary's laughter while prompt was distinctly forced to initiated ears.

"Thank you so much, Uncle Dicky," she said. "I do hope Katie won't have a hard time finding it."

"I told her you probably dropped it in the hall," Dickey replied, "so she'll look there first. But prithee fair maid, step a pace aside with me. I would have speech with thee. 'Scuse, please, Underwood clan."

Her eyes were questioning as Dicky took her arm and drew her aside, gesturing to me to come with them. But my attention for the moment had been switched from Mary. I had seen the quick resentment flame in Marion Morton's eyes at Dicky's tacit inclusion of her in the "Underwood clan" and realized that she still was cherishing the aversion to her stepfather which was making her mother so unhappy.

"I understand," Dicky began pompously, but keeping his voice slow, "that there is a sartorial buying orgy to be staged today. Now I had a piece of luck last week and this bill is just scorching my pockets until it is spent—the most troublesome piece of mazuma I ever handled. You'll be doing me a favor if you'll take it and blow yourself to some dresses or stockings or hats or whatever you'd like most in the clothes line."

In quick flashing succession Mary's eyes mirrored startled incredulity, irrepressible joy and sober doubt of her right to accept her uncle's generous offer. She reached out her hand to take the bill, then suddenly drew it back again.

"Oh, Uncle Dicky," she gasped. "A hundred dollars to spend on clothes! I mustn't take it."

"Why not?" Dicky demanded with mock truculence. "Am I not your uncle? Has anybody a better right to hand you a century? Or are you afraid it's tainted money? I pledge you my knightly honor that I did not receive it because of my prowess in either bootlegging or gambling."

Mary laughed nervously and I saw her eyes fixed avidly on the bill, knew that already her girlish imagination was racing over the fripperies which could be bought with it. Dicky caught her hand, put the bill in her palm and folded her fingers over it.

"Let us have no more nonsense," he said authoritatively. "Put that in your purse, and be mighty careful you don't lose it. At that, I think you'd better turn it over to Mrs. Underwood as a banker. I would have handed you a roll of smaller ones but the man who cashed this check didn't have enough small bills to make up a hundred. There's only one thing I'm going to ask you. I want you to show me the things you buy. I want to be sure you spend every cent of it for your own clothes. No treating, mind—or yes—you can take a fiver out for blowing it on treats to eat, if you want to."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, January 15.

ALTHOUGH there are certain testimonies of activity in business, publishing and industry, with large corporations and old institutions, under benefits, yet there is a Martian configuration hinting of much friction, strife and inharmony. With this disintegrating force in check, there is good prospect of much gain and many benefits, especially with old-established concerns.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of gain and advancement, with benefits from corporations, elderly persons and old institutions. But a tendency to quarrel, undue aggressiveness, litigation and gambling would jeopardize these good auguries.

A child born on this day may have much qualification for success and advancement, but a tendency toward rash, impetuous and ill-governed conduct may defeat these prospects. It should be given early discipline in self-government.

Discussions, like small streams at first begun, unseen they rise, but gather as they run.—GARTH.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer — By John Held, Jr.

I'M ASLEEP ON MY FEET. GO AND TELL DAD WE WANT TO GO HOME!
HOW ABOUT ANOTHER ROUND OF VARSITY DRAG? PROFESSOR!
DAD, LEND ME TEN DOLLARS, PLEASE!
HERE'S TEN DOLLARS. MAKE THIS HOME SWEET HOME AND ACT IT OUT!

"My dear, I'm so MAD I could gargle BUTtermilk—I mean I ACtually AM, because since DADdy's been frantically exCORTing me to DANces the situation's comPLETEly out of conTROL—I mean simply doesn't make SENSE because the odd soul's conceived a mad PASH for PARties and, my dear, he simply reFUses to dePART from these snacks until ALL hours—can you COPE with it? F'r instance the other NIGHT, my dear, I HONestly thought I'd ROLL over and BUTter myself with IRE because I and Arab and BULL were simply deFUNCT on our FEET about two-THIRty or something and simply WILD to go HOME, but DADdy kept MADly pleading with this CROSS-eyed-looking benny who was leading the ORchestra to play just ONE more ROUND of the 'VARsity' because, my dear, he was rePORTing PROgress with this POIsonous little BLOND chit he'd been rushing FRANtically all EVE'ning—can you BEAR it? ACtually, my dear, I was SIMply LIVid because I mean I was SIMply exHAUSted at that point and I give you my WORD the ONly way I FInally managed to reMOVE Daddy was by BORrowing ten DOLlars from him and BRIbing this foul ORchestra leader person to play 'HOME Sweet HOME'—can you BEAR it? HONestly, my dear, I thought that was a pretty cagey GESture of mine, but WAIT till you hear what happened AFterwards, my dear!"

RADIO MAY RUN AIR LINES

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Frederick Schnell, of Madison, Wis., radio engineer and designer and builder of the radio equipment in use with the Byrd Antarctic expedition, has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend a conference January 16, of the National Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce to discuss radio requirements for all air transport operating companies.

Schnell, speaking before the Society of Radio Engineers here, predicted the use of radio in dispatching and regulating the movement of planes in flight on a scale rivalling the elaborate system now in use by European air transport companies.

Schnell was accompanied by Paul Goldsborough, of Minneapolis, vice president of the Universal Aviation Corporation, who announced that contracts had been let to equip their planes operating between Chicago, the Twin Cities, Cleveland, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaho with radio.

Cash "Condolence" Follows Execution

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Gov. Chang Houeh-Liang has offered $5,000 as "condolence money" to the family of Yang Yu-Ting, former chief of staff, who, with former Minister of Communications Chang Yin-Huai, was executed Friday. The Manchurian leader also offered to pay the funeral expenses which, as with any prominent Chinese, will be heavy.

DRY LAW'S ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.)—(AP.)—The ninth anniversary of the adoption of the prohibition amendment was celebrated yesterday in the national capital at two mass meetings.

While at the gatherings the dry law was lauded by former Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, and F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, the nine years of prohibition, however, was declared in a statement by Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, to have produced "deplorable conditions" in the country.

Speaking before a meeting of the National United Committee for Law Enforcement, Mr. Pinchot declared that the laws and funds for prohibition enforcement were ample. He said that it was up to the President to bring about enforcement, asserting that the nation's chief executive alone was "strong enough to break the alliance bteween corrupt politics and the organized business of bootlegging."

Congress was urged by Mr. McBride to approve the $25,000,000 increase for prohibition enforcement, proposed by Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, in his speech prepared for delivery before a meeting at the Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church. The Anti-Saloon League head declared that "prohibition at its worst is better than the old liquor traffic at its best and that the people are for prohibition." He added that greater educational work on the benefits of prohibition are needed, together with "militancy with co-operation at Washington throughout the country."

An accurate inventory of the nine years of prohibition, according to the statement of Mr. Curran, showed it had brought about "a complete equipment of bootleggers, hijackers, racketeers, gunmen and even the lonely, but useful kibitzers.'

"We are also blessed with speakeasies," he declared, "hooch on the hip, bubbling vats and steaming stills in the kitchens of the land, a bumper crop of drinking drys and an interesting transformation of the churches of religion of yesterday into the town halls of tyrrany of today." Such conditions could be found nowhere else in the world, he added, unless in Finland, which also has prohibition.

Former Governor Pinchot proposed a series of conferences between the President and federal government officials and governors of the states to secure co-operation in the law's enforcement.

WELL-TO-DO WIDOW LIVING AS RECLUSE FOUND DEAD

Having lived a recluse although reputed to be a woman of wealth, Mrs. Mary E. Labagh, 88, widow, was found dead on the floor of her modest three room apartment at 515 Kendall street yesterday. John Hircho, 10, of 534 Kendall street, who ran errands for the aged woman, discovered the body and notified neighbors.

The cause of her death was not determined, but it is believed that she succumbed to natural causes. Deputy Coroners, Stanley Guzenski and John McQuaide said the woman had lived a recluse since the death of her husband more than a score of years ago.

The deputies were informed that Mrs. Labagh owned a row of dwellings in Kendall street, and denied relatives and friends admittance to her home. A collections of antiques and other old furnishings were found in her home. The body was taken to a Butler stret undertaking establishment.

Murray in Capital On Coal Legislation

Philip Murray, of Pittsburgh, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, is in Washington today attending the hearings of the Interstate Commerce Committee on proposed coal legislation. He left Pittsburgh last night after saying that he would work in the interests of a bill approved by the miners' union and presented to Congress last session. The bill provides for regulation of the industry, co-operative marketing agencies and other means of preventing labor trouble.

BAR TO HONOR 3 JUDGES

Judge J. J. Miller, T. P. Trimble and H. W. Mitchell, of Orphans' Court will be honored at a testimonial dinner to be given by the Allegheny County Bar Association in the University Club January 31. President Joseph Stadtfeld, of the bar association, and an executive committee are completing plans for the affair.

The occasion for the banquet is the completion of the new rules of practice for the Orphans' Court by Judge Trimble and a committee of attorneys. Attorneys Frank C. Osburn, William F. Knox, John E. Winner, Hiram Schock, Robbin B. Wolf, Eugene B. Strassburger and William F. Berger, who served on the committee with Judge Trimble, also will be honor guests.

Read this before you buy any Cough medicine

{Take 2½ minutes to learn these important facts}

"Will it relieve my cough quickly?"	REM will, or you can have your money back. The fact that not one customer in a thousand ever wanted it back tells the story.
"Is it harmless?"	REM is,-there's positively nothing in it to hurt you.
"Is it an experiment?"	REM is no experiment. 43 years of pharmaceutical experience are back of it.
"Does it soothe the irritation and soreness?"	That's one of the most noticeable qualities of REM. It clings to the throat, starting relief quickly. Right away you'll notice a soothing, cooling effect.
"Does it 'cut the phlegm'?"	REM does. It clears the air-passages and thus makes it easier to breathe during the day and sleep soundly at night.
"Does it taste bad?"	Not REM! It's easy to take. Even children seldom have to be coaxed to take it.
"Is it economical?"	REM is. Simple coughs usually yield to a single bottle. Remedies that don't help are expensive at any price.
"Does it claim more than it can do?"	REM is no "cure-all". We frankly tell you it's no good for anything but a cough,--but how remarkably good it is for that!
"Are all cough medicines pretty much alike?"	Indeed they aren't! No other cough medicine on the market has the same formula as REM, and "it's the formula that counts!"

NOW you know why . . .

"it's REM FOR COUGHS"

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE man who meets the visitors in the office of District Attorney Samuel Gardner is William C. Collins, a veteran county employe and a former policeman. Mr. Collins is of the old-fashioned police school and boasts that he never carried a gun. Better than that boast, however, is the fact that visitors are treated courteously. If your man isn't in, Mr. Collins tries to find him for you.

A youthful policeman in that office the other day got generalizing and fresh, perhaps, from an encounter with a reporter, he said he thought that prohibition enforcement officers and newspapermen were at the bottom of any class. Metaphorically, the column's newspaper badge was flashed, and the officer admitted that he had generalized too much. The conference broke up with the sensible attitude that there are good and bad policemen, good and bad newspapermen, that generalities usually are bad. Counsel for the prohibition men was not present.

DAVE DAVIES, a former sporting editor of the town, and later a columnist, who now has turned to the printing business, reminisced the other day, and said that at one time his column, through a club he organized, had 12,000 names on it. That was not a bad achievement.

In lower Liberty avenue there is an establishment that furnishes all sorts of properties for persons interested in amateur theatricals, pageants and parades. In the window, among other things, is a plug hat that can be crushed, then righted with a spring. There are false faces, coats of armour and gargantuan heads, representing various kinds of animals. Such a display seldom fails to attract the passer-by, and is as popular as the windows of the bakeries in the Market street section, which attract many men and women who gaze long at pies, buns and wedding cakes.

ONE of the most ornate buildings in town is the one at Sixth avenue and Wood street. It is a building of stone and many arches. It is the sort of building that would be more at home in London—judging from the pictures of London that come over here.

The movies didn't "go organ" until a church organist walked the streets of New York and invaded many movie offices to convince the picture place owners that organ music would fit well with the fade-out of the hero and the heroine walking arm-in-arm down the country lane. Once tried, it developed into the success it is now, with all of the big theaters going in for organ music.

IN PITTSBURGH the development was gradual. There was first a lone piano player—usually a girl. She was an easy-going musician. She managed to talk to customers in the first row as she played bits of the "Poet and Peasant" during a storm scene in the picture, and wound up with "Hearts and Flowers," as the old man put his erring daughter out into the snow. Then came small orchestras, two and three pieces, later the symphonies and the organs. Old customers in the Lyric still remember the lone piano player and although it's many years ago the name Rose Rodgers sticks in mind as the name of the Lyric orchestra in those days.

In the neighborhood houses a piano was almost excess baggage, for seldom could it be heard above the din of laughter when John Bunny and Flora Finch were going big; when Chaplin, and many others were tossing pies. It was in those days when all of us saw much of the Paris police everlastingly chasing the comedian.

* * *

A FEW years from now someone will be writing in this vein about the first days of the talkies.

Members Gone, Old Herron Hill Church Passes With Sunday Sermon

HERRON HILL U. P. CHURCH CLOSES

The last service was held in Herron Hill United Presbyterian Church, Webster and Herron avenues, yesterday when the Rev. Dr. R. J. Miller, editor "The United Presbyterian," preached the farewell sermon. The congregation was dissolved last week and the property sold to St. Luke's Baptist Church. The building of late has been a landmark.

MRS. FANNIE SELLARS

Mrs. Fannie Sellars, 3484 Webster avenue, is the only remaining charter member of the 40-year-old congregation.

AUDREY EUGENE EARL

These great-grandchildren of Mrs. Sellars and children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams, 2805 Webster avenue, will now attend another Sunday school. As their mother and grandmother, they were baptized in the closed church.

2 TRY TO FIRE BARBER SHOP; ONE SHOT

What police believe was an attempt to fire a Wilmerding barber shop was blocked early yesterday when two Wilmerding patrolmen surprised two men spreading gasoline in the place operated by Eugene Burdell, 122 Munroeville street.

After an exchange of shots, James Marciano, 28, of 111 Middle avenue, Wilmerding, was arrested and lodged in the county jail on a district attorney's commitment.

According to a report of County Fire Marshal Thomas Pfarr, Patrolman Daniel Muir, while making his rounds, saw two men pouring gasoline out of three five-gallon cans in the interior of the shop. Summoning another officer, Muir watched the movements of the men through a window of the shop. Muir says the men saw his shadow on a wall of the room, became frightened and fled. Shots followed, and Muir succeeded in collaring Marciano.

At the Wilmerding police station Marciano said he was accosted by a man known as "Bill," Saturday night, and $200 was offered him to help fire the shop. Charges of arson and entering a building will be lodged against Marciano today, Pfarr said.

PARK OFFERED TO BEN AVON BOROUGH

Ben Avon will have a 12-acre park, if the borough council at its meeting tonight accepts the proffer by Thomas G. Hogdon, a resident.

Mr. Hogdon has offered to deed a portion of the tract known as the old Dr. Hanna farm bounded by Church avenue, the Emsworth borough line, Horne's camp and the Wilson and Crawford farms. No conditions are attached to the gift.

The tract of woodland is known locally as "Vinegar Hollow." It abounds in native birds, springs, and, in the summer, wild flowers. The district was often alluded to by the Country Rambler columnist of the old Pittsburgh Sun.

The suggestion has been made by the Ben Avon Forum, that a small stream running through the tract be damned to provide a fish and wading pool in summer and a skating pond in winter.

BRIDGE PLAYING MOTHERS TOLD DUTIES BY PASTOR

Bridge playing mothers were rapped, a mother's duty to her children was outlined, and the importance of being a mother was stressed yesterday morning by the Rev. Grover E. Swoyer in his sermon, "The Ideal Mother," in the Mt. Zion Evangelical Church, Perrysville avenue, North Side.

His sermon follows in part:

"Merely to bring children into the world is not the end of motherhood. It is also to train those children in character, citizenship and service. Such virtues are not built on cigarets, permanent seats in movie houses and story magazines. There is no club, no lodge, no bridge circle and no religious fanaticism which can justify a mother neglecting her children."

"An ideal mother teaches her daughter the truths of the physical body. Why not? They will learn these truths from lewd sources if not from you. Better less prudery now than a daughter because of ignorance disgraced in the years ahead."

"An ideal mother is no fool of fashion. Because a leading store window screams 'Put it on' or 'Leave it off' is enough for some mothers to have their daughters look like Eve in Eden. Ideal mothers put decency ahead of dressmakers and fashion designers."

In his sermon, "Condemned by His Own Conscience," the second of a series, "Ancient Pictures in Modern Frames," the Rev. Fred F. Shields, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist Church, compared the modern day sinner to the character of David.

He said in part:

"ANCIENT PICTURES"

"Your sin may be hidden from the officers of the law; it may be hidden from the eye of every man and every woman on earth, but it will speak to your conscience some day. It spoke to David through the prophet Nathan. That sin you are contemplating tonight looks fair and sweet. It will not look so fair nor taste so sweet after it is committed."

"Let us beware of our unguarded hours. Moments of leisure are more to be dreaded than moments of unguarded toil. Middle life has no immunity from temptations which imperil the young. One false step taken in the declension of spiritual vigor may ruin a reputation built up by years of religious exercise."

Used for Target, Wife Granted Divorce

Martha E. Bolger, 50, but who does not look it and lives at 1932 Chislett street, has been granted a divorce from Charles P. Bolger, former manager of the City Hotel, 422 Diamond street.

Mrs. Bolger, who is decidedly attractive, with big eyes, told her troubles the other day to Judge Harry H. Rowand, one of her complaints being that her husband, while under the influence of liquor had hurled a cuspidor at her, as herself and a niece were going down the steps of the hotel. She also claimed that her husband otherwise mistreated her. The couple were married in 1911 and separated last year.

BASEMENT FIRE ROUTS 35 ON NORTH SIDE

Thirty-five persons residing in a three-story double brick house at 206-208 Anderson street, North Side, were assisted to the street by firemen early yesterday when smoke from a fire in the basement filled halls and rooms of the building. The fire caused damage estimated at $500, District Chief Michael Shanahan said.

Heavy smoke from burning rags and rubbish sent the occupants from the building choking and gasping for air. Firemen fought for two hours to enter the basement through the heavy smudge and extinguish the blaze.

Breaks Leg in Fall

Mrs. George F. Graham, Pennsdale street, Carrick, suffered a fractured leg when she slipped and fell down stairs at her home. She is in Mercy Hospital.

CHURCH QUITS AFTER 40 YRS. SERVICE

After 40 years of ministering to the spiritual needs of residents in the Herron Hill section, the Herron Hill United Presbyterian Church, Webster and Herron avenues, closed its doors yesterday.

Removal of the majority of church members to other sections of the city last week prompted the congregation to dissolve and affiliate themselves with the Beverley Heights United Presbyterian Church. The church property has been sold to St. Luke's Baptist Church.

FAREWELL SERMON

The Rev. Dr. R. J. Miller, editor of the United Presbyterian, preached the farewell sermon. Many former members attended the service and worshipped for the last time in the familiar pews.

In one pew sat Mrs. Fannie Sellers, 69, 3484 Webster avenue, the only remaining charter member. She joined the church when it was organized, 40 years ago. Since that time, various former pastors have baptized her son and daughter, three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. They are all living and hold membership in the church.

ORGANIZED IN 1889

The Herron Hill congregation was organized in 1889 with 27 charter members. It was then known as the Thirty-third Street Church. The Rev. J. McD. Hervey was its first regular pastor. In 1910 the congregation moved to its present building and changed its name to Herron Hill United Presbyterian Church. During the 40 years of its history, more than 1,000 members were received. The Rev. Dr. C. M. Ritchie was the last regular pastor.

KILLED BY AUTO, $15,000 ASKED

Suit has been filed by the Potter Title and Trust Company on behalf of the estate of W. H. Dickinson, against J. L. Messmore for $15,000 damages for injuries sustained by Dickinson, when he was run down on the Liberty Bridge November 5 by the defendant's car, dying December 1.

It is averred that the wife of Messmore was driving the car at the time of the accident. It is claimed in the bill of complaint filed in Common Pleas Court that the accident was the result of negligence and that proper warning was not given when Dickinson, who lived in Maple Terrace, Mt. Oliver, was crossing the bridge from one side to the other.

HOLY NAMERS HOLD RALLY

A rally of Holy Name Societies of Catholic churches in the Sharpsburg district was held last night in Sharpsburg High School. Addresses were made by the Rev. James Delaney, diocesan spiritual director; John B. Collins and William A. Ryan. Churches participating were St. Mary's, Pine Creek; St. Ursula, Allison Park; All Saints, Etna; St. Mary's, St. Joseph's Madonna of Jerusalem and St. John of Cantius, all of Sharpsburg, and St. Scholastica's, of Aspinwall. Very Rev. T. W. Rosensteel, dean of the district, and the Rev. Albert Mihm, district director, were among those active in arranging the rally.

Islam Grotto Auto Club Holds Election

The annual election of officers of Islam Grotto Auto Club will be held tonight at a meeting in the Islam Grotto headquarters, 13 West North avenue, North Side. Councilman Harry Little, monarch, will preside. There will be a program of entertainment.

Dr. James L. Gilmore Is Convalescent

Dr. James L. Gilmore, widely-known obstretrician at the Allegheny General Hospital, who was suddenly stricken with pneumonia, is reported to be recovering at his home at 1331 Inverness street, Squirrel Hill.

Brother physicians who attended him feared for his life for a time, but, according to Dr. G. Walter Zulauf, superintendent of the hospital, he has passed the danger point. The physicians attending Dr. Gilmore are Drs. J. P. McKelvey, W. T. Mitchell, Jr., and Howard Schleiter. He has been chief obstetrician at the Allegheny Hospital since 1923.

Emsworth Church Council to Meet

A meeting of the church council of Emsworth Presbyterian Church, has been called for tomorrow night. Mrs. A. N. Newell will preside.

Window Shattered, Thieves Get Jewelry

Shattering the window with a hammer, robbers snatched a number of articles of jewelry from the Samuel Wolfe store, 6259 Franks-town avenue, and escaped. Among the articles taken were watches, cigar lighters and rings.

Evan Roy just Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.

I see where we sent a delegation up to Canada to ask them if they wouldn't prohibit liquor from being sent out of their country, but our committee is coming back empty-handed with the exception of just what little they can carry.

Canada told them, "If it is against your law to bring it in and then you can't stop it from coming in, how are we going to keep it from going out when it's not even against our law?"

We will have to get into the League of Nations after awhile, just to get other nations to help us take care of our own business.

FOUR HELD U P, HILL STORE ROBBED

Three men were held up, a grocery store was entered and a woman was robbed of her purse in the Hill district, according to police who answered calls late Saturday and early Sunday.

Two armed and masked Negroes held up William Groves, 2015 Wylie avenue, at Pastore and Logan streets, and robbed him of $2.80. An hour later the same pair held up S. M. Murphy, 402 Grove street, and took $2 and a watch.

Ben Bronse, Harding, Pa., was attacked and robbed of $15 and a bundle of clothing by three men at Reed and Roberts streets. A Negro purse snatcher robbed Mrs. Elizabeth O'Leary, 2211 Mahon street, of hre purse containing $1.50, near her home.

Groceries valued at $150 were stolen from the store of Maurice Speck, 600 Herron avenue. The rear door was forced.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14—Several charitable bequests are made in the will of Robert S. Winters, active vice president and chairman of the board of the First Bank and Trust Company, who died recently. After bequests to relatives, he asks that his estate, estimated at $68,000, bedivided into seven parts, one part to go to each of the following: Y. M. C. A., of Washington; Y. W. C. A., of Washington; Citizens' Free Library, of Washington and Jefferson College, and Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, and two shares to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Franklin Man Quits Reserve Army Post

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 14—Merle A. Sousae, second lieutenant of Company L, One Hundred and Twelfth Infantry, has resigned, his commanding officer, Capt. E. N. De Woody reported. Press of business interests was ascribed as the reason. The vacancy will be filled by promotion from the none-commissioned ranks.

Flu Epidemic Wanes At Franklin, Report

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 14.—Thirty-eight new cases of flu were reported during the last 24 hours, health authorities say. This total is in line with the reports of the last three days, which have ranged from 32 to 40, and which indicate, it is believed, that the present epidemic has passed its peak. A semi-blizzard raged here since Saturday night, sending the mercury down to temperatures of 4 to 8 above zero all day Sunday.

Woman Who Broke Saloon Window Held

JERSEY CITY, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Mrs. Lulu Hunter, who was said to have thrown a monkey wrench through a saloon window here and then to have shouted to the police platoon marching from the station house across the street: "Raid that saloon," was held for the grand jury in bail of $1,000.

FAMOUS GUN FIGHTER OF FRONTIER DAYS DEAD

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The West lost another of its few remaining frontier gun fighters with the death here yesterday of Wyatt Earp, once a peace officer at Dodge City, Kans., and Tombstone, Ariz. Earp's colorful career led him through a dozen fatal conflicts with "bad men" of the old West. He was 78.

Earp and three brothers, Virgil, Morgan and Jim, together with Doc Holliday, were principal figures in the stormy days of Cochise county, Ariz., where Tombstone is located. Their conflict with the Clanton gang of cowboys, shortly after which Morgan Earp was killed from ambush and during which two famous gunmen died, was followed by an investigation.

The Earps, led by Wyatt, then a deputy United States marshal, were exonerated on the ground that they had acted as peace officers.

Wyatt Earp gained renown when he was chosen as referee of the Tom Sharkey-Bob Fitzsimmons fight in San Francisco. Earp wore a six-shooter in the ring, and no protest was heard after his decision in favor of Sharkey was given.

25 Hurt in Strike Riot.

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Twenty-five men were injured when strikers came to blows with loyal workers at oil works here. Stones and sticks were used freely. Shops were greatly damaged and jewelry stores were looted.

Ex-Alderman Dies In New Castle Home

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 14.—Cassius W. Ranney, 67, former alderman of the Fourth Ward, died yesterday in his home after an attack of acute indigestion. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, the Masonic fraternity and the Knights of Pythias. He is survived by his wife and one son, Frank, of this city.

Federal Reserve Bank Men Elected

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Eugene R. Black was re-elected governor of the Sixth district, Federal Reserve Bank, at a meeting of the directors. Hugh Foster and Creed Taylor were re-elected deputy governors and Milton W. Bell, cashier. Oscar Newton was reappointed Federal reserve agent and designated as chairman of the board of directors.

"VOODOO MAN" ARRESTED IN CLEVELAND WITCH WAR

CLEVELAND, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Sylvester Williams, 45, found fasting in his rooms surrounded with instruments police declared were used in the practice of "Black Magic," was charged with illegal practice of medicine today as authorities set out to rid Cleveland of "voodooism."

Police said they expected a long list of arrests before a cult practicing here, believed to have slain a man whose headless body was found in a closet some time ago, is completely broken up.

Williams, emaciated from a long fast, was preparing to go into a trance when the raiding party entered, they said.

Sentenced to Life, Reads Comic Pages

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Awaiting sentence for murder after pleading guilty in Criminal Court, Leroy Moss, 26, Negro, read a newspaper. When Judge James A. Collins sentenced him to life imprisonment at the Indiana State prison, Moss said "all right" in an unconcerned manner and turned to the comic page. Moss, a professional juggler, pleaded guilty to killing Joseph Saunders, a fellow juggler, following an argument over wages several months ago.

Hotel Man's Slayer Scheduled for Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Trial of Walter L. Liggett, grain dealer, for the murder of Turney Cunningham, manager of the Andrew Jackson Hotel, who was shot down in the back yard of his home the night of October 29 by Liggett, was scheduled to open today. Liggett, who Cunningham's widow charged, "made my life miserable for two years," had been visiting the Cunningham home when he was seen in the back yard by the husband and a detective in his employ. The shooting followed.

Buenos Aires Third City of Hemisphere

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The population of this city on October 1, 1928, is given as 2,056,089 in the latest municipal bulletin just issued. This figure shows an increase of 480,275 over 1914.

The estimate population of Philadelphia in 1927 was 2,035,900. Only Chicago and New York in America had populations larger than the capital of Argentina. Buenos Aires generally is known as the sixth largest city in the world.

SUSTAINED DRIVE URGED FOR DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Continuous national activity by the Democratic party, carried on through the periods between presidential campaigns, was described as the urgent need of the party in answers by Democratic leaders of the nation to queries sent them by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the termination of the last campaign.

The Governor last night made public an initial survey of several thousand letters received from state party leaders of the country.

The absence of national activity in the years between presidential campaigns has been a decided handicap to state organizations, the leaders told the Governor.

Mr. Roosevelt said that no single election of the country's Democracy should arrive at a conclusion on a national issue without knowing of the attitude of other sections of the country and that he hoped that the necessary contact would be established through placing the national organization on "a thoroughly efficient and business like basis."

The $1,500,000 deficit of the national organization resulting from the last campaign is not worrying the party, the Governor said.

England's Oldest Doctor Dies at 99

LONDON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Sir David Maurice Serjeant, believed to be England's oldest physician, died yesterday at 99. He was a poet as well, and was knighted when he was 91 for his patriotic verse.

On leaving Cambridge University without funds, he tried the Australian gold diggings, but only contracted fever in the cluster of huts which then stood for Melbourne. After working as painter, paper hanger and gardener, he returned to England and resumed his medical studies.

Amen Minstrels Perform Sunday

A midnight minstrel show will be given next Sunday night in the Davis Theater by the Amen Corner and the Variety Club of Pittsburgh. Members of both organizations will be seen in the chorus of 60 voices that will serve as the background for the minstrel. Professional entertainers from both groups will take part in vaudeville specialties. The tickets will be placed on sale this week. All seats are reserved.

$27,113,777 State Auto Fees for '28

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania collected $27,113,777.10 in motor vehicle and operator license fees in 1928, the Department of Highways announced. The gross revenue was $27,209,822.04, but deductions for returned checks, protest fees on returned checks and refunds lopped $96,044.94 from the total which poured into the treasury during the year.

Quick relief for COLDS since 1889

An amazing fact about epidemics

In small towns and large; when colds, grip, and influenza reach epidemic proportions; when the schools are closing; when people are painstakingly avoiding crowded gatherings—practically every druggist's stock of GROVE'S BROMO QUININE is cleaned out. The insistent demand for GROVE'S reaches such volume that drug stores telegraph for express and air-mail shipments from our manufacturing laboratories.

What a pity that many people need so drastic a warning as an epidemic to make them take care of their colds promptly and vigorously! How much saner and safer, to take GROVE'S BROMO QUININE whenever the onset of any cold is felt, in epidemic time or not.

Mildly laxative, the tiny tablets clean the digestive tract and rid the system of accumulated poisons. The tonic benefits build up the body's defenses. Thus the cold is frequently nipped while it merely threatens. Or it is thrown off quickly.... There are two precautions: First, immediate treatment. Second, the right treatment. That is why it is important to emphasize GROVE'S, when asking for GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Price 30c.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A CHIC SCHOOL FROCK

Frocks as simple as this one are not dicicult to make, and are very comfortable and becoming to growing girls. Plaid woolen in brown and tan tones was used in this instance. The style is also pleasing in wool jersey, crepe, or cotton or challie prints. The back of the dress extends over the shoulders in yoke effect, above groups of small tucks, which create attractive and decorative fulness. Convenient pockets are finished at crosswise slashes, and a neat cuff finishes the sleeve below its gathered fulness. The belt of material may be replaced with one of leather. This style in blue flannel is pleasing with collar and cuffs of beige crepe and a belt of blue or beige leather.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make the dress for a 10-year size will require 1⅝ yards of material 54 inches wide, together with ¼ yard of contrasting material for facing on collar, cuffs and belt.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Majority of Week's Social Events Associated With Marshall Wedding

NO matter how many disagreeable things folks say about our Pittsburgh climate, there's one attractive feature about it—it's never monotonous. One day we feel stirred by a hint of spring in the air; the next, we are chilled and hurried on our way by boisterous winds. And then comes a morning like yesterday when we wake up to find Christmas weather is here even though it's three weeks late. No matter how much we dislike the cold, we can't resist the skyrocketing of the mercury of our souls, our hearts, or whatever it is, at soft piles of newly-fallen snow. And no one with a scrap of artistic appreciation could escape a thrill or pleasure at the beauty of the landscape.

This snowfall, not to mention sub-zero weather, will add a tang to the last social events of the declining season. And then those folks who'll be leaving us soon will carry away a memory of delicate traceries of trees and hedges against masses of snow played on by the rays of the sun.

NEARLY all the social events of this week will be associated with the wedding of Anne Louise Marshall, daughter of the Lee Holmes Marshalls, of Dunmoyle street, and Wallace Huntte Rowe, Jr., son of Mrs. Wallace Huntte Rowe, of Morewood avenue, to take place, as I've mentioned before, on Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the Third Presbyterian Church.

Just about every day this week will bring an entertainment for the bridal party. And of course many of the parties will be given by the young women and the men who'll be bridesmaids and ushers.

The wedding breakfast, though, will be given by members of Mr. Rowe's family. The Robert Broddy Duggans, of Toronto, will be the hosts at this event to be given in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. In case you've forgotten family relationships, I might mention that Mrs. Duggan is the former Sarah Margaret Rowe, sister of the bridegroom-elect.

JUST before travelers depart many of them will be entertained. Mrs. Chester M. Van Kleeck, of Sewickley, will give a bridge-luncheon in the Allegheny Country Club, tomorrow, I hear, for Miss Henrietta McGeary and Miss Isabella Baldwin, who'll leave the latter part of the week for New York. From there they'll sail for a West Indian cruise.

THE New York season will end this month in a grand fanfare. Among the brilliant events planned for the last days of the Gotham season in the Christodora ball to be given Saturday at the Ritz-Carlton. Among the debutantes who will serve on the ball committee, headed by Patty Rockefeller, is Cornelia Prime, with whom Mollie Cullum, daughter of the James Barlow Cullums, of Sewickley, made her debut. And I daresay Mollie will be at the ball, for the two buds are seen everywhere together.

A small affair of Saturday afternoon was a luncheon which Mrs. W. Henry A. Hilliard gave in her South Homewood avenue home. Her guests, about 12 of them, were fellow-students of Mrs. Hilliard when she attended the Pennsylvania College for Women, and an interesting feature of the afternoon was the showing of motion pictures taken at the school a number of years ago.

THE marriage of Miss Margherita Louise DeSimone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. DeSimone, of Shetland avenue, and David John Camilli, son of Mrs. Elisa Camilli, will be solemnized Wednesday, January 23, at 10 o'clock in the Holy of Christians' Church. Miss Marie DeSimone will be her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids will include another sister, Miss Regina DeSimone; Miss Josephine Rini, of Cleveland; Miss Delphine Bisi and Miss Rosemary Vecchiola. Charles Magnani will be best man and the ushers will include Anthony J. DeSimone, Jr., Frank Gregg, Lucian Gregg, Lucian Fugassi, Frank A. DeSimone, Jr., and Michael E. Catanzaro.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE A. BLACKMORE, of Northumberland avenue, have announced the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Thelma Phynetta Blackmore, and John Robert Neff, which was solemnized in the Blackmore home by the Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Miss Helen Blackmore was her sister's maid of honor. A dinner in the Longue Vue Country Club followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mr. Neff are spending their honeymoon in Atlantic City and afterward be at home in Elmhurst avenue, Elmhurst, Long Island.

MR. AND MRS. C. J. MEYER, of Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg, have made known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine Meyer, to John Huffstutter, of Wilkinsburg and Galt, Mo. A spring wedding is planned.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM R. PARSHALL, of Alabama avenue, Dormont, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Nelle Parshall, and Edward Walter Wentworth, of Edgewood, which was solemnized January 5. Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth will make their home in Dormont.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss May Taylor, of Avalon, and John O. Mayer, of Pontiac, Mich., which was solemnized last Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in the Church of the Assumption, Bellevue, by the Rev. I. J. McGovern. Mrs. J. C. Jacobs was her sister's matron of honor and her brother, Earl V. Taylor, was best man. A breakfast for 30 guests in the Shannopin Country Club followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer are at home in Pontiac.

"Human Equation" College Club Topic

IN its splendidly diverse programs, the College Club during a season touches upon almost every phase of life. At this week's meeting (Friday afternoon) "The Human Equation in Business" will be brought before the members by James H. Greene, director of the research bureau for retail training at the University of Pittsburgh. Hostesses appointed for the tea hour include Mrs. Walter E. Rittman, Mrs. William R. Work, Mrs. Roy H. Brownlee, Mrs. Newell G. Alford and Mrs. Charles R. Fettke. The only reading class scheduled for the week is that of the poetry group which, under Dr. Greene's direction, will discuss modern poetry at 1:45 Friday afternoon.

"MOTHER INDIA," Katherine Mayo's widely discussed book, will be reviewed by Mrs. E. H. McClelland at the forum supper hour at Central Branch Y. W. C. A. tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. Mrs. McClelland, who is a member of the committee on education at Central Branch, has a wide knowledge of books and people and through her many years of experience as a librarian and speaker, is well known to Pittsburgh women and girls.

The Rev. Dr. John Ray Evers will give the second of his talks on "Some Great Christian Teachings" at the Y. W. C. A. Noonday Bible Class on Friday in the Downtown Y. M. C. A., Third avenue and Wood street.

"THE PHILOSOPHY OF APPLESAUCE," was the title of an entertaining talk given by Mrs. Charles Elmers, of the Sarah Heinz Settlement House, before the Girls' Auxiliary to the Ingram Woman's Club on Saturday afternoon. The meeting was held in the home of Miss Ruth Hamilton, Evans avenue.

ANNUAL election of officers will take place tomorrow at the meeting of the Woman's Club of the City of Pittsburgh. Current events will be discussed. The card party announced by Mrs. S. J. Corbett for January 22 has been postponed until further notice.

SYUD HOSSAIN, editor of the "New Orient" America's latest magazine of eastern affairs, will address the Friday Morning Club of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters at 10:30 o'clock Friday in Carnegie Music Hall. Syud Hossain, as his first name indicates, is a lineal descendant of Mohammed. He is a journalist with years of editorial experience on two continents. In 1920 he was one of three special delegates to present the Indian case at the Near Eastern Peace Settlement, and in 1921 attended the Washington Conference for Limitation of Armaments as press representative for India.

LUELLA RINEHART MARSHALL

Miss Luella Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Jones Marshall, Forbes street, has chosen January 24 as the date for her marriage to George Chalfant Kennedy, Schenley Apartments.

LINDY'S MOTHER LEAVES TURKEY TO GO TO EGYPT

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, left Constantinople as unobtrusively as she arrived last September.

She abruptly changed her plans to remain here until January 19, and departed for Cairo, Egypt, avoiding newspapermen and calling for demonstrations by students at the American College where she has endeared herself.

Miss Kathryn Adams, president of the college, told the Associated Press that Mrs. Lindbergh had, from the beginning, intended to remain only a half school year as visiting professor in chemistry, and that her departure at the close of the school's first semester therefore was expected. She said the college deeply appreciated her work.

The American University at Beirut, Syria, has invited her to visit it after her stay at Cairo, and before she returns to America.

Turks generally, among whom Mrs. Lindbergh made many friends, seemed appreciative of her interest in their country's evolution, and of her efforts to learn the Turkish language and make herself a part of Turkish life during her short stay here.

Stricter Marriage Laws Urged in W. Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 14.—Stricter marriage laws are being urged by the Rev. Dr. W. E. Lowther, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church here. Dr. Lowther suggests newspaper publication of marriage bans seven days in advance of weddings, physical examination of the principals and provisions making it difficult for those married in states where marriage laws are not so strict to return to this state and reside.

Minister Injured In Fall Succumbs

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 14.—A fall through a trap door at his home in Needmore, Pa., January 5, caused the death of the Rev. Harry G. Meyer, 62, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Needmore. Mr. Meyer died Saturday in the hospital here. He was born in Bloomsburg, Pa., and had been connected with Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 18 years. He leaves his mother, his wife, three daughters, three sisters and a brother.

METAL TRADES ASK TARIFF PROTECTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Deferring presentation of proposed changes in rates until a later date, the iron and steel industry today asked the House Ways and Means Committee to provide adequate protection for the industry in the new tariff law under consideration.

"Without adequate protection," said a brief submitted on behalf of the industry by John A. Topping, vice president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, "stabilization of this industry is impossible, and without stabilization, the maintenance of existing wage scales is impossible. These wage rates, according to the national industrial conference board, are about 12 per cent higher than the average hourly rate of all other industries covered by the report, and 50 per cent higher than the average of most of the industries included."

RATES AND COSTS

Freight rates and labor costs were cited as reasons for the necessity of readjustment on iron and steel. Topping said a complete schedule of new rates would be submitted later, based as far as practicable upon specific rates of duty.

Where ad valorem rates are necessary the industry, the brief said, would recommend that such levies be made to apply upon domestic wholesale prices at port of entry.

Topping estimated the excess capacity of the industry at 20 per cent. He placed the invested capital close to $4,750,000,000 and employes at 1,500,000.

IMPORTS SWELL

Under cross-examination Topping, who said he represented 95 per cent of the iron and steel producers, continued that although only one-tenth of one per cent of steel products consumed in this country was imported, this was sufficient to affect the whole price structure in the United States.

John W. Logan, on behalf of the Alan Wood Iron and Steel Company, of Philadelphia, requested an increase from $1.12½ to $3 a ton in the duty on pig iron. The President raised a 75-cent rate 50 per cent since the present law took effect, but Logan said this was not enough to keep out large imports.

Divorces, Remarries, Divorces Same Wife

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 14.—Edward Garver, of Hempfield Township, apparently is having a hard time making a success of matrimony. A short time ago Garver obtained a divorce from his wife. The charge was unfaithfulness. Then they remarried. Now he has been granted another divorce decree. This time he alleges cruelty.

MARS, PA., BOY SCOUT RECEIVES HERO AWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—For outstanding heroism in rescuing four persons from drowning at the risk of their own lives, three Boy Scouts have received the gold honor medal of the Boy Scouts of America by the national court of honor.

Those to whom this highest award in Scouting was voted were Edward A. Bush, Brooklyn; Theodore Antonich, 1807 Black Eagle Smelter avenue, Great Falls, Mont., and Joseph Erlenwein, 388 Lechner avenue, Columbus, O.

Certificates of heroism for demonstrating the use of Scout training in saving the lives of others, most of the rescues not involving so great a risk to the life of the rescuer, have been awarded to Lloyd Faulmer, Sedro-Wooley, Wash.; Erwin Walker, Wilson, N. C.; Herbert Zupnick, Mars, Pa.; John Rentz, Lima, O.; Leo Skeim, Minot, N. D.; John Sandstrom, Middletown, Conn.; Ned Brooks and W. J. Breeding, Jr., Norman, Okla.; Clarence Schweizer, Wallington, N. J.; George Eichhern, Dubuque, Ia., and Vincent Meyers, New Boston, O.

The major award went to Scout Erlenwein for his rescue in Buckeye Lake, O., in July, 1927, of Mrs. Clifford Lewis and Miss Gladys Anderson, both of Columbus. Mrs. Lewis was teaching Miss Anderson to swim when the girl became frightened and obtained a strangle hold on her teacher. Both went under, but the Scout reached them and brought them to shore. Erlenwein said nothing of the accident and only the casual remarks of witnesses months later brought about the reward.

Antonich pulled Arthur Norgard from the Missouri River on June 28, 1928, when a rope on which Norgard was swinging broke and he fell into the swift stream.

Bush rescued a woman who had attempted to drown herself in New York Bay.

Tow Fails to Float Grounded Oil Tanker

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The Gulf Refining Company's tanker Trinidadian, which went aground on Gilberts Reef 20 miles north of Jupiter last Friday, remained firmly lodged on the rocks last night despite efforts of tugs to float the craft.

The coast guard cutter Yamacraw stood by while the tug Warbler worked desperately in a futile effort to dislodge her.

Third Victim Dies, Gunman Is Hunted

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The death of Howard Schultz brought to three the fatalities of a wild shooting spree Monday by Lehman H. Griffin, a logger at a nearby lumber camp. Officers are still searching for Griffin in a swamp where he disappeared shortly after killing Francis Heath, 10, fatally wounding the boy's father, L. Heath, and wounding Schultz and his wife.

$100,000 PACKARD WATCH GROUP GOES TO CAPITAL

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—One of the largest collections of fine watches ever made by an individual is to be brought to Washington this week as a permanent contribution toward advancement of the art and science of timekeeping.

Reflecting the interest of a mechanical genius in fine mechanisms and his recognition of the importance of accurate measurements of time in modern affairs, the collection was made during the last 25 years of his life by James Ward Packard, famous automotive engineer and inventor.

Consisting of about 30 watches, representing an outlay estimated at $100,000, the collection was left at his death last March to the Cleveland Museum of Art, which, with Mrs. Packard and trustees of the estate, will turn it over tomorrow at Cleveland to the Horological Institute of America for permanent preservation and use.

The watches, ranging in value from $500 to more than $8,000, will be placed temporarily in the old National Museum of the Smithsonian Institution.

Letter Carriers Hear Clyde Kelly

Congressman Clyde Kelly and Robert S. Regar, third assistant postmaster general, were the principal speakers last night at a meeting of Clyde Kelly Branch No. 84, National Association of Letter Carriers, held in the South High School, Carson street. Ferdinand L. Douglas, president of New York Carrier Branch No. 36, also spoke, discussing the proposed changes in the carriers' retirement pension fund. The annual election of officers was held and the officers installed prior to the speaking.

Illness of Baby Brings Aid to 5 Gassed

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 14.—A baby's illness probably saved the lives of five other persons at Enterprise, near here. When Dr. R. E. Nutter, called to attend the child, reached the home, he found the parents, J. R. Fortney and wife, and Mrs. Louise Harbet, Mrs. Howard Pigott and Miss Frances Tetrick, the last three neighbors, overcome by fumes from a stove. Dr. Nutter succeeded in reviving the five and successfully treated the baby.

Two Presbyterian Churches to Unite

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 14.—An impressive service uniting the congregations of two Presbyterian churches here is set for next Friday evening. The congregations have been separated for 70 years. The Erie Presbytery will send a delegation of ministers to the service. Final official steps toward the union will be taken at a meeting of the Erie Presbytery tomorrow.

HE SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief in 2 Months — Doctor Recommended It

Constipation is dreaded not only for its own insidious self, but because of the many serious conditions and diseases it causes. Mr. Lind was a sufferer—but read how he found relief.

"For the past 10 years I have suffered from piles. At times I have been unable to work. I have tried suppositories, ointments, etc., but to no avail.

"Two months ago my grocer called my attention to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I began taking it regularly. Immediately the pain and annoyance from the piles was relieved. I found that it requires very little ALL-BRAN to give nature a fair chance to effect a cure."—WALTER J. LIND, R. 2, Box 137, Appleton, Wis.

Don't neglect constipation. At any time its poisons may take terrible toll from your health and well-being. Protect yourself. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN brings sure, natural relief. It is what doctors call a bulk food. It sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action.

Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Also try the recipes on the package. Results guaranteed. Doctors recommend it because it is 100% bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants, and dining cars. Sold by all grocers.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

NEGRO 'HANDS' BEAR WIDOW OF EX-SENATOR TO GRAVE

VERSAILLES, Ky., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—On the shoulders of six Negro servants, four of whom were born on her ancestral estate, the body of Mrs. Susanna Preston Hart Camden, wife of former United States Senator Johnson N. Camden, and a direct descendant of Isaac Shelby, the first Governor of Kentucky, was borne to the grave in the Frankfort Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Persons prominent in all circles of the state were present to pay their respects to the memory of the noted social leader and of one of the best known figures of Kentucky politics and the turf. Senator Camden is former chairman of the state racing commission.

The services were held in St. John's Episcopal Church here, and were conducted by the Rt. Rev. Lewis W. Burton, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Lexington; the Rt. Rev. James N. Maxon, Chattanooga, Tenn., and the Rev. Robert J. Murphy, rector of the Versailles church.

A row of seats in the rear was reserved for Negro servants from Spring Hill, the Camden estate near here, which is a Blue Grass show place and stud, from which many famous thoroughbreds have come.

The custom of having Negro servants act as pallbearers is an aristocratic tradition in the South, and was carried out at Mrs. Camden's request. Six Negroes carried the body of Gen. William Preston to his grave at Louisville years ago. Mrs. Camden, a member of one of the state's pioneer families, was the only daughter of Col. William Hart and Mrs. Rebecca Tevis Hart. The estate has been in her family for a century and a quarter.

Mrs. Camden died Friday at the age of 81. She was the friend of hundreds of turfsmen who had visited her home. She is survived by two daughters, Miss Tevis Camden, of Woodford county, and Mrs. Eda salted cracker that is as flaky and tender as the most perfect pie crust!!!

Cooks who know how to bake a tender, flaky pie-crust will appreciate what a fine cracker Sunshine Bakers have made in this delicious, new, salted square.

Krispy Crackers are unusually flaky. This means that they are tender to bite, and still they are just as crisp as crisp can be!

They are salted in just the right way to bring out the delicate wheat flavor without being too salty.

Even allowing for our enthusiasm ...you will agree that Krispy Crackers are the finest table crackers ever made!

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

WHAT'S THE USE OF FIGHTING?

By EMILY PORTER.

"I HOPE I never see your face again."

Betty glared at Craig and he glared back at her.

"Suits me," he answered.

"I never was so ashamed," the girl went on furiously. "You stood there and let that big bully push you and you didn't lift your finger!"

"Oh, what's the use of fighting?" Craig Jeffrey exclaimed. "Busby didn't know what he was doing. Besides that I didn't want your name mixed up in any rough-house stuff."

"Then why did you keep cutting in on us?" she persisted. "Why didn't you let Jim alone. Every time he started to dance with me you cut in."

"Who wants his girl dancing with Jim Busby when he's half tight?"

"Oh, you make me tired!" she cried. "You poor coward!"

At that Craig Jeffrey's face went white.

"All right if that's the way you feel about it, I'll keep out of your sight."

Craig did not go to bed at all that night. It was late when he returned from the dance that had caused this trouble with the girl he loved. He was leaving that day for his new job in Frankfort anyway, and he spent the rest of the night packing.

He and Betty had planned to ride as far as Frankfort together. She was going to Washington and it gave them a few more precious hours together.

Now they had quarreled, he decided not to go on the express train. He would never go anywhere again that necessitated his coming in range of Betty's contemptuous glances.

Craig had to reach Frankfort before 9 o'clock and the express was the only morning train north.

So he went down to the railroad yards, found an old pal and arranged for a ride on the freight train.

Twelve miles from Frankfort there was a wreck. The freight swinging around a curve in that mountainous region jumped the track and two of the box cars overturned.

Craig Jeffrey was hurled violently from his seat in the caboose.

His collar bone was broken and his ankle was twisted in the fall. When he was able to sit up and look around, he saw that somebody was caught beneath one of the overturned cars and the other members of the freight train crew were trying to rescue the entrapped man.

A loud shrill whistle sounded in the distance.

"The express!" exclaimed Craig.

In that dreadful moment it came to him that Betty was on that fast train—Betty and many other passengers. The engineer would not see the wrecked freight, for it was just around the curve, with the steep banks of the hill cutting off his view at that point.

Jeffrey opened his mouth to shout to the other men. They were working frantically to save their wounded comrade. On came the express. Craig could hear the chug-chug-chug of the big engine. He visioned the coaches full of hapless passengers.

"I must warn them! I must warn them I must warn them!"

The words beat upon his brain.

And in spite of his own agony he set out to flag the oncoming express. He dragged himself around the bend in the road. From there he crawled until he sighted the string of coaches pelting along toward the derailed freight.

Then he jerked off his coat, arose on one foot in the middle of the track and stood swinging the garment above his head.

The engineer on the express saw the warning just in time to stop the train. As the big engine came to a halt three yards from where Craig stood, he crumbled down in a heap and lay white and still on the railroad track.

Betty Barnes was among the first passengers to rush out of the cars. She knew something had happened to cause that sudden, upsetting stop.

"Is anyone hurt?" she questioned. Then she saw a limp form being carried into the train by two men.

Her heart stopped beating. There was something strangely familiar about that lifeless figure. It looked like Craig. She came nearer. It was Craig!

A moan escaped her lips, but she made no other sound. She followed the men into the coach.

When Craig Jeffrey opened his eyes he found Betty sitting beside him with his head in her arms.

"It's all right now, darling," she comforted as though he were a hurt child. "The doctor is here, and I'll stay right with you. Just be brave—"

The doctor, who was fastening the last bandage, laughed softly.

"Brave," he repeated, "he's the bravest man I know. Why, son, you're a hero. A regular Croix de Guerre hero. Nobody ever did a braver thing than you did today. Traveled a good quarter of a mile with a broken collar bone and a wrenched ankle."

"I'm so proud of you, Craig," the girl whispered, as she bent down and kissed him.

"Do you like my face any better, now, honey?" he said, smiling into her eyes.

"I always adored it," she answered.

"Well, that's good," he stated, "because you'll have to look at it every day for the rest of your life."

2 Men Die When They Fumble Gas Burners

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13.—(AP.)—Two men, Marco Kurnychuck, 44, and Michael Dulanick, 53, were found dead in their second floor apartment, with gas flowing from two jets of a burner. It is believed by police that one of the men became confused when turning out the burners on the stove last night before retiring or neglected to light them after turning them on. Coroner Otto M. Reinhardt is conducting an investigation.

One Dead, 3 Injured Result of Joy-Ride

BALTIMORE, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—One man is dead and three others seriously injured as the result of an accident which police say brought an unauthorized joyride, headed by Rollie Parks, 21 Philadelphia chauffeur, to an abrupt end. The dead man is Claude Parks, who died two hours after being admitted to a hospital. The injured are Rollie Parks, Joseph Parks, 23, and Alexander Stringer, 29.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14.—With approximately $2,000 reported during the first day, the drive to raise $10,000 for the Washington County Council, Boy Scouts of America, is well under way.

It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

WINTER RACE TRACKS LOSING MONEY

NEWS dispatches from New York Saturday night announcing that Pitcher Jess Petty had again declared he would not sign his Pittsburgh contract until the Brooklyn club refunded to him the sum of $1,153.85, deducted from his salary when he was fined and suspended last year, did not cause any alarm at Pirate headquarters or among local fans. The feeling is general that the star left-hander will swing into line in due time and will be present with the other Pirate battery men when the first squad starts practice at Paso Robles.

Jess Petty

In the first place the Pittsburgh club has no part in Petty's controversy with the management of the Robins, and in the second place major league regulations now provide that a player failing to report for spring training is liable to suspension and a consequent loss of salary until he is reinstated. There is little likelihood that Jess will take the chance of losing more pay as a suspended Buccaneer than he may ever be able to collect in his back claim against the Dodgers. President Barney Dreyfuss said yesterday that he had received no word from Petty since the pitcher's contract was forwarded to him two weeks ago. "But I am not in the least worried about him," the Pirate magnate added. "There is no occasion for hurry in the matter of his signing and he will be on hand when we need him."

PETTY admits that he is perfectly satisfied with the Pittsburgh club's terms. "I've got my contract, and it's all right, too," he said, "but I'm not going to do any writing on it until I get some satisfaction from the Brooklyn club on that back salary and outstanding fine.

"Manager Robinson promised that the money would be returned to me and that he would bring the matter up at the club's December meeting. But what happened? There wasn't any meeting. Vice-President McKeever says he is willing I should collect. I have left the matter temporarily in the hands of John Gorman, the club's traveling secretary."

THE star southpaw, who is doing a song-and-patter act in vaudeville with Al Mamaux, former Pirate flinger, as a partner—incidentally the pair will show in Pittsburgh after engagements in Brooklyn and Buffalo—shows that he has no serious intention of remaining outside the Buccaneer fold by enthusiastically boosting his new team.

Jimmy McLarnin

"We've got a great gang of ball players," he declared. "I don't know why we shouldn't get into the world series. Those ailing pitchers ought to be back on the job, hale and hearty. Kremer looks good right now, and even Lee Meadows isn't too old to pitch some grand ball. He'll make a fine finisher. I'll do my part."

JIMMY McLARNIN, off to a successful start, is confident that he will be able to fight better than ever from now on because his mind has been relieved of a fear that a jinx had camped permanently on his trail. McLarnin fought his way to a match for the lightweight championship last year, only to be turned back by the title-holder, Sammy Mandell. Then, in an attempt to regain his lost standing, he ran into Ray Miller and was given another setback. But Jimmy thinks that 1929 is going to be altogether different, as last Friday night he put himself right up front in the lightweight running once more by winning a decision over Joe Glick, who had previously defeated Baby Joe Gans. Except for being slightly wild with his right at times, McLarnin performed impressively, and has at least earned a return match with Miller as a possible stepping stone to another title chance.

JOHN J. KILCOYNE writes from Carey, Pa., to unfold a plan in which he thinks some of the hunting and fishing enthusiasts of this region may be interested. He has obtained a long lease from the Province of Quebec, Canada, on 80 miles of the wildest kind of forest land, he says, and would like to form an organization of sportsmen in several counties of Pennsylvania to make use of the tract under the name of the Gatineau Rod and Gun Club.

According to Kilcoyne, the rivers and lakes on the leased property contain all kinds of fish from speckled trout to muskalonge, while in the forests are to be found moose, caribou, deer and bear, besides all manner of small fur-bearing animals. He intends to establish headquarters on one of the largest lakes of the grant, where a club house or hunting lodge will be erected for the accommodation of the club's members during their stays in the Canadian wilds.

CONSTRUCTION will be started the coming spring, as soon as the ice goes out, Kilcoyne says. Supplies will be shipped by rail to Mainwaki, 82 miles north of Ottawa, and thence by water route and portage 50 miles farther northward to the leased land.

Guides, Indians and others making their homes along the larger rivers on the plot are to assist in constructing the lodge. A number of small cabins will be built on different parts of the grant so that fishermen and hunters will not be compelled to return to the main lodge when their trips take them far distant.

Joe Birmingham

WITH the announcement that Bill Klem has been prevailed upon by President John A. Heydler to reconsider his decision to retire and has signed a contract to umpire in the National League again for his twenty-third consecutive season, comes the news that a desire for an umpire's berth has brought another old-timer back to the game. Joe Birmingham, former Cleveland outfielder and manager, who owned one of the greatest throwing arms of his time, wants to be an arbiter in a minor league, and the New York American League club is giving him a lift by sending a recommendation to the proper authorities.

BIRMINGHAM played for Cleveland in the American League from 1906 until 1915. When Harry Davis was deposed as manager in August, 1912, Joe was placed in charge of the club. He held down the job through 1913 and 1914, but on May 21, 1915, was dropped and Lee Fohl was appointed to succeed him.

Birmingham proceeded to make himself a more prominent figure than ever in the public prints by refusing to quit. He insisted that the Cleveland club could not break its contract with him, and persisted in reporting at the grounds every day until June 22, when he was barred out of the park and released unconditionally.

CARNEGIE TECH has gone through with its announced plan to do away with the election of football captains, and to have the lead-

CAREY, M'ARDLE, HAMMOND WILL SHARE WORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—For the next two or three months at least, the destinies of Madison Square Garden will be in the hands of a trio that includes William F. Carey, Col. John S. Hammond and Tom McArdle. This has been made clear by Richard F. Hoyt, chairman of the board of the Garden Corporation.

The responsibilities Tex Rickard laid down in death will be distributed among Carey, first vice president and treasurer of the corporation; Hammond, a vice president and acting general manager, and McArdle, matchmaker.

On the eve of his departure on a cruise of more than a month, Hoyt outlined the situation at the Garden as he and his associates saw it.

IN CAPABLE HANDS

"The men in charge now are perfectly capable of handling the business," he declared. "Carey, Hammond and McArdle constitute a combination which is satisfactory from every standpoint, and regardless of its respective circulated since the death of Mr. Rickard, no change is contemplated in the organization as it is at present constituted. It is only a matter of loyalty that we give the men in control now a chance to direct affairs.

"Both Mr. Carey and Col. Hammond are good business men and Tom McArdle is there to advise them with respect to boxing. Carey built the Garden and had been associated with Mr. Rickard over a streck of years which afforded him ample time to familiarize himself with the direction of the business.

NO CHANGE LIKELY

"Personally I see no reason for ever changing the management as it now stands. Certainly nothing will be done for two or three months. Many names have been discussed as eligibles for the vacated post of Rickard, but so far as I know, no particular name is under consideration. I doubt if any change will be made."

If there is any definite plan to engage Mayor James J. Walker for the post Hoyt said he knew nothing of it.

"His name is just one of 500 or so mentioned as likely successors to Mr. Rickard," Hoyt said with a smile.

Pairings Named For Soccer Tourney

With the National amateur cup committee in town Saturday evening the draw for the third round of the national amateur cup was made and the protested game between the Union Switch and Signal and Westinghouse club played McNair under the name of Harker and was dropped from the competition.

President Armstrong Patterson, of the United States football association gave quite an extended talk on the situation in the East, where the American League is now playing outlaw soccer. Bill Angus and Johnny McEwan, of Cleveland, members of the national committee also addressed the meeting, which was attended by a large number of councilmen, players and referees. The draw was as follows: Union Switch and Signal vs. Heidelberg, Pittsburgh or Glendale vs. Cleveland Sparta, and Pittsburgh Celtics vs. Corinthians. All games will be played on the grounds of the first-named club on or before January 27.

White Sox Release McCurdy, Catcher

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Harry McCurdy, former University of Illinois star, who has been a second string catcher for the White Sox for three seasons, has been released outright to Toledo of the American Association.

In return, Toledo has promised the White Sox first chance on any outstanding players it may uncover this coming season.

Belanger-Schwartz Bout Date Is Set

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The 10-round bout between Frenchy Belanger and Izzy Schwartz, flyweights, is to be held during the week of January 21. Belanger, the Canadian flyweight champion, was attacked by influenza a few days ago, but now is well again. He will start training again today.

Schwartz is recognized in New York state as flyweight champion of the world.

SOUTH PREPARED FOR INVASION OF MAJORS

ATLANTA, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—They'll be packing the fungoes of major league baseballdom for shipment South soon with Florida delivery marked on most of them.

The boys, whose appetites double around the middle of February, when the club owners take over the meal tickets, will be moving in the "down river" direction with 16 squads drilling in Florida, one in Louisiana, two in Texas, one in Arizona and the remaining pair in California.

TEN IN FLORIDA

Clubs of the "grapefruit league," that mythical circuit which springs up annually along the banks of the Sewanee and Florida gulf region during March and April, will find plenty of training opposition. Five of the squads will be of the American League and a like number from the National loop.

Three of the squads going to Florida—The Senators, Cards and Braves—will be starting under new managerial direction, although the names and faces of the new pilots are familiar in the Peninsular state.

Walter Johnson, guiding Washington; Billy Southworth, of the Cardinals, and Emil Fuchs, in the unusual position of manager-owner of the Boston Nationals, will be the latest in "boss" roles, each making his debut in that capacity with a major league club.

JOHNSON NEW BOSS

Johnson, the "big train" of other years, conditioned his strong pitching arm in the South many seasons; Southworth pomped afield with the Giants in this sector for several seasons and Judge Fuchs is well known as an owner.

Johnson has been wintering at Daytona Beach, Fla., and will probably go to Tampa late this month to join Clark Griffith, Senator owner, who is expected about that time.

Here are the teams, training camps and names of the managers:

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Washington, Walter Johnson, Tampa; New York, Miller Huggins, St. Petersburg; Philadelphia, Connie Mack, Fort Myers; St. Louis, Dan Howley, West Palm Beach; Boston, Hill Carrigan; Bradenton; Detroit, Stanley Harris, Phoenix, Ariz.; Cleveland, Roger Peckinpaugh, New Orleans; Chicago, Lena Blackburne, Dallas.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Cincinnati, Jack Hendricks, Orlando; Brooklyn, Wilbert Robinson, Clearwater; Boston, Emil Fuchs, St. Petersburg; Philadelphia, Burt Shotten, Winterhaven, Fla.; St. Louis, Billy Southworth, Avon Park, Fla.; New York, John McGraw, San Antonio; Chicago, Joe McCarthy, Catalina Island; Pittsburgh, Donie Bush, Paso Robles, Cal.

Wyatt Earp, Veteran Referee, Succumbs

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The West has lost another of its few remaining frontier gun fighters with the death here of Wyatt Earp, once a peace officer at Dodge City, Kan., and Tombstone, Ariz. Earp's colorful career led him through a dozen fatal conflicts with "bad men" of the old West. He was 78 years old.

Earp and three brothers, Virgil, Morgan and Jim, together with Doc Holliday, were principal figures in the stormy days of Cochise county, Ariz., where Tombstone is located.

Earp gained renown when he was chosen as referee of the Tom Sharkey-Bob Fitzsimmons fight in San Francisco. Earp wore a six-shooter in the ring, and no protest was heard after his decision in favor of Sharkey was given.

MIELES OPPOSE RAUH CLUB IN HEADLINER

By JULIUS LEVIN.

Revenge will be the objective of the Miele-Franchina Club tonight when it meets the Rauhs in an Allegheny County League battle at Columbus Temple. The Rauhs nosed out the Mieles in the first game between the two clubs and it is the intention of the Foglia charges to even the score tonight.

Both teams use Columbus Temple as their home courts and as a result neither will have a decided advantage tonight. The Rauhs and Mieles hail from the same section of the city and the contest tonight likely will attract a capacity turnout.

LIGHTS VS. LAFAYETTES

In the other County League game carded tonight Duquesne Light invades Duquesne to meet the Lafayettes, winners of the first-half championship.

Two important games are scheduled tonight in the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League, both of which will play a big part in deciding the winner of the first-half championship. The M. J. Conleys, holding first place by a half game, invade McKeesport to meet the Alumni passers, while the Felders are the attraction at the South Side Market House, engaging the crack Mangans. The Mangans and Alumni teams must win to remain in the fight for the championship.

LEAGUE REORGANIZES

At a meeting held yesterday, reorganization plans for the second-half race were effected by the County League. The same six teams which participated in the first half of the campaign retained their franchises.

The managers voted to increase the player limit from 10 to 12 men and also voted to add the names of Callahan and Carroll to the list of reserve officials. Reliance Life announced that it had shifted its home floor from the Armory in Oakland to the Columbus Temple, where games will be played Wednesday nights. The Goldensons conceded a game scheduled with Reliance for Wednesday night to the Lifers and will meet an independent team on that night.

The schedule for the first week of the second half follows:

Monday, January 21—Rauhs at Lafayettes, Goldensons at Mieles.

Tuesday, January 22—Mieles at Reliance.

Thursday, January 24—Duquesne Light at Rauhs, Reliance at Goldensons.

Saturday, January 26—Lafayette at Duquesne Light.

WELCH TO BOX BELMONT IN MOOSE RING

Teddy Welch, of McKeesport, has been signed to box Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, in the six-round semi-final of the opening show of the Francis Flynn's new boxing club in the Moose Temple, Penn avenue, next Friday night, and only one more bout remains to be closed. That is the opener, in which Sammy Paris will make his professional debut against an opponent to be named.

Howard Mayberry and Jackie Rodgers, bantamweight rivals, meet in the 10-round windup and Johnny Smackey battles Mike Hogan in the second number.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, is at work on the preliminary card for his double windup show next Thursday night. Battling Gizzy and Ken Hargraves are in the top spot, with Young Saylor boxing Henry Firpo in the other 10-rounder.

BOUTS AT NEW CASTLE

Another card is offered at the Jolly Bowl in New Castle tonight, Teddy Esterbrook, of Niles, O., and Johnny Mason, of Scranton, middleweights, will furnish the windup, and U. S. Carpentier and Chet Smallwood are in the semi-final. Johnny Vivio, local welterweight, boxes Larry Madge, of Cleveland, in another six-round bout. Tom Harris and Tommy Ward, local welters, meet in a four-round event and Lloyd Tretino and George Lawson open the show with another abbreviated setto.

Five local amateur boxers battle in an inter-city show in Boston tonight. They are Joe Orsini, Pete D'Allesandro, Dan McCabe, George Chambers and Frank Novak.

Benny Bass and Davey Abad bet the windup at the Arena in Philadelphia tonight. Al Singer meets Joe Ryder at the Broadway Club in Brooklyn. The George Courtney-Tiger Thomas bout scheduled in New York has been called off because of the illness of Thomas.

The managers of Phil Scello and Tom Maloo are requested to communicate with Promoter Jake Pitler at Oil City.

PROFIO AT YOUNGSTOWN

Dominick Profio boxes Larry Madge at Youngstown tomorrow night in the semi-final to the Roleaux Saguero-Willie Walker bout. Frank Monroe, local light-heavyweight, meets Mike Patrick on the same card.

Gorilla Jones, Negro middleweight of Cleveland, and Arturo Schakels, Belgian, meet in a return bout in Buffalo tonight. Jones stopped Schakels in the first round of a bout in Cleveland last Tuesday night. Frankie Genaro boxes Tommy Paul in Buffalo Friday night and Jimmy Slattery engages Jimmy Mahoney, of Chicago there next Monday night.

FORMER MATMAN DEAD

BUFFALO, Jan. 14.—Joe Rogers, 45, famous as a heavyweight wrestler 20 years ago, was found dead in his automobile in a downtown street yesterday. Death was result of a heart attack. When wrestling was enjoying its most prosperous period Rogers wrestled Frank Gotch and other champions.

W. & J. Quintet To Play Only To Students

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14.—Basketball games without spectators other than the undergraduates will prevail at Washington and Jefferson, if the varsity team is ever able to get started on its regular schedule. The Presidents have been postponing contests for quite a while now on account of the "flu," college sessions being scheduled to resume on Tuesday, January 22, according to the latest decision.

The manager hopes to be able to get his card under way on the night of the date set for the resumption of classes, when the chart provides a combat at Bethany, W. Va., with Bethany College. The next night Allegheny is to come here under the rearrangement which calls for the Northern Methodists to play their game postponed from last Saturday night.

When Allegheny plays here next Wednesday night, if it does play, no one but W. & J. students will witness the combat. No provision has been made in the rebuilt college gymnasium for spectators, other than undergraduates, and the usual encouragement given the home team by city supporters will be lacking.

TEX As He Was Known to TAD

Lowdown on the Reno Fight.

IN STORIES about Tex Rickard appearing here and there we read the other day one pip concerning the Jeffries-Johnson fight that Tex promoted at Reno.

The writer, describing the ring scenes just before the fight, said:

"Johnson came into the ring quite badly scared and nervous. His coal black skin was a pasty white." Again, this same writer says, "in the flip of a new coin for corners, Johnson won. Billy Delaney chose the corner with the sun at Johnson's back."

How do those writers get that way? Where do they get their facts? There is nothing the matter with those statements except that they are all wrong.

Jeff was the first to enter the ring and he was scared stiff. He had been afraid of Johnson for seven years. He never wanted to fight "Li'l Artha." Johnson came in the ring smiling, as he always entered a ring. It was more play than fight for him.

As for tossing the coin, there was no tossing of a coin at all.

Sam Berger came over to Johnson with a coin as the latter entered the ring and offered to toss. Jeff already had selected the corner with his back to the sun and was sitting there chatting. Johnson said to Berger: "I don't want to toss the coin, Sam. You fellows can have that corner if you want it. This one is allright for me," and that is the way it was settled. And you can bet all the cheese in Holland on that.

Jeffries ruled as favorite in the betting. Johnson never at any time was the favorite. At the ringside, odds of 2 to 1 were offered, Jeff being favored.

(THE END.)

Coach Campbell's Mother Is Dead

Friends and acquaintances of Bill Campbell, regular Homestead High School football and basketball coach, learned with regret yesterday of the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Campbell, at the family residence, 309 Walnut street, Homestead.

Funeral services will be held at St. Mary Magdalene R. C. Church at 9:30 a. m., Wednesday morning. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mike Getto Honored By Jeannette Fans

Mike Getto, star Pitt tackle, was honored at a testimonial affair staged under the auspices of the Jeannette Boosters Club in Jeannette Saturday night.

Dr. John B. (Jack) Sutherland, University of Pittsburgh coach, and Pie Williams, his assistant, were among the guests. The Jeannette fans presented Getto with a diamond ring.

UMPIRE SHALLEY DIES

Pat Shalley, who retired as an umpire about four years ago after calling balls and strikes in local independent leagues for 16 years, died Saturday afternoon in the Mercy Hospital after a brief illness. He had resided with his sister, Mrs. Emil S. Wegerich, 202 Trina street, Carrick, for many years. Funeral services will be held from the Wegerich home and from the St. John The Baptist Church, Thirty-sixth street and Liberty avenue, Wednesday.

Timber League Will Adopt Heydler Plan

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Managers of the Timber League voted here yesterday to give the 10-man team idea a trial this coming season.

IDEAL HANDS
Linton is ideally equipped to be a successful big league catcher. He is a six-footer and weighs more than 200 pounds and is fast and has big hands. Notice how, in the above closeup, he almost closes his hand entirely over a baseball, making it appear pea-sized.

Bucs Boast Erudite Catcher in Linton

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

ONE of the most cultured athletes in baseball, who at the same time owns a physique as powerful as that of a Tunney or a Dempsey, may be a regular member of the Pirate band this year, after his 1928 successes in the Three-I League.

The reference is to Claude (Bob) Linton, handsome catcher and student of several Mid-Western colleges. Linton mixes post-graduate courses with his natural love for boxing and baseball and is an extremely interesting person, despite a reserve that is marked.

Big Bob hails from the lower stretches of Arkansas and his droll speech is a reminder of the "Slow Train Through Arkansas," but when he gets on the battle togs of the diamond he seems to be in his element.

FARMED LAST YEAR

The Pirates last spring farmed out Claude to the Decatur club of the Class B circuit named above. It was partly through his work that Decatur was able to win the flag, and Linton was recalled for duty with the Pirates this year.

The strapping, remarkable physical specimen weighs almost 200 pounds in condition and is 6 feet 2 inches tall. A southpaw hitter, he can drive a ball over any right field wall in the big leagues if he happens to get the right sort of a delivery at which to swing. He plainly showed the need of seasoning last year, but it is said he put on a lot of polish during the summer.

Provided the recruit is possessed of the skill necessary for a big league receiver, he should be able to work every day, with doubleheaders thrown in occasionally, without feeling the strain. He is at least as rugged as Francis Hogan, the giant of the Giants.

STARTED IN COLLEGE

Linton's work on college diamonds was interspersed with a "trick" done in a small league in the West. It was in this circuit that the Bucos were tipped off to him, and, in due time, Claude was a member of the local club. His work this year will bear watching.

Heeney Ready To Attempt Comeback

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Tom Heeney, the "hard rock" Gene Tunney blasted in his last heavyweight title defense, has heard the call of the ring again. The New Zealand warrior is busy training for a comeback effort he hopes will land him another chance to win the title.

Heeney eliminated Johnny Risko, Jack Sharkey, Jimmy Maloney and Jack Delaney from title consideration last year and believes he can do the same this season. He may fight Paulino again for the right to face the winner of the Sharkey-Stribling match in Miami Beach, February 27.

FIVE VARSITIES SHARE LEAD IN SECTION

By JESS CARVER

THE basketball varsities of Pitt, West Virginia, Geneva, Westminster and Penn State are galloping along at the head of the district court parade. By the end of the week this list is certain to be cut drastically, with only Penn State a sure bet to hold its place as one of the four unbeaten clubs in the section.

Pitt and Westminster are ahead in the Big Four. Westminster and Geneva are holding forth in a draw for top position in the Conference and in the district, three of these four and Penn State are unbeaten and top the list for the entire district.

W. VA.'S RECORD GOOD

Stadsvold's Mountaineers, with four triumphs out of as many starts, all of them in decisive fashion, and the Pitt Panthers appear to be the class of this Western Pennsylvania territory. Westminster looked like a real club when the U. P.'s kicked Grove City around, but failed to display the same fire and dash in the victory over the Dukes. Geneva was not overly impressive in its win over Thiel in a Conference game last week and the acknowledged weakness of Carnegie Tech made it impossible to get much of a line on Penn State.

STATE FIVE IDLE

Geneva may fall by the wayside in the Conference tonight. The Covenanters are to oppose Waynesburg at Waynesburg tonight and the Jackets, not a weak team by any means, are capable of upsetting Ken Loeffler's club. If Geneva doesn't lose tonight, it will be no indication that they will be able to whip Westminster on Friday.

Pitt plays West Virginia in the most important contest of the week here in the Stadium pavilion Friday and figures to take the Mountaineers, despite the fact that West Virginia boasts one of the best teams in the school's history.

Penn State does not play any district foe this week, but has two tough games on the list, with Georgetown to be played Friday and the Navy Saturday.

PITT CAPTAINCY IN DOUBT

Co-incident with the announcement of the date of the annual Pitt football banquet, which is to be held Saturday night in the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley, comes the annual rumor feast that ever presages the election of a Pitt football captain.

Except in the case of Gib Welch, two years ago, there hasn't been a cut and dried election at Pitt for the past decade. Last year, Alex Fox and Honey Guarino were in the race until the final ballot. This year, three men appear to have the inside track, and of the three, two of them are from one fraternity, which means that one will be sacrificed for peace and goodwill.

Joe Donchess, a Phi Delta Theta, Ray Montgomery and Tom Parkinson, Delta Tau Deltas are the trio most likely to be considered as Pitt captains for 1929. There does not seem to be much of a chance for a dark horse, unless the boys were to get together and elect Toby Uansa. This would not be such a bad move, for if the contest votes between Donchess and one of the two Delts becomes too hot the resultant feeling may not be for Pitt's best.

And don't think Uansa would not make a good leader.

FROTH

Wally Steffen took a couple sucker punches at the sport writers last Saturday . . . And think of the folks who'd like to do the same thing . . . Can a fellow buy this "Diddlewink" song on a record? . . . Don Collins and some of the other boys about town are going to back Pitt against Notre Dame in basketball this year . . . They have a lot of faith in the Panthers . . . The country's most gentlemanly coach will be in town this week . . . None other than Stadsvold of West Va. . . . Such a boost ought to rate a free meal . . . One thing, Tech's basketball team won't lose a game this week . . . It doesn't play . . . I'll hold these.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14—A fluke goal, which was really a gift on the part of Goalie Gardiner, was the only thing that kept the Pittsburgh Pirates from taking another one on the chin in a National Hockey League contest here last night. As it was, the Buccos got a 1-1 draw with the local Black Hawks after 70 minutes of play.

Early in the second period, after the teams had battled without result in the opening session, Frederickson let the disc go in the general direction of the Hawk goal. Gardiner slid out to stop it, which he did, but he accidentally booted the rubber into his own goal, thereby giving the Pirates a goal. Frederickson, of course, was credited with the point.

BUCS MISS CHANCE

The Buccaneers missed a golden opportunity to score again later on in the same period when Hib Milks missed a rebound shot with Gardiner lying prone on the ice.

Both teams presented a stubborn defense. Late in the second period, the Hawks came close to tying the score when Gottselig passed to Ripley in front of the net, but the latter's shot was nabbed a few feet in front of the net by McKinnon and the danger, for the time being, averted.

Chicago scored in the final regular period. The Hawks staged several wild dashes into Pirate territory. Late in the game, after the majority of the Chicago fans had about given up hope of seeing their favorites come through, Gottselig engaged in a duel with Herb Drury for the puck and finally hooked it away from Herb and past Miller for the saving goal.

GARDINER SAVES GAME

Frederickson made a valiant effort to score for the Bucs in the most exciting bit of play in the over-time period, but his shot hit Taylor, Hawk defense man and although he followed up in fine fashion and drove the disc for the Hawk net once more, Gardiner stopped the shot and the Hawks took the puck down toward the Pirate goal.

SHARKEY BOUT LOOKS LIKE A DUD

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor

ONE of the puzzles of the new year to the average mortal is how Jack Dempsey and the Madison Square Garden Corporation expect to come anywhere near breaking even on the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling heavyweight bout to be staged at Miami Beach, Fla., the latter part of next month.

Announcement is made that Sharkey has been granted a guarantee of $100,000, plus training expenses for four weeks and full hotel and traveling expenses for himself and wife and his manager and wife, while Stribling is to receive 25 per cent of the gate receipts. An arena must be built, a preliminary card paid for and various other incidentals taken care of.

The thing has all the earmarks of another Gene Tunney-Tom Heeney flop. The handwriting was on the wall for the Tunney-Heeney thing from the time it was announced that Heeney was to face the champion. He lacked appeal from the boxoffice standpoint. The late Tex Rickard tried to bluff the thing through successfully, but even he failed, and he wound up with a $300,000 deficit.

STRIBLING in his entire career has not accomplished half of what Heeney did in less than a year to win the right to fight Tunney. Sharkey tripped up on his chance by getting only a draw with Heeney and losing to Johnny Risko. There is no title at stake in the forthcoming meeting. It is just another "elimination" bout.

It is difficult to figure where Sharkey gets off demanding a $100,000 purse and expenses for meeting an in-and-outer like Stribling, who, while a wow against dubs and sparring partners in small towns, several times has proved that he does not belong in fast company. If ever there was a mediocre match, this is it, and the Garden would have done well to drop it rather than permit itself to be whipped into line by the erratic Sharkey for what looms as a certain big loss.

A few years ago, before Tunney defeated Dempsey to become champion, he was matched with this same Stribling for a bout in the South. Despite a widespread ballyhoo, it proved to be one of the greatest flops the game has known. The fight hung in the balance for days and finally was killed entirely. Many of the ticket purchasers still are holding the bag with pasteboards that are no more valuable than Confederate money. This bubble and the Tunney-Heeney flop should have been sufficient warning against such a perpetration as a Sharkey-Stribling racket. But, then, Dempsey always has been a courageous cuss and he seemingly doesn't hesitate to step in where angels fear to tread.

ANNOUNCEMENT, in Sunday's papers, that the local chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America will stage a big banquet next month, along the lines of annual affairs held by similar bodies in other cities, met a warm response and already numerous reservations have been made. It is the aim of the committee in charge to make this event a memorable one, with an imposing list of honor guests compiled from the various fields of sport, and it goes without saying that it will win the hearty indorsement of the large army of followers of these idols.

Just before his recent untimely death, Tex Rickard saw the fading of a long-cherished dream in the sale of a 20 per cent interest in the New York Giants to William F. Kenny, the wealthy contractor and friend of former Gov. Al Smith. For more than a year Rickard had been trying to buy the Giants and become a big figure in the baseball world, as he was in the boxing, hockey, professional football and greyhound racing fields.

HIS plan was to gain control of the Giants and transfer their home games to the Yankee Stadium and convert the Polo Grounds into an arena for boxing shows and outdoor hockey, with big football games every Saturday and Sunday during the season. At one time he had Charles Stoneham, majority owner of the Giants' stock, talked over to the idea of selling, but he could not get Judge F. X. McQuade, John McGraw's standby, to go along with him. A feud between Stoneham and McQuade ruined the transfer.

Shortly before leaving for his last trip to Florida, Tex picked up the papers one day and read that Kenny had bought "a piece" of the Giants, and his ambitious dream was dead. Now Tex has gone to join it.

Conference Heads To Take Up Pro[illegible]

Duquesne University, whose basketball team was defeated by Westminster College in an overtime game last Friday night, has formally protested the victory of the United Presbyterians. There was a mixup in the scoring books at the end of the first half, the official scorer's card showing the tally, 15-8, with Westminster on the long end, while the Duke manager contends the score should have been 16-9.

The Conference leaders will settle the dispute at their next meeting.

SMITH RETAINS TITLE, NOSING OUT ARMOUR

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—As a curtain of darkness rolled over picturesque Santa Monica Canyon last night, MacDonald Smith, product of the windswept plains of Carnoustie, strode to a two-time victory in the great $10,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament.

Play that was always steady turned back the "brilliancy of Tommy Armour, Washington, D. C., professional, who had led the tournament until the 54-hole mark and gave Smith a 72-hole score of 71-71-70-73—285.

With his triumph, the lean Scot, who now claims Great Neck, Long Island, N. Y., as his home, carried off a first prize of $3,500.

It was a crown that he already had worn for a year that Smith retained in the face of the strongest competition that golfing circles of the West Coast ever have been assembled.

Smith, with a never-faltering pace, came from behind in the final 36 holes of the tournament to wipe out a seven stroke lead that Armour had piled up in two sub-par rounds.

Popular champion that the venerable MacDonald Smith is, the gallery never lost hope until the final few holes, that the slender war-torn figure of Armour would sit in the Los Angeles open throne. Their hopes had been raised high by golf such as this course never had seen before in his two first rounds of 68 and 67, respectively, three and four strokes under par.

Armour when he picked up on the 17th, because of darkness, had to make a four par on the final hole to give him a 288. He will play the last hole today at 1 p. m. at which time it will be known whether he takes second place and prize money of $1,750.

The long first hole, a par five, 479 yard affair, proved the nemesis of Armour. On both rounds yesterday he took seven strokes before he could hole out. Again on the 446-yard fifth with a par of 4, he hit trouble in the afternoon and chalked up another seven. He was consistently slicing and hooking today and his putting was bad. Only at times did he show the iron play for which he is famous.

The leaders' cards for the last 18 holes:

Smith	334	443	444	—35.
Armour	744	442	554	—39.
Par in	454	434	554	-36-37—71
Smith	444	525	455	-28-35—73.
Armour	454	437	25x	-34.

RICKARD and the RING

By JACK DEMPSEY,
World's Greatest Ring Idol

Tex Played to Best People

YOU know, Tex Rickard always was anxious to get the best people to the fights he promoted. Nothing short of the best pleased him. That's why when society folks and the Wall Street crowd took to appearing at his ringsides it tickled him more than anything else.

Most of all, he wanted to get the women folks interested. When I fought Bill Brennan at the old Garden there were a good many ladies there, and Tex told me the next day what he had overheard one of them say.

"She was kinda nervous when she came in with her escort," said Tex, "afraid that there was goin' to be blood and brutality, but all thrilled at seein' a regular prize-fight. There wasn't anything too rough in the preliminaries and she began taking sides—usually with the boy that was gettin' licked.

"The man with her was afraid that there would be some blood, and that she would want to go out before you and Brennan went on. But, there wasn't anything rough, and the girl kept gettin' more and more excited.

"As soon as you and Bill began roughing it up she started rooting for Brennan because he was getting the worst of it. Bill ripped you on the ear with a left hook, and a trickle of blood came down your cheek.

"'Oh, look,' she cried, 'we've got one of his ears, anyway.' And after that her escort didn't bother about having to go away too soon. It's great stuff, Jack, gettin' the women interested in this game. It will help it more than anything else I can think of. There were women at Goldfield when I put on the Gans-Nelson fight, but they weren't like those who come to the Garden."

Money Secondary

Rickard got a great kick out of that. Probably a lot of people think of Tex as a great promoter and business man. He was, but he was a dreamer, too, although a dreamer who made his visions come true. One of his dreams was o' a great sport palace where women could come and be safe and as comfortable as they would be in a theater. That was one reason why he was willing to give his time unstintingly to such affairs as the Fund for Devastated France, sponsored by Miss Anne Morgan, and the Milk Fund that Mrs. William Randolph Hearst was so interested in.

They meant nothing to him financially, but money, after all, was the smallest part of the game to Tex. He never found the making of money any great task, although the keeping of it sometimes was difficult.

"Money don't bother me, Jack," he said to me once. "I've had plenty at times and I've been broke on a good many occasions, but I never remember being bothered or thrilled either way.

"You have to have money to play the game, but you can't play golf without a ball, either. The ball itself don't give you any kick. It's what you do with it. It never took any nerve on my part to offer you a couple of hundred thousand or a half million dollars for a fight, because I always felt pretty certain that I was going to get it back.

Gave Sound Advice

"I never found that it took nerve to fool with money. I came back from the Bonanza strike with $87,000 and opened a gambling house and one night a bunch of the boys played certain numbers that came popping up and by morning I didn't have a dime. So I went down to Rampart and made some more. Money! There's a lot more to the game than that. You know it yourself, Jack.

"So I know it. One of the biggest things I found in the fight game was my friendship with 'Tex' Rickard. Talking with you he'd let out a lot of philosophy like that—sound, homely philosophy that meant something. I found that it did me a lot of good. It did everybody good that listened to him.

Keystone A.C. Begins Sports Activities

Until today the Keystone Athletic Club was an athletic club in name only, but the throwing open of virtually all physical training departments of the organization, this morning, the Keystone Club became an athletic club in the fullest sense of the word. Under the supervision of Athletic Director Harry Heinsworth, volley ball games and health drills were staged from 11:30 to 12:45 today, and another similar class was to be called at 4:45 this afternoon. The handball and squash racquets courts, swimming pool and indoor golf layout were in use throughout the day.

Special events for boys and women are carded later in the week.

JUNIOR SOCCER TITLE WON BY THOMS RUN

By TOM BIRKS.

Playing in zero weather and in a three-inch layer of snow, Thomas Run placed its name on the Junior cup, emblematic of the Junior Soccer championship of Western Pennsylvania, when it defeated the Primrose eleven by a 2-goals-to-1 score at Heidelberg yesterday afternoon.

Despite the fact that the day was anything but conducive to soccer football, a large crowd of enthusiasts were on hand. Primrose brought a large delegation along, and regardless of the outcome of the game, a fine rooting duel was staged.

In keeping with the games that have been played in the junior championship this season it was a brilliant one, and until Referee Cornsblew the final whistle it was a thriller, with Thoms Run fully deserving the victory.

GAME NIP-AND-TUCK

The game was nip-and-tuck right from the start and the first goal came from the foot of Doak in the opening period, the Primrose center flashing the ball into the net, out of Colback's reach. The equalizer was not long coming, for Thoms Run was awarded a penalty kick, and Downs, also a center half, did the needful by beating Bruzzi.

Half time came with the teams deadlocked at one goal each. The second half found both elevens battling for that winning marker. Jones and Lutton leading their respective lines well. Both defenses were playing a whale of a game.

KOZSKI'S GOAL WINS

Kozski, however, was the man that turned the trick and made victory possible for Thoms Run when he lobbed the ball past the Primrose goalie for what proved to be the winning marker, and which shot carried with it the crown that had been worn by Bridgeville. Both teams tried hard to the end to change the scoring, but the defenses prevailed. The lineup:

Primrose—1.		Thoms Run—2.
Bruzzi	G	Colback
Malton	R. B.	Kramer
Romain	L. B.	Koch
Redding	R. H.	Barard
Doak	C. H.	Downs
Hainaut	L. H.	Carter
Pierce	O. R.	Kozski
McCall	I. R.	B. Uchel
Lutton	C.	Jones
Marquette	I. L.	N. Uchel
Cox	O. L.	Dresnick

Goal scores—Doak, Downs, Kozski. Score at half time—1-1. Time of halves—Two 45 minutes. Referee—Corns.

era of its elevens appointed instead. The coaching staff has named John Dreshar, of Mars, Pa., guard and center last season, to succeed Howard Harpster as captain next fall.

Pitt, however, apparently has decided to stick to the old system. It was understood that the Panther coaches and athletic officials were considering the advisability of a change, and were leaning toward the appointment idea, but the announcement of the annual gridiron banquet, to be held at the Schenley Hotel next Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, is supplemented with the significant sentence: "The 1929 captain will be elected."

Jimmy Coffroth

FOLLOWING Tex Rickard's death, Jimmy Coffroth was named by many ring veterans as the man who had come closest to Rickard as the fight game's greatest promoter, and it was said that the only reason why Coffroth gave up the fistic sport was that he had found he could make more money out of operating a race track. Latest reports do not bear out the latter part of the statement. It is rumored that Coffroth's Tiajuana track in Mexico, across the California border, has been anything but a source of profit this season, and that on numerous occasions, excepting Saturdays and Sundays, fewer than 1,000 persons have paid admission to the races there. Coffroth is not alone in his racing adversity, as the promoters of the Jefferson Park meeting in New Orleans, which ran from Thanksgiving Day to December 31, are reported to have lost $60,000, and business at the Fair Grounds in the same city is said to be so far below former marks that that meeting also is likely to finish with a financial balance on the wrong side.

Many Leaders, Sick, Leaving:
Stocks Duller:
Money Tight.

—By B. C. FORBES—

NOTHING has developed to modify the optimism so generally expressed at the year's opening. True, stock speculation has lost some of its fire, but quotations average higher than they did at the peak of 1928, reached on the last day of the year, notwithstanding that tension in the money market is still causing concern.

RARELY before have so many influential men been laid aside by illness. Almost every concern is temporarily robbed of the services of some of its principal men. The decrease in stock speculation has been due in part to the same cause. Several of the largest operators have been incapacitated by influenza. An exodus to Florida, California and other sunny climates is setting in and probably will eclipse anything ever before witnessed. Distance however, will not deter leading operators from maintaining their activity.

Every influential Bull that I know still maintains confidence in the vigorous resumption of the upward movement in the near, not to say immediate, future.

TO THE unbiased outside observer, however, it becomes clearer than ever that the money market will be the governing influence.

The recent liquidation brought only a nominal decrease in broker's loans, a fact which caused serious disappointment in high places. The Federal Reserve statement showed a substantial gain in reserve ratio, with the New York bank's percentage up 15 points, although the present 67 per cent is fully eight per cent under the level of a year ago. But the week brought the withdrawal from the available gold stock of $30,000,000 through "earmarking" for an unrevealed foreign interest. This more than offset gold imports of $23,000,000 from Canada.

The net result was that call money, after having ruled at six per cent, closed the week at seven per cent, a sharp contrast with the four per cent rate of 12 months ago. Time loans were held at seven and one half per cent for all maturities against four and a quarter to four and three-eighths last January.

This usurpation of American gold by Europe is occasioning some uneasiness because it is well known that the movement could go very far with the owners of enormous credits here to insist upon taking gold. During 1928 the United States raised more than a billion and a half of capital for foreign borrowers, following several years of heavy foreign flotation here. Not all of this capital, by any means, has been transferred to its overseas owners. This gives them a grip on our gold which cannot be left out of calculations in analyzing monetary possibilities in Wall Street.

THE New York automobile show was significant of what industry and business in general may expect this year. The quality of the goods was raised and the price changes were downwards. Not only the quality, but the style and finish of the products were ahead of anything ever before exhibited.

Profits in 1929 are not to be easily won in most fields. Every aggressive organization is out for greater volume. Price cutting threatens to be rather freely resorted to. Strong corporations will seek consolidations more keenly than ever. Indeed, 1929 probably will bring a maximum of mergers.

All of which means that it is going to be a buyers' year and that the struggle for survival will be unusually gruelling.

THROUGH Wall Street are running the most extraordinary whispers. You are pulled aside and told, in great secrecy, that Herbert Hoover is to give high finance and big business the shock of its history, that he looks with utter disfavor upon "monopolistic" maneuvers now being indulged in flagrantly in industry, in utilities, etc.

"Mr. Hoover knows that the public is getting ready to rise up and revolt and he is prepared to act promptly" is the tenor of one warning going the rounds.

Such rumors probably warrant no attention whatsoever, but they may account in some measure for the unmistakable hesitancy displayed lately in stock speculation.

The writer feels sure that Mr. Hoover will prove a most helpful and constructive chief executive. The real danger is that too much rather than too little, will be expected of him. After all, the only dependable help is self-help.

No decision developments have come to the surface in either industry or merchandising since the year opened. It may be significant that various commodities have advanced rather sharply. Rubber, which has enjoyed a spurt, is selling at only half the price of a year ago. Cheaper also are sugar, flour, hides, beef, pork, eggs, cotton, raw silks and tin, while gasoline and crude oil, as well as cereals, show little or no improvement from last January.

Most farm products did better last week.

A decline in quotations which are high—including stock quotations—and an advance in things which are low would be logical.

TRUSTS GUARD INVESTMENTS ABROAD

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

SINCE the war the investment relationship of the United States and Europe has undergone a complete reversal. From the early seventies to about 10 years ago a great share of the development of this country was financed through the activities of foreign investment trusts. Today the movement of capital has turned the other way. We are financing foreign countries and investment trusts have sprung up here.

The building of American railways was made possible by the help of English capital and later the public utilities availed themselves of similar aid. The Philadelphia Company still has stockholders scattered throughout Europe. English financiers were so active in the building of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway that the trains still run on the left hand tracks.

America's great industrial development came later, so that foreign money did not play so important a part.

IN THE last few years our abundance of capital has been seeking new fields where there is a possibility for good returns. The movement has not been entirely towards European development. South American countries have also come in for a large share.

In many of the South American countries it is still possible for public utilities to obtain franchises as sweeping in their terms as those available here 30 years ago.

The difficulty of the individual investor in correctly judging securities representing properties in countries with which he is not familiar has been responsible for the investment trust being so active in the purchase of foreign securities. Diversification also tends to compensate for the danger of political or economic disturbances in other countries.

MANAGEMENT is the first factor to investigate in any industrial enterprise, but it is even more important in an investment trust. The broad powers given in the purchase and sale of securities which frequently borders on speculation, makes it possible for the directors to do more towards the increase or decrease of the stockholders equity than can be done in a short time by the management of a company directly engaged in production.

As an example, the annual report of the United States and Foreign Securities Corporation for 1928 showed that, while $1,938,566 was received from interest and dividends, $6,673,028 was received from the sale of stocks at prices higher than the original cost. The interest and dividend return was sufficient to cover dividend requirements on the first and second preferred stocks, but the great increase in the equity was through the trading activities.

THE funds obtained in this way were reinvested so that the securities account was increased from $35,421,709 to $42,316,513 during the year. These investments are carried at cost. The actual market value at the end of the year was about $60,077,000. This company follows the very desirable policy of publishing a list of its holdings with the annual report so that the stockholders have a means of determining what is being done with their money. In 1928 $5.85 a share was earned on the 1,000,000 common shares although at the time of the formation of the company the common stock did not represent any actual investment of capital.

All investment trusts do not take on such gigantic proportions as United States and Foreign Securities. A group of 25 Pittsburgh doctors have organized a private investment trust to which they place their savings. The trust is operated by a local man in whose judgment they place full confidence.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Stocks Stage Mid-day Rally.

Stocks turned upward with a display of definite strength around the noon hour today, following a forenoon session of backing and filling as the market absorbed a fairly heavy volume of selling brought out by apprehensions over the money situation. However, nothing untoward developed up to the beginning of the fourth hour and this evidently restored confidence in quarters where fears had been held. Call loans opened at 7 per cent as against last Friday's opening at 6. The rate went to 7 just before the market closed Friday. Today's rate apparently had its inception in a distinct improvement in the tone of the railroad stocks. Buying became noticeable in that division and the sentiment was aided materially by a rise in Pennsylvania to a new high price, fractionally above the previous high but, nevertheless, a new record. Automobile stocks were also prominent on the rally as were the baking issues. The latter group was in good demand and appeared to have shaken off the influence of the 10-point drop in National Biscuit just after the announcement that the company had earned less than $7 a share in the first 11 months of its fiscal year. Biscuit went up with the others today after it had sagged a few points in the morning trading. Bethlehem and United States Steel reflected pressure with marked ease and the fact that these leaders of the steel division failed to display any important change of tone was further encouragement for the bull traders. Sagging tendencies in the oils were attributed to increasing production figures but the feeling in many quarters is that consumptive demands will offset any increase in output so far shown. Standard of Indiana was in demand on the curb, evidently on buying to obtain proxies for the meeting at which the Rockefeller interests will attempt to oust Col. Stewart from the chairmanship of the Indiana directorate.

Wrights O. K. Bolt's Propeller.

The avidity with which the public takes to the securities of the airplane and allied industries was exemplified here in Pittsburgh the past few days when the shares of the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Company were sent kiting on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange in response to a report that the company had acquired patents on a new type of airplane propeller, details as to the acquisition of which have not been made public, but it is understood to be an adjustable welded propeller. According to gossip in Fourth avenue, the propeller has been approved by the government for use on United States planes, and it was also said that the Wright brothers have approved it and will use it on planes built at their factories. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt began its rise from around 59 a few days ago and today had advanced more than 20 points. Mystery surrounded the movement for a time, but the propeller story reached the street today and the mere mention of an airplane sufice to the incident was sufficient to cause a 9-point bulge in the first hour's trading.

Tire Output Up 34 Per Cent.

Production of all types of tires in November was 4,591,854, against 3,407,694 in November, 1927, a gain of 34 per cent. November shipments were 4,785,826 tires, compared with 3,263,065 in November, 1927. Production in first 11 months of 1928 was 54,730,711 tires, against 45,582,050 in the 1927 period. Shipments amounted to 52,650,641, against 45,455,087.

Claiming that the American Iron and Steel Industry, with an investment of $4,750,000,000 has been earning a return of less than 5 per cent for several years past, John A. Topping, chairman of Republic Iron and Steel Company and vice president of American Iron-Steel Institute, told the House Ways and Means committee that the industry would seek a revision of iron and steel schedules to give necessary protection for its development and well being. He said that without adequate protection the stabilization of the industry is impossible.

Cotton on hand December 31 was held as follows: In consuming establishments, 1,740,892 bales of lint and 176,667 bales of linters, compared with 1,566,878 of lint and 121,601 of linters on November 30, and 1,708,558 of lint and 203,574 of linters on December 31, 1927. In public storage and at compresses, 3,315,421 bales of lint and 39,202 bales of linters, compared with 5,252,843 bales of lint and 54,706 bales of linters on last November 30, and 5,855,574 of lint and 55,4634 of linters on December 31, 1927. Cotton imported during December totaled 359,630 bales, compared with 39,213 bales in November, last year, and 41,211 bales in December a year ago. Exports totaled 1,057,013 bales, not including linters, which numbered 30,210 bales, compared with 1,427,699 bales and 23,806 of linters last November, and 744,-160 bales of lint and 22,874 of linters in December a year ago. Cotton spindles active during December numbered 20,622,172, compared with 20,596,840 in November last year, and 34,722,776 in December a year ago.

Steel's Floating Supply.

The floating supply of United States Steel common on December 31, 1928, as indicated by stock exchange hands of brokers or in brokers' names was 1,718,256 shares, or 24.15 per cent of the total issue of 7,116,235 outstanding. This is an increase of 13,822 shares over September 30, 1928, figures. The corresponding figure with floating supply on December 31, 1927, of 1,787,162 shares or 25.11 per cent of total issue. Holdings of investors on December 31, 1928, were 5,397,979 shares or 75.85 per cent of the total issue, compared with 5,411,801 or 76.05 per cent on September 30, 1928, and 5,329,073 shares or 74.8 per cent of the total issue a year ago. Brokers' holding in New York state which indicates somewhat the position of Wall Street, 1,646,878 shares or 23.14 per cent of the total issue, compared to 1,627,974 shares three months ago and 1,609,974 shares a year ago.

Lead Issue Is Strong.

Improved conditions and high prices in the lead industry have been mentioned as factors which brought good buying into United States Smelting. However, interests who have a large long position in the issue insist that their purchases in anticipation of higher earnings to be developed from the company's important Alaskan gold properties which are beginning to be recognized by authorities in the mining industry. Lead stocks in all markets have been strong for some time. National Lead the big leader of the lead group on the New York Stock Exchange has been creeping up quietly and has added about 25 points to its market price over the past several weeks. In today's trading, Evans Wallower Lead, on the New York Curb, was in urgent demand and sold at the best price in its history. Material is for automobile use and the order as sufficient to maintain full strip mill operations for an extended period.

The Indiana Controversy.

The possibilities that the differences between John D. Rockefeller Jr., and Chairman Stewart, of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, may disrupt the friendly relations that now exist among the Standard Oil units was widely discussed in Wall Street last week. Mr. Rockefeller, as one of the most influential stockholders in the Standard of New York, Standard of New Jersey, Standard of California and others of the group, would be expected, according to one of the arguments advanced to have the support of those organizations in his fight on the Indiana company's chairman. However, it was pointed out here by persons thoroughly familiar with the situation that the other Standard Oil companies are entirely neutral in the fight which Mr. Rockefeller is making on Col. Stewart. They are not likely to become involved in any way and there is little danger, it was said, of a general family quarrel developing.

1928 Soft Metal Output.

Mine production of copper increased during 1928 in the United States, while that of zinc and lead decreased slightly. The figures, announced by the commerce department after a study of output of the principal non-ferrous metals, showed also that smelter and refinery output of all three metals was considerably larger than the country's own mine production of the same commodities, due to treatment domestically of foreign mined ores and other reasons. The American copper mine output for 1928 was 905,500 tons, as compared to 824,980 tons in 1927. Lead mined amounted to 627,500 tons, compared to 665,420 in 1927, and the figures for zinc were 687,800 tons against 718,541 tons. Advancing prices for copper which prevailed during 1928 were credited by the department with stimulating the copper output.

FOR SALE City & Suburban Houses 60

Of course you don't know it, but you may be sitting on a volcano! Title defects come to the surface unexpectedly and when they do there's trouble aplenty for the property owner if his title is not insured. If it is insured the company handles any litigation and makes good any loss which may result.

BUGS BAER Says

WE have some messages from Harry Houdini.

But we got them some years before Houdini died.

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We do not think that the magician has written any since then.

If he has, there surely must be great difficulty in transmission, for the R. F. D. is not that rural. Nor is the delivery that free.

Every once in a rising market, some clown does a head-spin on a weejee board and claims to have been postscripted by Houdini.

Houdini was a great letter writer. Any time you mentioned his name in a newspaper, you got a card of thanks from him. He spent his career putting big blisters on fake mediums.

Every time Houdini met a racketeer rapping on tables or writing messages with lipsticks on linoleum, Harry always lifted up the hood and poked his nose in the engine.

He exposed at least a thousand bozos. Now the Gypsy weevils are getting even with him by claiming to be on his mailing list.

Well, they had to wait until Houdini was dead until they got enough nerve to compete with him.

There was one medium in New York who passed out last year. He was so crooked that when he died, they put two tombstones on his grave, with his right name on neither one of the stones.

He claimed to have heard Houdini rapping on a table.

We have also heard Harry rapping on a table. But he was thumping for food and not for occult telegrams.

The last insult you can slap on Houdini is to make him an unwilling accessory to a fake seance.

This spiritualistic shadow-boxing is an industrious and profitable racket.

The medium gets all the money. And the furniture takes all the punishment.

We are in favor of bigger and better rappings.

And the next time that a medium manages to establish a thumping communication with Houdini, we hope that the ghost is wearing brass knuckles.

MOTHER LOOK.... ISN'T THAT A SPIFFY LOOKING CAR.....THE GREEN ONE?
WHERE? OH THE COLOR IS CERTAINLY LOUD ENOUGH TO.....THE SILLY LOOKING MAN DRIVING IT HAS A LOT OF NERVE..... LEERING RIGHT AT US..... AT YOU.....DO YOU KNOW HIM?
NO. I NEVER SAW HIM BEFORE. AT FIRST HIS FACE SEEMED FAMILIAR BUT.....
WELL HE CERTAINLY HAS A LOT OF NERVE TO STARE AT PERSONS HE DOESN'T KNOW. YOU MUST HAVE ENCOURAGED HIM TO ACT SO FRESH PEGGY.....YOU'RE DOING THAT VERY THING RIGHT NOW BY STANDING HERE GAWKING AT A PERFECT STRANGER. THE IDEA!
I WAS LOOKING AT THE CAR.
PEGGY, YOU WERE LOOKING AT THAT MAN. THE IDEA! AS SOON AS YOU SAW THE SHEIK YOU STOOD THERE WITH YOUR MOUTH OPEN. NO WONDER THAT NO-GOOD FLIRT ACTED AS IF HE HAD KNOWN YOU A LIFETIME. I BLAME YOU!
MOTHER PLEASE, NOT SO LOUD. EVERYONE IS LOOKING AT US.
YOU WEREN'T VERY WORRIED ABOUT WHO LOOKED AT US WHEN THAT SHEIK ATTRACTED YOUR ATTENTION. SUCH BOLDNESS! YOU JUST AS MUCH AS BOWED TO THAT MAN.....THE MORE I THINK OF IT..... .....WHY I'M JUST BEGINNING TO REALIZE WHAT HAPPENED. AND YOU HAVE THE NERVE TO, IN EFFECT TELL ME, YOUR MOTHER, TO KEEP MY MOUTH SHUT. HA!

Adopt Tinkham Measure, Unmask League Plotters

Ever since early in January the House committee on rules has had before it a resolution introduced by Congressman George Holden Tinkham, of Massachusetts, that is of the most urgent importance to American independence, American security, and American honor.

Speaker Longworth is called upon by this resolution to appoint at once a select committee to investigate the expenditures in this country of vast sums of money by international bankers, by international business organizations and their legal representatives, and by various and sundry foreign interests to influence the action of the American Congress in the field of foreign relations.

We have the warning of Washington in the farewell address that we ought constantly be on guard "against the insidious wiles of foreign influence" because history and experience prove it to be "one of the most baneful foes of republican liberty."

We have nearly a century international bankers and great business interests in Europe have largely controlled the foreign policies of their respective countries. Also that over there it is the common practice for these interests to spend large sums of money to further their political purposes in alien states.

In later years we have seen this nefarious practice extended by these European interests to the United States. From such sources came money in large quantities to influence the United States to join the League of Nations. And when that proposal was defeated, more money came to manufacture public opinion in favor of joining the League's so-called world court.

And now, while a third attempt is being made to involve the United States in the League and its Court by ratifying the multilateral pact of Paris, we see on all sides evidence of subsidized and organized propaganda and intrigue to manufacture public opinion in favor of ratifying this "feeble imitation of the League of Nations" for which the Republican party is the official sponsor.

In his revealing letters as President Wilson's ambassador at London, during the great war, Walter Hines Page has given us conclusive proof of the powerful influence exercised by "the House of Morgan" upon the relations of this country with England.

Ambassador Page tells us how this firm of international bankers profited during the war. How 10 per cent of all purchases made for Great Britain in this country went to the "House of Morgan." How the total of these purchases amounted to nearly $400,000,000.

And how, when the Balfour Commission arrived here in June, 1917, one of its first requests was that our government take up this loan in spite of the fact that this country had never approved the loan, much less the terms upon which it negotiated.

When you read Ambassador Page's account of this whole sad section, your eyes are opened to the fact that "the House of Morgan" is really the financial and political representative of the British government in the United States.

For this reason the American people are entitled to know just what "the House of Morgan," for example, has been doing in recent years to influence the Congress or any other branch of the government, either in behalf of its British client or of some of its other foreign clients.

Certainly evidence is piling up at Washington day after day that the head servants of the American people appear to be much more anxious to benefit England than they do to protect and promote and benefit the people of the United States.

And some of our head servants at Washington go so far in this direction as to seem to be willing to use the United States to its disadvantage in order to advantage foreign countries.

Let the rules committee report and the House adopt the Tinkham resolution and a select committee of the Congress can then turn the light on those foreign influences in international disguises that are spending vast sums of money to shape American foreign policy to Europe's political and financial ends.

One Borough Joins City In Fight Against Smoke

At a hearing in Council on the subject of smoke abatement President James F. Malone assured those present that body he heads would "go the limit to regain the city's ...tion for a clear sky." Then Council authorized the ...ent of technical students of University of Pittsburgh ...ie Tech to augment the force of regular inspectors ... B. Meller, chief of the bureau of smoke regulation.

It ... smoke this winter has been attributed to numerous ... being a greater use of soft coal in the home, but ... encouragement in the promptness with which a reme... is sought. That can be taken as a certain sign of some immediate improvement and a much better condition by the time another winter rolls around.

In this respect it is cheering to note that one of our neighboring boroughs is taking up the fight for cleanliness and health. Brentwood Council, at its next session, will give final reading to a smoke ordinance. It would be a great help were other boroughs closely adjacent to Pittsburgh to take up this matter too.

The Chronic Bear

By Herbert Kaufman

CONGRESS is about to pass a farm relief measure.

It may alleviate the surplus crop situation, improve earnings and reduce money rates. But these are minor considerations.

Legislative remedies won't cure agriculture's fundamental trouble—the farmer's own attitude of mind.

And that's responsible for his biggest problem—the labor problem.

Farming is a family business, a father and son enterprise. It's seldom successful as a lone hand game. Hired help costs too high.

And the growing exodus from rural districts constantly diminishes the supply man power, and correspondingly raises its cost.

Chickens always come home to roost. And all campaigns of discouragement inevitably accomplish their object.

The farmer's a chronic bear, habitually selling his own market short.

He begins with a morning grouch and ends with an evening growl.

His daily doxology of complaint has convinced the younger generation that food production is a profitless, thankless occupation.

His dollar wince at every dime economic twinge encourages the notion that opportunity is an urban specialist.

He's the man who's driving the boys to the city at the very moment when agriculture is entering into possession of its kingdom, and about to reap the resultant benefit of increasing population and diminishing food acreage.

He kicks at the winter chores when he should be contrasting the short trip to the barn with the long trudge to the subway.

He protests his net earnings when he should be explaining that he pays no house rent, and lives the life of Riley on the yield of garden patch, poultry yard, smoke house, dairy herd and orchard.

He persistently discounts the future of agriculture and then cries to high heaven because his arguments succeed and his children abandon the plow.

He spreads revolt and must expect rebellion.

He's a gloom snooper, a victim of inferiority complexes, a hypochondriac suffering largely from fancied ailments for which paternalism, tariff advantages, and easier credit are impotent correctives.

No system has yet been devised to effectually help a man who doesn't believe in himself and his business.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and through the money marts of Wall street nor did I find myself sluggish with sordid desires. And afoot to Battery Park and watched the spiraling sea gulls, screaming wanton madrigals, and racing toward red liner funnels at sea.

To a luncheon for Miss E. M. Delafield, who wrote "Jill," and talked to a lady poet everyone seemed to know, and of whom I had never heard. But did not tell her so, yet she asked in what sort of work I was engaged and I told her plumbing supplies.

In the evening to a party where came Joe Toplitsky, James Talbot, E. D. Coblenz, A. C. Andrews, W. B. Joyce, Jr., and others, and to a play, then on to a night club, but such places have become as dull as dishwater. So left for home early to read Irving's "Knickerbocker History of New York."

New York has a Michael Angelo of the bootmaking art. He charges $1,000 for the first pair of shoes and caters, as you might guess, only to the very rich who have bunions and corns just like waiters, reporters and other ordinary mortals. After he has adjusted orthopedic difficulties with the first pair, duplicates are furnished for $100.

New York has been surfeited this winter with princes—an epidemic. But reliable authorities say the prince business is played out. Most of them were those given much prairie in Russia and they cut social capers until society learned a prince is the lowest form of nobility over there. A prince has about the same standing as two third-rate drosky drivers. So the boys had to go to work and you can now employ a prince for almost any job from airing the dog to fetching a scuttle of coal. I've always thought I'd like to have a prince with a monocle shine my shoes.

And among the other gyps who prey on foolish society here are those who form exclusive—O, very!—clubs, and charge anywhere from $100 to $500 for membership cards. They are supposed to offer hallowed havens where Social Registerites do not have to meet the declasse. But in a few weeks they become about as exclusive as Grand Central Station. Scarcely any one lasts out the season, but there are always suckers galore for another.

There is always a place, too, in the so-called 400, for the gilded young gigolo who plays a smart game of bridge and dances divinely. They are the sort with a British accent, like actors, live in a hall bedroom, receive mail at smart hotels and are what fashionable tailors call "clothes conscious."

* * *

Speaking of style, when George Ade was in town recently he attended an affair where Irvin Cobb was a guest. Cobb came adorned resplendently and correctly in the latest cut in evening clothes, and even had a waxed flower in his label. Ade looked his friend over carefully. "Irvin," he said, "you are the type who can have clothes made in Bond street, your shirts and ties in Place Vendome, be hatted in Vienna and manicured in Monte Carlo, but you will still look Paducah."

* * *

I know a talented fellow who is writing a book, "Are the Rich Happy?"—that is not precisely it, but near enough—and he has admitted he never had more than $350 at one time. But in reading over his manuscript he has convinced me the rich are never happy. I feel almost—but not quite—like dancing out and giving a quarter or something away.

* * *

The swankest in shooting clubs for New Yorkers is in North Carolina, and one of them features a touch of slavery days. When a guest arrives he is met at the depot by a darky who takes his luggage and announces: "Boss, I'se your black boy," and he serves no one else during the visitor's stay.

Tales That Are Told

Gentle Persuasion

"FARES, please."

The passenger paid not the slightest heed to the conductor's demand, and that worthy once again repeated his request. But still the passenger remained oblivious.

"By the term 'fare,'" began the conductor, "I imply no reference to the state of the weather nor even the quality of the service vouchsafed by this philanthropic company. I merely allude, in a manner perhaps lacking in delicacy but not in conciseness, to the monetary obligation incurred by your presence in this vehicle—"

But the passenger had had enough and paid his fare instantly.

Remembered That

HE had been knocked down at a busy crossroads, and when he came out of dreamland a constable was bending over him.

"I suppose that car that knocked me down didn't stop?" asked the victim of the accident dazedly, as he passed a hand wearily over his eyes.

"No, it didn't," agreed the policeman shortly, helping the man to his feet. "But did you get its number?"

The still dazed man looked at the policeman for a moment.

"No," he said just as shortly. "But I'd recognize the driver's laugh anywhere."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THEY'RE striking a lot more oil out in the mid-continent country, and it sure looks good to see some of these farmers getting their farm relief right out of the ground that way. They bored in politics, some of them, for 30 years, and didn't get any relief, and now they drill straight down on their own farms and get relief in 2,000 feet.

There was one guy that got a gusher on his farm, and after it had been flowing for a month he had so much money he began filling up the oil storage tanks with it, so there wasn't hardly any room to store oil any more. So he went and had him a great big house built, 19 rooms. He got in the finest furnishings he could find in Kansas City, and then he had an interior decorator add the fine little touches. In the living room the oil man had insisted on having a spittoon in each corner, and when he come in and found them installed, he give the decorator a great bawling out.

"What you got them ordinary things in here for?" he says. "Did I tell you to skimp on my house? Go back to Kansas City and get me good spittoons, antique ones from some old cathedral in Spain, and I want them inlaid with mother-of-pearl. And they got to be 10 times as big as them ordinary brass things! This here is going to be a rich man's house!"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

LOVE!

Love with all your might.

Love, not because love is easy but because love is hard.

Real love is perhaps the most difficult experience on earth.

It demands more of human nature than any other experience.

It demands constant growth and readjustment.

It demands unlimited generosity and tolerance.

These are difficult things to achieve or to give. But one cannot truly love unless one gives them.

Real love will crack you out of the walls of self and hurl you into the current of another life. It will make you forget yourself—leave yourself. That is why love is the greatest blessing that can happen to you—as well as the most difficult experience.

FOR YOU CAN NEVER LIVE GREATLY UNLESS YOU ARE CRACKED OUT OF THE WALLS OF SELF—UNLESS YOU DO MERGE YOUR LIFE WITH OTHER LIVES.

Lives that do not love become bitter husks.

Long ago it was said, "He who would save his life must lose it—"

When you truly love you lose your life in the lives of others and so you gain a greater life—for you live through them as well as through yourself.

Recently the Grand Duke Alexander, cousin of the late Czar Nicholas, spoke at the Town Hall in New York. He told of the tremendous change which was wrought by the revolution in the lives of many aristocratic Russians.

"I awoke one morning to find all my material possessions gone," he said. "But not my soul, which nothing can take from me . . . The lesson of my life has taught me that only one power exists—love. . . . Only when we love can we give expression to the highest power and gain spiritual strength."

Only one power exists—or persists—and that is love.

Money loses its power to satisfy—fame loses its power to thrill. Only one function will warm your heart and increase your life to the end—and that is love.

Love!

Love with all your might!

Love as many people as you possibly can.

Give yourself in wider and wider circles of sympathy until you embrace the whole world with your friendliness. Then you will no longer be living one life. Your life will be as wide as your love.

IGNORANCE

By Garrett P. Serviss

WHO are the ignorant? An answer to this requires a preliminary answer to another question, viz.: What is ignorance? But as soon as this second question is put we see in a flash that nobody is ignorant, except in a relative sense. There is no absolute standard of ignorance or of knowledge.

One of the paradoxical results of the swift advance of modern science is that ignorance is specialized along with knowledge. A man may be at the same time learned and ignorant. Less than a century ago Alexander von Humboldt was able to write a book called "Cosmos," in which the whole field of human knowledge was fairly covered by one man's information; but no single person could write a "Cosmos" today. The field has expanded beyond the limits of the individual mind. Knowledge is now pushed by "mass production."

Not only is ignorance relative, but it also differs in kind. Like Einstein's relativity, there is a general ignorance and a specialized ignorance. The specialized ignorance is that of the learned, who know only their own lines. If you attend a great meeting of scientific men, like that of the American Association, you will be struck by the profound depths of ignorance which lie like deep, dark swamp holes between tufted islets of firm ground which are ablaze with the sunshine and flowers of localized research.

Each isle is occupied by its group of learned men, who are ignorant of the equally important learning of the occupants of other isles. When they undertake to step from one oasis to another they are apt to sink as deeply into the tarns of ignorance as does the unspecialized public in its stumbling after new knowledge. Each group has its own special language, which grows and spreads wit' the rapidity of Jonah's gourd, or the next edition of the dictionary or cyclopedia.

It is not lack of acquaintance with these specialties of knowledge that constitutes the kind of ignorance which everyone should avoid. It is general ignorance which lames and sometimes disgraces, and the cure or prevention of which is the true business of free education.

In the fields of special research, and particularly of theorization, what is apparent knowledge today is apt to be transmuted or else altogether discarded tomorrow. It is an unsolved problem how to treat this for popular consumption so that the real nature of the product shall be apparent and unmistakable. There have been some injurious examples lately of hasty, overconfident, enthusiastic exploitation of theories touching the very foundations of science, which theories have been proclaimed as established laws of nature solely on the basis of their "successes." But these "successes" covered very brief periods, of a few years only, and were of a special and limited nature growing out of the theories themselves. It is no wonder that in such cases the back track or a new track has had to be taken.

Do such theories represent knowledge or ignorance? What they really are is hypotheses, and the distinction ought to be maintained that any pothesis is only a provisional theory or a theory of condition which is not to be taken for a law of nature, but only as a working plan, or supposition, which may aid in the discovery of a real law, a settled theory, like Newton's law of gravitation.

Bible Passages

Christ Comforts

(John 14; 1-14)

LET not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.

In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.

And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.

And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.

Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.

If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.

Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.

Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father?

Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.

Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake.

Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father.

And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it.

Consolation

YOU say: "We are so far apart!"
But, dear, how can that be?
It has been always heart to heart
For you, for me!

We have gone laughing through the years,
Secure from all defeat;
Because by sharing even tears
We made them sweet!

Invincible the shield we bore
As dauntless we went Down paths few feet had trod before,
In rare content.

And now unkindly circumstance
Has severed hand from hand!
The brave bow not to any chance,
But still command!

Though seas may bear us far apart,
Our souls are free . . .
It shall be always heart to heart
For you, for me!

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

A WOMAN told me last night that she lost $500 in the stock market and din't mind at all. She would have been happy had her stock gone up, she wouldn't howl when it didn't. "But," she added emphatically, "it certainly did make me mad the other night when I played cards at a dinner party and lost $5. I was furious and I'm not going to play again."

You explain it. I can't.

A girl from Los Angeles tells me that she went to his college to visit her brother, and was thoroughly disgusted to find that the college boys wore suspenders, no hose supporters, no hats and even when they are in dress suits they let their socks fall down over their shoe tops.

"And they think that's swell!" said the girl. "If girls took such a pose no fellow would stand for her."

The woman who is chief clerk in the Los Angeles marriage license bureau says that marriages are not increasing, even in leap years. What does she mean "even?" Women have more reasons than ever before for not getting married, and ever so many reasons for not staying married. She adds that just as many people as ever are getting married, the economic independence of women notwithstanding.

Moonlight still retains its magnificent influence. As long as man can talk they will continue to say "Darling," and as long as there are women, they will be unable to resist the men and say no. So any number of years from now, Cupid will be doing business at the old stand.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

DO YOU feel that the New Year has anything better in store for you than you already possess?

If you can answer this negatively, and the beginning of a New Year means nothing to you, you need to shake yourself out of such a condition.

You can remember when January the first was an incentive to you to turn over a new leaf and redouble your efforts.

But now you say that day is the same as any other day.

But if you are to improve, you are the one to want to progress.

Another's wish for you cannot do much if you lack interest in your own fate.

You alone must make the changes by which you will benefit.

It is easy to say that good resolutions in the past have not meant much and have not benefited you.

Perhaps you expected too much and put forth too little effort on your part.

You think that matters should form themselves for your benefit.

They won't do it.

If you are willing to work and struggle for better things you will be more than likely to succeed, but to give up is to have nothing.
